

STATE CONVENTION OF TEACHERS AT CAPITAL

Annual Meeting Opens Under the Most Favorable Auspices.

GOVERNOR DELIVERS OPENING ADDRESS

Mrs. Waldo, State Grange Lecturer, Pleads for Old-Time Singing and Spelling Schools and Hundred-Dollar Teachers in Rural Schools.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., July 1.—Ever since Saturday morning scores of teachers have been coming to Salem from every section of the state to attend the annual State Teachers' association, which was opened this morning and will be in session until July 3. This is the seventh annual convention of the association and in point of interest and attendance it promises to be a record-breaker. The meeting is all the more important on account of the fact that the Marion, Linn and Polk county institutes are to meet in connection with the state association. The annual convention of the county school superintendents of the state is to be held at this time.

The Willamette hotel has been made the headquarters for the convention. It has been arranged to hold all the department meetings in the High School building, while the general sessions will be held in the First Christian church.

Opened by Governor Chamberlain.

The Christian church was filled to overflowing this morning at the opening session, presided over by Miss A. H. Dimick of Portland, president of the association. After the singing of "America," led by Dr. A. H. Dimick, dean of the Willamette university music school, Governor Chamberlain was introduced by Miss Dimick as "the most popular man in Oregon." In the course of his address he said:

"This is an age of combination. Be it in the educational or in the commercial world, we must all unite to effect results. There is no danger in our system of education of making public schools only feeders for colleges and universities. Our public school system is primarily intended for the people. It is a common sense school system and should be made practical. There are two kinds of children in school, receptive ones and the less receptive or practical ones. Teachers are apt to spend little time on and pass up the latter, and yet I have found in life's career they reach greater success than the others."

He spoke of the good derived from conventions and praised Oregon's public school system.

Plea for County Teachers.

Mrs. Clara H. Waldo, lecturer for the Oregon state grange, spoke on "How a Teacher May Lead a Rural Community." She said that the only difference between country and city people was in the difference, modesty and lack of social contact of the former. The country teacher must lead, must go ahead with things, must be a power for good and must be paid at least $100 a month.

Afternoon Program.
The general sessions program for this afternoon, as arranged, was as follows: Music, piano-piano; Compulsory Education, Miss S. B. Chamberlain, superintendent of public instruction.

CLERK MADE WRITTEN BLUNDER

Representative Jackson Lays Blame for Trout Law on Clerk.

SAYS SUBORDINATE INSERTED PARAGRAPH

Words Convey Entirely Different Meaning From That Originally Intended by the Author of the Measure.

Representative C. S. Jackson of Douglas county lays the blame for the blunder abolishing the closed season for trout fishing upon the clerk of the fisheries committee of the house of representatives, to which committee the bill introduced by Jackson was referred. Jackson's explanation of how the closed season law was repealed follows:

"I note a news article in the issue of The Journal of June 25 concerning my amendment to the trout law originally sections 2634 and 2635 of the B. & C. code. Replying will say that the noting is correct as to the intention of the original B. & C. code, which I will explain later, but partially correct only when stating that the bill passed unamended."

"Original house bill 23, the printed bill as introduced by me, was correctly drawn and did not in any way change the old law except to shorten the close season for trout fishing to three months and permit fishing for salmon trout the entire year in the waters of the Umpqua river and tributaries, and further providing that salmon for family use could be taken from the waters of the Umpqua river above the Winchester dam on the North Umpqua and above the Roseburg dam on the South Umpqua river, at any time of the year."

Change Demanded by Settlers.
"The settlers residing on these rivers above the point specified were not allowed at any time to take a salmon for any purpose, a very unjust law, and a change was demanded by those people, and with good reason. The original house bill, as introduced, would have given the relief without any mistake."

"This bill was referred to the committee on fisheries January 22. This committee divided the bill and made two bills, one touching the salmon feature of the original house bill 23, and the other the trout feature of that bill, and instructed the clerk to draft two bills covering the two features of the original house bill 23. This was done with my consent, the committee did this upon the ground that they could deal with commercial fish and did not care to repeal the bill with the game fish feature."

"The original house bill 23, as introduced, was amended so as to cover the salmon feature of the original bill 23, repealing the bill to permit fishing for salmon on the Umpqua river above the point above specified."

HIS INJURIES PROVED FATAL LARGE BUILDING CHANGES HANDS

William Fetting Crushed by Fall Down Elevator Shaft and Expired in Agony.

William Fetting of 24 East Fourteenth street North died at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday about noon from injuries received in an elevator accident at the Felling building on Third street, between Stark and Washington streets. Fetting, with William Reynolds, were overhauling the elevator. They were working on top of the cage when the gears at the time the accident occurred.

At a point somewhere between the second and third floors the elevator without warning started upward. Although there was no danger in this circumstance as the elevator was equipped with an automatic controller it should probably have stopped at the first landing. Fetting became frightened and lost his footing.

Fetting fell from the top of the cage down between the cage and the wall of the shaft in the weight space and after being picked up lived but a few hours. Dr. William Jones, whose office is in the Abington building, was summoned but could not relieve the injured man. He passed away at five small children.

at the chamber to issue its new year book. The book, which will be distributed throughout the state after July 10, 1907, will be the largest and most complete yet published. It will contain a map of the state and will be more useful than any other book of the kind. It is intended to make the state and its resources known to the public. The book is the only organization of the state and is publishing such about Oregon.

It has been decided by the board of trustees of the chamber of commerce to publish such a year book each year, and to increase its size and scope as time passes. Great demand for the book has sprung up throughout the state since its first issue and more than 100,000 copies could have been distributed last year had they been on hand.

Results of the publication have already become apparent through the large number of people who are coming to Oregon to reside permanently. Through information which was first brought to their attention by a perusal of the chamber of commerce book.

Indisputable Evidence.

You have read our oft-repeated statement, "In use for over 30 years." It was in the early sixties that the prescription now universally known as Castoria was first made use of. With a record of over fifty, under five years of age, out of every hundred deaths, it was the AMBITION OF EVERY PHYSICIAN to discover a remedy suitable for the ailments of infants and children that would decrease this distressing mortality. In Castoria that relief has been found.

Let us take the statistics covering the deaths in the City of New York for the past 30 years, and here we find the beneficent effect of a combination of drugs excluding opiates and narcotics so long sought for, namely: CASTORIA.

Of the total number of deaths in New York City in 1870, 50 per cent. under five years of age; in 1880, 45 per cent.; in 1890, 40 per cent.; in 1900, per cent. only. Just stop to think of it.

Until 1897 no counterfeits or imitations of Castoria appeared on drug store shelves, but since that date Mr. Fletcher has been called upon to suppress a number of these frauds. While the record for 1900 does not come down to our expectation it is owing to the carelessness of mothers when buying Castoria. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is the only safeguard.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.
