

ARMY OFFICERS INVESTIGATING TUCKER'S CAREER IN PORTLAND

Major West at Portland Hotel Looking Up Colonel's Record.

FILIPINO WOMAN IS MIXED UP IN AFFAIR

Mrs. Pratt, Widow of Army Officer, Visited Here With Paymaster in April—Friends Scout Story Told by His Wife.

(Heart News Service.)
Washington, June 29.—Lieutenant-Colonel William Tucker, son-in-law of Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of the great civil war soldier, is under investigation by the war department on charges preferred by his wife. A rigid investigation of his conduct for the past three years is being held by two officers of the staff of the inspector general of the army.

The information furnished the department by Mrs. Tucker was to do with the conduct of her husband with an American woman in Manila, Portland and San Francisco.

Mrs. Tucker said that at present she must remain silent as to the charges, but at the proper time she would make her case public.

Filipino Woman Involved.
The report published today that the case involved a Filipino woman is said to be far from the facts. No Filipino woman is mentioned in Mrs. Tucker's complaint, and it is said that all of her accusations concern the colonel's relations with a fair American woman. The department will not disclose the name of the woman who is said to be responsible for the disruption of the Tucker home.

It is also a mistake to say that charges of any character against the officer were made to the department by Mrs. Logan.

Mrs. Logan is now out of the city attending the funeral of a friend at Murphysville. She is expected to return to Washington, D. C., on Monday, who was Miss Mary Logan, is now at her mother's home in this city, having departed from her husband, who is on duty at Chicago as paymaster of the department of the lakes.

Looking Up His Record.
The officers instructed by the war department to run down the charges against Colonel Tucker by his wife, are Major G. G. Galbreath and Major P. W. West, both assistants to the inspector general. Major Galbreath has only recently returned from Chicago whether he went to secure Lieutenant-Colonel Tucker's explanation of the situation.

Major West is now in Portland, the city that is said to have been the scene of some of Colonel Tucker's misconduct.

Although these vitally interested in the matter are content about it, the high positions of the principals, especially in army life, has led to so much discussion of the case in army circles in Washington that the facts have leaked out in a great degree. As nearly as can be learned the story of this domestic infelicity which has gone to such a point that the war department is looked to as the final arbitration bureau in the matter is about as follows:

Get Leave Absent.
In October, 1905, Lieutenant-Colonel Tucker, who was then in service in the Philippines, secured three months' leave of absence, following the death of his son, when Mrs. Pratt returned to this city. As Colonel Tucker had only one more year to serve in the far east Mrs. Tucker desired to return to this country. The colonel therefore went to the coast and thence to the Philippines, where he remained for the ensuing period in the time in which the alleged misdeeds of Lieutenant-Colonel Tucker are said to have occurred.

The story told to the department is that the woman in the case was an attractive American, and that her association with Colonel Tucker was marked by incidents which had as their scenes Manila, San Francisco and Portland.

If the case turns out to be as bad as it is pictured by the people who are now most familiar with it, it will result in one of the biggest scandals in the army of the United States ever known. The public court martial will give to the public the entire history of the case.

Major West Is Here.

Major Parker West is at the Portland hotel, quietly pursuing his inquiries about the case regarding the behavior of Lieutenant-Colonel Tucker here. Colonel Tucker was well known in Portland, having served in this city as paymaster from 1900 to 1904.

The woman in the case is believed to be Mrs. Pratt, the wife of an army officer who died in the Philippines. Colonel Tucker was in Portland about April 20 and Mrs. Pratt was with him at that time. It is said that they were here about 10 days. Mrs. Pratt's husband died in the Philippines last spring, and when Colonel Tucker was called to leave the islands for a three months' leave of absence in the United States Mrs. Pratt, who had been in the city, placed herself in the colonel's care.

Soon after the colonel and Mrs. Pratt arrived at San Francisco all the sensational charges that have been connected with the two were given publicity by a San Francisco newspaper. It is believed that the charges preferred by Mrs. Tucker were brought about by the San Francisco newspaper story.

Woman in the Case.
Mrs. Tucker herself was in Portland for a couple of days before Colonel Tucker left here for Manila in the fall of 1904. The colonel met his wife in 1890 while in the employ of her father, General John A. Logan. He was appointed to a position in the regular army in 1902, and has since advanced in rank rapidly, largely through the influence of his wife. It is said Mrs. Tucker has spent most of her time at the capital. Colonel Tucker now holds the rank of lieutenant-colonel and is assistant paymaster-general.

While in Portland Colonel Tucker introduced Mrs. Pratt to a number of his friends here, many of whom refuse to believe the charges that have been made against him. Mrs. Pratt is about 49 years of age. When Colonel Tucker left Portland for Chicago in April of this year he was accompanied by Mrs. Pratt. Her present whereabouts are unknown.

Friends of Colonel Tucker who knew him well when he was in this city as paymaster say that he was a complete physical wreck when he returned from the Philippines last April. Major West refused to discuss the object of his visit to Portland and what he expects to learn here.

SENSATIONAL DEFENSE.

Friend Says Colonel Tucker Will Spring Surprises in Answer.
(Journal Special Service.)
Chicago, June 29.—Lieutenant-Colonel William P. Tucker's defense to the startling charges made against him by his wife and mother-in-law was made public in Chicago today. A close friend of both the colonel and Mrs. Tucker issued the statement in Colonel Tucker's defense.

The charges are serious. They do not affect Colonel Tucker's army record at all. They bring into the affair a pretty and vivacious American woman, and not a Filipino woman, as it was at first alleged.

Following the code of military life, the colonel has shut his mouth closely and in reply to all questions gives the answer that he has nothing to say. The friend who comes to his rescue in his troubles is not a brother officer, but a civilian.

