BROOKE ACTION WAS ARBITRARY

Final Outcome of Women's Six Companies of the Oregon Home Missionary Society Wrangle Reached.

As a final outcome of the turmoil into which the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Oregon conference has been for the past two weeks, Mrs. Osman Royal, conference corresponding secretary, has been declared by officers of the national organization to be in full control of the local organization and the only officer left having executive authority, now that Mrs. F. W. Brooke has resigned the presidency and Mrs. D. R. Young has resigned from the executive board.

In a letter recently received here from Mrs. Delia L. Williams of Delaware, Ohio, corresponding secretary of the national organization of the Woman's Home Missionary society, the action of Mrs. F. W. Brooke, ex-president of the local society, calling a meeting for June 25, at which a new set of officers were elected, is entirely repudiated and declared to be contrary to the constitution of the organization.

In the same letter the attitude of Mrs. Royal is clearly sustained.

The letter plainly states that the meeting of June 26 was illegal and that the officers elected at that time have no authority to serve. The result of his is that Mrs. Royal is the chief executive officer of the state organization and remains as such until the annual election in the fall.

Mrs. Royal has been criticised to some extent for "running" the society. In commenting upon this Mrs. Williams easy in her letter:

"Any corresponding secretary that does not assume the leadership in her conference, and responsibility for its success, is not meeting what is expected of her," In closing Mrs. Williams has the following to say of Mrs. Royal's work:

"I am exceedingly gratified with the cyldent prosperity of your conference since you took hold of the work, and trust that all the good women of the conference, and especially those of the accountive board, may co-operate with you most hearily in your plans for the advancement of the interests in your conference."

People engaged in the electrical and other more modern industries do not fear an early collapse, but the uncertain conditions in the building trade and the tremendous speculation there had been in land, and the price of land in Berlin and other may be a collapse in the land boom, for the simple reason that with a great industrial development excessive building is quite possible. It is pointed out in connection with this that such an unfavorable development would most likely lead to strikes.

Past experience has shown that the German workman, ruled as he is by the Socialists, is ready at shorter netice and smaller provocation than the mechanic of any other nation, to lay down his tools and go on strike. If this should prove to be the result of the impending drop in land and building prices there is little doubt that another strike movement, affecting nearly all other industries, will sweep the country and hasten the end of Germany's recent period of prosperity.

Attorney Rosenthal for the Standard declared that the action of Judge Landis in the proceedings has been extra judicial, and without power of court. That if the court insists upon an inquiry along the lines pursued, the situation will be presented that is without precedence in Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence.

Rosenthal's speech follows the examination of President Felton of the Union Tank Line, concerning the mileage paid shippers on cars.

Judge Landis announced that he would give final judgment on August 2, Bosenthal's Defiance.

Attorney Rosenthal said: "I appear for the purpose of specially answering the court's inquiry, and deny the court's jurisdiction, contending that this inquiry is extra judicial and beyond the legal power of the court. This defendant insists that it is innocent and says that if there is any implication in the court's inquiry there has been no suggestion from any source indicating that the defendant or the Standard Oil company of New Jersey ever violated, or even is charged with violating, interstate commerce law. Violators of Anti-Trust Law and Relationship With the Railways Investigated.

INDEPENDENTS PLAN RIVAL SMELTING PLANT

Trust Has Become So Powerful That It Dictates Terms to Hill and Harriman on Ore Rates No Bonded Debt Outstanding.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)

Washington, July 8 .- Attorney-General Bonaparte is conducting a vigorous investigation with a view to dissolving the Guggenheim smelter trust. This investigation, which was personally of dered by President Rooseveit, has proseeded as secretly as possible and efforts have been made to prevent the American Smelting and Refining company—the parent corporation of the smelter trust—from discovering that they are about to be placed on the hot grill of the government's trust-busters. The scope of the investigation includes, not only violations of the antifust law, but also the relationship sustained by the smelter trust to see the trust law, but also the relationship sustained by the smelter trust towards the railroads which traverse the country in which smelting ores originate.

