PYROTECHNIC STORM PASSED OVER PORTLAND

Rain Descended in Torrents Amid Thunder and Lightning—Theatre-goers Driven to Temporary Shelter and Streetcars Blocked—Of Slight Duration.

Portland was treated to a genuine flood for about two hours last night and hundreds of theatre-goers and pleasure-seekers were caught in the torrents and forced to seek shelter from the down-pour in hotel lobbies, store entrances and other places where they could shield themselves from the falling water. Many persons, however, failed to get under cover in time and were soaked through, their clothing hanging to their bodies with a tenacity that made the victims feel as if they had fallen in the Willamette river.

Streets were flooded and on Third street car service was held up for a time because the tracks were submerged by several inches of water as it came rushing down the tracks. On Fourth street firemen brought out an engine and pumped water standing at the corner of Fourth and Yamhill down the street, where it finally ran off in catch basins.

On Portland Heights and other places where washed down heaps of debris upon the car tracks, necessitating the letter carriers, the Improved Order of Red Men in rear of the Macabees. Carriages with city officers and guests will take position on Park street between Burnside and Couch, facing south. The fifth (junior defenders) division will form on Eighth street, south of Burnside, the school children on Eighth, facing north, the company of Chinese natives sons in rear of the school children, the float of gods of liberty and the 'old woman and shoe' in rear of the Chinese native sons.

The grand marshal will take position at Seventh and Ankeny streets near the Scott hotel. All aids will report to him there at 9:30 a. m. or before. All floats or vehicles will carry the American flag or be decorated with the American colors. All divisions will be in position before 10 a. m. At 9:05 a. m. 'attention' will be sounded by the grand marshal's trumpeters. It will be repeated in all divisions having trumpeters. At 10 a. m. 'forward' will be sounded. It will be repeated by the trumpeter of the first division which will then be put in march eastward on Burnside street.

bringing out of forces of men to shovel the dirt off the tracks. The storm was accompanied by thunder and lightning and was one of the most severe ever known in the history of the city. Although of slight duration it raged with great intensity. Figures on the instruments at the weather bureau show that just one inch of rain fell from 9:59 o'clock, when the storm began, until 11:45, when it stopped. The heavy rainfall was from 10 o'clock to 10:30, when .68 inch fell in half an hour.

No Wind Blowing. A peculiar feature of the storm was the fact that there was no wind blowing at the time. This is a rare occurrence in thunder storms and has been known to occur but on few occasions. The storm was local, although there were thunder storms in the Puget sound country last night. These, however, say the weather prophets, were independent of the one which occurred in Portland last night. Although expecting a thunder storm it was not forecasted by Mr. Beas.
