Christopher Nelson, an employe of the Peninsula Lumber company, who had his left arm torn from the socket by becoming entangled in some machinery at the mill, died at St. Vincent's hospital yesterday from his terrible injuries.

There has been so much interest aroused by the sermon preached last Sunday night at Taylor street church by Rev. E. M. Hill on "The Young Man in the Bread Line," that he has decided to invite any who wish to ask questions relative to the theme under discussion to send them to his address at any time.

H. H. Cobb formerly of Los Angeles, but for the past year a resident and taxpayer of Portland, leaves for southern California in the interest of English walnut growing in Multnomah and adjoining counties. He finds after a year's study that the famous Franquette second generation trees do equally as well here as in the famous Los Neitoux section near Los Angeles.

YELLING YOUNGSTERS SWARM PUBLIC BATHS

Opening of Most Popular Aquatic Resort for Summer Season Draws Large Crowd of Small Swimmers—New Cage Holds 600—Drownings Impossible.

With 200 yelling youngsters plunging and splashing in the water, Portland's public baths, the finest in America, were opened for the season at 10 o'clock this morning. The opening ceremonies were thoroughly informal.

Perhaps the two most interested spectators at the opening were Edward Holman and L. I. Samuel, patrons of the baths. It is to their efforts in behalf of the public that Portland owes the possession of the safest, most convenient and finest public baths in this country.

Immense delays in opening the baths had whetted the desire of scores of small boys to take a plunge, and for days they have loitered in the neighborhood of the foot of East Yamhill street awaiting the time of opening.

The cage is 100 feet long and 35 feet wide. It was built by the Shipiro shipyard under the supervision of Mr. Shipiro himself. Its design is novel and the danger, slumbered on, Officer Porter in passing the store at midnight detected smoke issuing from the place and immediately turned in an alarm from box 33.

SHIPIRO TOOK CIGAR TO BED FIRE LADDIES DID THE REST

M. Shipiro's penchant for smoking in bed came near costing him his life last night. Shipiro, who conducts a second-hand establishment at 373 First street, owing to the heat in his apartments determined to spend the night in his store.

About 11 p. m. he sought out a downy couch in the rear of his place of business and after covering himself with a light blanket, lit a black perfect. Inadvertently Shipiro fell asleep and had it not been for the vigilance of Patrolman Porter, it would have been the second-hand dealer's last slumber.

The lighted cigar fell into the folds of the blanket, but Shipiro oblivious of the danger, slumbered on. Officer Porter in passing the store at midnight detected smoke issuing from the place and immediately turned in an alarm from box 33.

ALASKAN WEDDING TRIP FOR PROMINENT LOGGER AND BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Yeon departed on a noon train for Seattle and will go to Alaska on a wedding tour. They left next Monday on the steamer Santa Rosa.

Mr. Yeon is a popular member of the Portland Commercial club, the Elks and other social organizations. Last Saturday evening he marked the occasion of his city journey by holding a stag dinner at the Oregon grill to 22 friends.

YOU MUST PAY FOR SPRINKLING OR HAVE YOUR WATER SHUT OFF

The water department has the power to shut off the water of any consumer who refuses to pay for sprinkling privileges even though he is deprived entirely of any supply. However, this can only be done when water he has been using for sprinkling and for domestic purposes issues from the same faucet.

This was an opinion rendered before the water board meeting yesterday afternoon by City Attorney Kavanagh in response to questions from members of the board as to the city attorney's view that the board can make and enforce its own rules so long as they do not conflict with city ordinances and rules do not need to be ratified by the council.

SEEK COOPERATION TO CONSTRUCT ROAD Chamber of Commerce Desires Bid From Commissioners of Three Counties for Auto Road.

Secretary Giltner of the chamber of commerce has prepared communications to be sent to the commissioners of Multnomah, Washington and Tillamook counties asking their cooperation in building the proposed automobile road from Portland to Tillamook.

James Walton, cashier of the First National bank of Tillamook, has said that the business men of that place will contribute liberally toward the new road. As soon as the commissioners of the three counties involved are heard from the plan of operations with regard to the project will be outlined.

Public Suffers (Continued from Page One.) and unreasonable, and do not exercise average judgment in handling the public. An instance is cited of a Portlander who with his wife was departing for the south on a Southern Pacific train due to leave the city at 11:30 p. m.

is the creation of the combined ingenuity of Mr. Samuel, Mr. Holman and Mr. Shipiro. It is so arranged and built that a case of drowning at the baths would be practically an impossibility.

Before the ballast and weights were placed on the cage this morning it stood high above the water. When it was finally sunk, however, the rear end has nine feet of water, while the entrance or front end has a depth sufficiently shallow to accommodate the most inexperienced swimmers. There are 20 feet of water at the point in the river where the cage is situated and the current sweeps through it at a brisk rate, keeping the water fresh at all times.

The cage is held in ballast not only by the bags of sand, but by ropes which hold it to the proper depth. In case of an accident or any unforeseen disaster a drowning inside the cage would be next to impossible if the attendants are always on hand. By cutting the ropes holding the cage, which would require less than a minute, the huge cage would rise to the surface instantly, raising above the water all the occupants of the pool.

The baths are thoroughly equipped with all conveniences. There is an emergency hospital where immediate attention may be given victims of accidents or other emergencies. A superintendent and matron are constantly in charge.

At the gate, after he had unburdened himself of sundry bags and luggage and submitted his railroad ticket to be punched, he was asked for his sleeper ticket, and then remembered that he had given it to his wife to enable her to go to the train and retire. He told the gatekeeper the circumstances, but was coldly informed that he could not go through the gate at that hour without a sleeper ticket.

Portland, Or., June 6, 1907. Dear Sir—The grocer's name is G. W. Dickson, Fort-fourth and East Belmont. We like the coffee very well. The name of my school is the Sunny-side school. Enclosed drawing shows how thirteen packages can be packed in a case. Why the Golden Grain Granules are called the family drink is because it is a harmless and wholesome drink and every child in every home can drink it. The weight of the package that I got weighed 1 lb. 10 oz. My age is eleven years and six months. MASTER WALTER D. DAVIS, 81 E. 45th St., Portland, Or. P. S.—Hope this will be one of the winning prizes.