It is known positively that about four months ago a statement was submitted personally to President Roosevelt in which it was alleged that the Guggenheim smelter trust at the present time approximates absolute control of smelting in the United States; that the trust has become so powerful that it is able ing in the United States; that the trust has become so powerful that it is able to dictate ore rates on the rail lines aggregating 30,000 to 40,000 miles which are controlled by E. H. Harriman and James J. Hill; that the independent miners have been crowded so closely to me wall that many of them must either go into bankruptcy or submit to the terms of the smelter trust.

Independents Organise.

It is also known authoritatively that the independent mining interests have been advised of this federal investigation and have taken preliminary steps towards the formation of a rival smelting corporation and that assurances have been given by powerful Wall street financiers that the capital will be forthcoming for such an enterprise.

financiers that the capital will be forthcoming for such an enterprise.

The American Smelling and Refining company, which was incorporated in New Jersey in 1899, is controlled by the Guggenheim brothers, one of whom is Simon Guggenheim, the newly elected senator from Colorado to succeed
Thomas M. Patterson. It has authorized and issued $50,000,000 of common stock and $50,000,000 of 7 per cent cumulative and issued $50,000,000 of common stock and $50,000,000 of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock. Since December, 1903, dividends have been paid and at the present time the common stock earns 8 per cent, the preferred 7 per cent as provided for in the certificates. When the American Smelting and Refining company was organized, it acquired a large number of smelting plants in Colorado, Montana, Nebraska, Illinois, Utah, Mexico and other localities, and two years later took over the plants of

M. Guggenheim's Sons in Pueblo, Orado, Monterey and Aguascalentes, blexico, and Perth Amboy. New Jersey. It also owns control of the United States Zinc company at Pueblo and all the stock of the American Smelters' Steamship company which operates steamers in the smelting trade between New York and other ports in the United States and Mexico.

Subsidiary Companies.

The Guggenheims also control the American Smelters' Securities company which was organized to take over the properties of the Guggenheim Exploration company and others and has a capital stock of $70,000,000, the majority of which is owned by the American Smelting and Refining company. In this corporation Senator Simon Guggenheim is a director.

Another most important smelting corporations

Another most important smelting cor-poration controlled by the Guggenheims is the Federal Mining and Smelting company with $30,000,000 authorized capital, which is owned by the American Smelters' Securities company and which operates under a contract with the American Smelting and Refining com-pany to sell its entire output to that concern for six years from September 1993.

All these Guggenheim corporations have been adroitly financiered so that there are against none of them and outstanding bonds excepting $627,000 sumed by the American Smelting an Refining company for one of the constituent companies taken over when the merger was effected.

Oppressive Conditions. As the smelter trust has augmented in power year by year, so it is claimed, conditions more and more oppressive have been imposed on the independent miners which have been compelled to do business with the Guggenheims. In order to obtain complete control, it was essential that the smelter trust control ore shipments.

essential that the smelter trust control ore shipments.

The smelter trust, therefore, effected traffic arrangements with the Hill and Harriman lines whereby the traffic manager of the trust in New York, Si Eccles, must first approve an ore rate before it become effective on either of those railway systems. This agreement was no, entered into with good grace by the railroads mentioned, and their traffic managers yielded, so they have asserted, only because the smelter trust has the power to divert ore traffic as it will. It is asserted by those who have gone into the matter that the smelter trust swung over the heads of the railroad magnates precisely the same sort of club with which Standard Oil in former years compelled the giving of relates. in former years compelled the giving of rebates.

Officials of Concern. Prominent among officials of the constituent Guggenheim smelter trust companies are: American Smelting and Refining company—Isaac Guggenheim, Edward Brush, William E. Morris, Daniel ward Brush, William E. Morris, Daniel Guggenheim, Morris Guggenheim, Solo-mon R. Guggenheim, Grant B. Schley, New York; Guy C. Barton, Omaha: J. B. Grant, David H. Klamath Falls, Or., July 8 .- The people of the upper Klamath project, that ple of the upper Klamath project, that is, the valley below the city of Klamath Falls, are working in a spirit of hearty cooperation not only among themselved but with the reclamation service. The construction of the Clear lake dam is a part of the Klamath project. There was no road to the Clear lake dam site. They all donated money and labor and in less than two weeks what had been merely a trail was made a good wagon road. Then a petition was signed by those whose land was signed up according to the requirements of the reclamation service, constituting one third of the land in that past of the project, asking for the early construction of the Clear lake dam and pledging their cooperation.
