The Sargent hotel and grill, Grand Hawthorne avenue, is undoubtedly one of the best equipped and most popular establishments of its kind in the city of Portland, and under the judicious management of Nicholas F. Sargent, the proprietor, and Frederick G. Sargent, the manager, a large and steadily increasing patronage has been secured. The premises, which are located at the corner of Grand and Hawthorne avenues, are the finest and handsomest on the east side. The restaurant, grill and private dining rooms are elegantly furnished and no pains or expense have been spared to make this department one of the finest in the Pacific northwest. This business was established nine months ago during this short time it has become well known, not only on account of its cleanliness and the promptness with which the meals are served, but because of the substantial bill of fare and the popular prices that prevail. The menu always contains a variety of the season's while the cuisine and service cannot be excelled anywhere in the country. The kitchen is presided over by Mr. Oden personally and this insures the "correctness" of every order. Messrs. Sargent and Oden have had an extended experience in the catering and management of the critical public. A specialty is made of sea foods and a good table d'hôte dinner is served for 50 cents which has already become famous throughout the city. Mr. Sargent has been in the business for 15 years and is the manager of the Arlington club and the success he made of that establishment, as well as the hotel of which he is now the head, reflects the highest credit upon him and his assistant manager.

"Let's see these $4.50 and $5 pants you advertised for $2.75," remarked a man at John Dellar's yesterday. After seeing two pairs he said: "I'll take this pair for myself, and you can tie up three more for my two brothers and my old dad, but have one pair about two inches longer for Bill." "Why he's a big fellow," after going through the store buying goods to the extent of $48 in shoes, hat, shirts, a light-weight suit, etc. he said: "I've discovered you do as you advertise. I'll give you and your store a good word to my friends. The Dellar has always given honest values to his customers, and no one can cite a case where he has ever advertised anything and not made good. They're tearing down his store now, and the big bargains he is offering in summer suits, shirts, shoes, hats, etc. are the best in the highest in Portland. Go and see. First and Yamhill.

Rev. E. Nelson Allen was last night installed as pastor of the Hawthorne Park Presbyterian church. While Mr. Allen has held this pastorate for some time under the Cumberland church dispensation, he has not been installed as pastor of this church until this evening. Rev. W. S. Holt presided as moderator and pronounced the questions to the pastor-elect. Rev. William Hiram Foulkes presided at the installation. Rev. A. J. Montgomery gave the charge to the pastor and Rev. B. E. Ely gave the charge to the people. The installation prayer was made by Rev. W. R. Bishop. Music was rendered by the chorus choir. Rev. E. Nelson Allen spoke of the pleasure he had in being installed as pastor under the new union.

The quarterly meeting of the Oregon State Nurses' association is in session this afternoon on the lawn of the North Pacific sanatorium. A business meeting precedes the social and address to be made by Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway. Miss L. G. Richardson, the president, is in charge of the meeting. The State Nurses' association, together with the associations of California and Washington, publish a monthly for the nursing profession. Miss Richardson is the editor of this journal, and the California editor, who is editor-in-chief, is Miss Genevieve Cook, who is now in Paris attending the international convention of nurses. She will come to this city from there with reports of the work, and will be entertained by the association next month.

Suffering from an acute attack of tonsillitis, Henry Liebe, a longshoreman of Russell and Delany streets, undertook to cure his ailment at an early hour this morning, with what he believed to be liniment. Unfortunately in the dark he secured the wrong bottle and rubbed a liberal quantity of carbolic acid on his neck. The prompt use of alcohol overcame to a certain extent the action of the fiery acid, but Liebe suffered extensive burns of the neck and hands.

While examining a revolver tendered for sale by a stranger, Phillip Schneider of 1014 North Third street was wounded in the left hand last night through the accidental discharge of the weapon. The wound is not regarded as serious.

Evangelist E. Wallace Shepard began a course of seven lectures last night on the "Five Great Kingdoms of History and Prophecy" at the Adventist Christian church, Second street, near Hall. His subject last night was "The Dawn of History, Babylon, Past and Present." Tonight he will talk on "Medo-Persean History." No admission is charged, the lectures being delivered under the auspices of the Adventist Christian church.

Because the rollers he was using in moving a house from the Fairview place on Tenth and Alder streets sank into and marred the asphalt pavement, A. D. Moore was this morning stopped from continuing the work until he had placed planks beneath the rollers. He put up a $100 deposit to cover any damage to the street work until he was guaranteed to repair it. The warm weather softened the pavement and caused it to gum up beneath the rollers.

SUNDAY CLOSING LAW HITS SALOONS HARD

Another Investigation Will Be Made, but Sheriff Refuses to Discuss Action He Will Take—One Tavern May Become Package House.

Again the click and twirl of the slot machine is heard in St. Johns saloons. Again Sheriff Stevens has sent Deputy Penumbra Kelly to investigate. Not many months ago Deputy Kelly made a trip to St. Johns and ordered slot machines out, but because the Sunday closing law has been so strenuously enforced in St. Johns where Sunday traffic was heavy, saloon men decided to make up the loss somehow.

