WEATHER REPORT

A weak high pressure area overlies the north Pacific states and extends thence east to the Dakotas. The barometer is relatively low north of Montana, and also over Arizona and southern California. A small disturbance is central over the lake region, and a weak high pressure area overlies the south Atlantic states. Local rains have fallen in the Willamette valley and sound country and at scattered places in the northern states, from the Dakotas cast to the middle Atlantic states. Nearly normal temperatures prevail on the Pacific alope.