It is no matter of Colonel Tucker's attentions to another woman, but the matter of money that has caused the sting charges at Washington, this friend of the deputy paymaster-general insists.

The man in question is rankly a partisan of Colonel Tucker and when he speaks of the case he does not pretend that he is dispassionate. He makes no claim to speaking with authority of Colonel Tucker.

great masses of reddish brown hair. Her manner is simple and sincere and it would be hard to believe that she was not telling the truth. Besides she herself does not seem to realize how strange her case is.

"It was like being a little baby and beginning all over again, only that I knew how to talk," she says, "but I think I shall regain my memory after a while and if I do not, what difference does it make? I am contented and I am well, and I am looking forward to a great happy life."

Neighbors and relatives to discover whether she really has forgotten all about the past, as she seems to have done. But these have been without avail. To all intents and purposes the Mrs. Richards of today and the Mrs. Richards who sank into the trance-sleep are two distinct individuals.

Mrs. C. E. Richards of Riverside Forgets Whole Past During Night.

HUSBAND IS STRANGER AND BECOMES LOVER

Riverside Woman's Mind Is Absolute Blank Excepting Power of Speech. Loses Ability to Cook and Play Piano.

(Heart News Service.)
Riverside, Cal., June 29.—Not since the strange case of Leonie A. and Leonie B., which was presented to the scientific world a few years ago by Dr. Charcot, the celebrated French psychologist, has there been such a study in dual existence as that shown by Mrs. C. E. Richards of Riverside. In many respects the case of Mrs. Richards is without a parallel in history, doctors and scientific men alike are completely baffled; they do not even attempt an explanation.

Falling into a deep trance-like sleep which lasted two nights and a day and from which she was unable to rouse herself, she awoke a different individual, with new tastes and desires, and with absolutely no remembrance of her former self.

Sinks Into Long Sleep.
For several months Mrs. Richards had not been well, although nothing serious seemed to be the matter. One evening recently she went out driving with her husband and, seeming much fatigued upon her return, went to bed earlier than usual. When she failed to awaken at the usual hour next morning her husband went away to his business without trying to arouse her.

When at noon she found her still sleeping he was alarmed and tried in vain to awaken her. Finally Dr. R. H. Martin of Riverside was called in and all efforts to arouse the young woman were equally futile. On the morning of the second day her husband was anxiously watching her face, when the eyelids suddenly opened. When he spoke to her, however, he was alarmed by her expression. For some minutes she was unable to speak but finally a faraway voice she asked:

"Where is this, and how did I get here?"

When her stepdaughter was brought into the room.

"Who is this?" she asked.

"Tastes Change Completely.

In matters of dress her tastes have changed completely. Food that she was fond of once is distasteful to her now. A skillful cook before her "sleep" as she calls it, she was forced to learn the art over again with the aid of a cook book. A talented musician, the pieces which had taken days and weeks to acquire, were completely forgotten. The new self has but a slight understanding of music, though her fingers are as supple as before.

Beginning life again with no recollection of the past, the husband of four years, became more of the lover and the delights of courtship were renewed. Filled with gratitude at first for his kindness and consideration, she soon fell deeply in love with her own husband.

Government Fiscal Year Draws to Close With Big Surplus on Hand.

RECORDS ARE BROKEN BY FINANCIAL REPORT

Eighty-Seven Millions on Hand, Which Is More Than at Any Time Since High Mark Was Reached Five Years Ago.

(Heart News Service.)
Washington, June 29.—So far as working purposes are concerned, the fiscal year of the government closed today. Financially the year has been a most prosperous one for Uncle Sam. He has closed his books with a surplus of substantially $87,000,000, one of the largest since 1896.

While the official figures for the year will not be announced until Monday, the figures are available today, and are so nearly accurate as to leave little to be desired. The figures show that in the year just closed Uncle Sam's income from his various sources of revenue was $585,803,134, and his expenditures $518,770,700, as compared with receipts of $594,545,131 for the last fiscal year, and expenditures of $558,734,700, the surplus in that year being $25,809,323.

Expenditures Low.
There has been a tremendous increase in receipts in the year just closed, as is apparent from the figures, while the expenditures have been only about $10,000,000 in excess of the last year. The largest increase in receipts has been from customs, although internal revenue has shown a big gain. The receipts from the different sources this fiscal year have been as follows: Customs, $225,230,125; internal revenue, $178,509,558; miscellaneous, $81,063,451.

The receipts from the same source in the last fiscal year were as follows: Customs, $169,531,377; internal revenue, $249,160,312; miscellaneous, $40,172,197.

There has been no year in the history of the country in which the receipts from customs came within many millions of the present year. The receipts last year held the record up to that time, and this year's income from that source is about $25,000,000 in excess of last year.

Internal Revenue Increases.
Internal revenue receipts likewise break all records except during the Spanish war, when special taxes were being collected to carry on the war. Since the war taxes were wiped off the books, there has been nothing to compare with this year in the large receipts. The expenditures in the different departments of the government in the year now closing are as follows: Civil and miscellaneous, $124,115,828; war, $101,973,215; navy, $97,606,079; pensions, $18,140,004; postoffice, $13,890,032; public works, $76,050,653; interest on public debt, $24,604,582.

GATHERING EVIDENCE AGAINST WATCH TRUST

(Heart News by Longest Leased Wire.)
Washington, June 29.—Additional evidence against the watch trust was filed with the department of justice today by an independent concern of Canton, Ohio. The department after an investigation and consideration of the evidence at hand, evidently decided that a successful fight could not be made against the trust in the courts. The evidence turned over to the government prosecutors is expected to change the department's attitude.