Last Monday slot machines were again installed. Whether the law has been violated or not will be better determined when Penumbra Kelly arrives on the scene. Sheriff Stevens said this morning that he would attempt to evade the law by declaring that no money was being used in them but what action the sheriff's office will take in that event was not revealed by the sheriff.

It is well known that the Sunday law enforcement has hit St. Johns saloons hard. There are six of them, each paying $1,000 license. Their best day has always been Sunday, when it is stated from $200 to $500 was taken by leading emporiums of wet goods. As an illustration, each of the saloons has ceased subscription to the St. Johns saloon newspaper which they promised early in the season. They argue that they can no longer afford to subscribe to the newspaper, since the games are always played on Sunday and on that day their business has been cut off.

It is likely one or two of the saloons may be compelled to go out of business. It is intimated one of the saloonkeepers will sell over to the bar and sell in packages only, for which license is $400.

JULY BULLETIN IS SPLENDID NUMBER

Japan, China, Manchuria and Resources of Oregon Sections Are Treated in Able Manner.

Chief among articles of interest in an excellent number of the Chamber of Commerce Bulletin for July are two devoted to the resources and possibilities of the "Great Harney Country" and "Japan's Imports." Both were written especially for the Bulletin, the latter by T. Albas, Japanese consular agent at Portland.

Harney county is dealt with thoroughly and every interest and section of the big territory is explicitly mentioned. It is likened to the Great Salt Lake valley, "which valley in many respects is strikingly like our own," states the article. Artesian water, lakes and game stockraising and crops are all fully written of and full knowledge of this comparatively little known empire in the middle of Oregon is given. The capital, is given two columns in the Bulletin and is described as an educational as well as commercial center.

At this time the focus on Japan is peculiarly interesting and is largely statistical and comparative. A mass of information regarding this oriental race is crowded into the space of a few pages.

There are other features that make the July number one of the most interesting ever issued. A list of Oregon names giving their origin is among them. Articles on China and Manchuria are in the table of contents, as well as a short write-up of Union county.

CHIEF GRITZMACHER DENIES ALLEGATIONS

No Abuse of Drunken Prisoners at Central Station, Says Head of Department.

A communication has been received by The Journal from George Manning of 226 East Eighth street relative to two cases of alleged brutality on the part of city prison officials on July 3 and 4. Chief Gritzmacher, who investigated the unwarranted rough handling of two drunken men, and condemns the police department in no uncertain terms.

Chief Gritzmacher when informed of the allegations embodied in the latter unequivocally branded the statements of Manning as without foundation.

"Since I have been in command of the police department there never has been and I would not tolerate any abuse of prisoners," said the chief. "I know that the jailers of the three relief treat all persons arrested with the greatest consideration and believe that Mr. Manning is laboring under a misapprehension."

"Half past seven." Don't miss it.

NO BIDS RECEIVED FOR THIS PROPERTY

Board of Education Will Readvertise for Sale Williams Avenue School Holdings at Once.

No bids have been received for the purchase of the Williams avenue school property, which was advertised for sale some weeks ago by the board of education. The property will be readvertised and a greater effort made to interest the investing public. The school board has determined to build a much larger building on the Knott street block purchased some months ago from Mrs. J. B. Montgomery.

The Williams avenue school at Russell street and Williams avenue is right in the heart of the Albina business district and is not a desirable place for a school. School Director I. N. Fleischner, while discussing the proposed sale, and new building project this morning said:

"The Williams avenue school block is a valuable piece of property and I think will readily bring from $45,000 to $75,000. The building is too small for the requirements of the district, nor is it a good location for a school. We are going to build a large school on the Montgomery block, but in the meantime the district will continue to use the building at Williams avenue and Russell street, and an purchaser of this property will have to agree to let the building remain until the new school is finished."

ECHO MEETING HELD BY YOUNG BAPTISTS

An echo meeting of the Young People's Baptist union was held at the White Temple last night. Addresses were made by H. G. Baldwin of Cleveland, Ohio, and by Rev. B. S. Stucker of Oakland, California. Short addresses were made by Miss Carrie Millspaugh, Rev. H. R. Hudson, Dr. E. E. Hawkins and Rev. John Benson. Fred Butler sang and a trio also gave a number. The trio consisted of W. Belcher, Miss Kathleen Lawler and Miss Mabel Milne.

Other speakers on route for the convention at Spokane were delayed and did not get to the city until this morning. Among these is Dr. John Roach Straton who is to speak at Chaunauqua this week and who will occupy the pulpit of the White Temple during August.

Cheapest accident insurance—Dr. Leonard's Ecolin Oil. Cures the pain and heals the wound. All druggists sell it.

LUSCIOUS CHERRIES BEING EXHIBITED

E. C. Goding, a deputy sheriff of Multnomah county, living on Mount Tebor, is exhibiting some fine large cherries raised on his place. Twelve of them lying side by side measure just 1 1/2 inches. They are of the Lambert variety in shape and color but are much larger and of somewhat different flavor. Mr. Goding knows what variety they belong. The tree is a small one and not heavily laden with fruit. He is shipping some of the larger ones to the west, to show them what real fruit looks like.

"Half past seven." Wait for it.
