

LUSCIOUS FRUIT RAISED PRACTICALLY IN CITY LIMITS

Lambert Cherries Raised by R. C. Redman of Greeley Station, Compared to Silver Half Dollar.

R. C. Redman of Greeley station on the St. Johns line has raised some cherries which are an indisputably good advertisement for that vicinity. The cut shows a box of his fine Lambert cherries compared in size to the half-dollar in their midst. They are rich in their coloring and sweet in their flavor and have as small pits as one can hope to find in such a large cherry. Mr. Redman says that the soil at Greeley station seems admirably suited to cherry trees and many fine cherries have been raised there this year. Stories of the size of large cherries have aroused friendly competition among fruitgrowers, and Mrs. Ada Wallace (now Mrs. J. Campbell) street, is willing to put up her cherries of the Bing variety against any. A row of 12 cherries measured 1 1/4 inches, and were picked from one tree on her home grounds.

Frank J. Perkins of Mount Tabor shows a row of 13 Bing cherries which laid side by side, actually measure 1 1/2 inches. A row of 18 Royal Anne cherries measure 1 3/4 inches, and were raised by C. B. Sawtelle of Mount Tabor.

SURFACE RIGHT TO CULTIVATOR

And Let Title to Coal Deposits Remain in the Government.

THEN LIBERALIZE COAL CLAIM LAWS

These Recommendations Secretary Garfield Has in Mind to Make to Congress to Encourage Developers of Coal Mines.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, July 12.—Any immediate solution of the much-voiced coal question is impossible, according to Secretary of the Interior Garfield and the government authorities are up against a stone wall.

"In the first place," said the secretary, "the present land laws are an impediment. Only 160 acres can be taken up by any one person and the law forbids the taking up of coal lands by several persons with the intention of later forming a corporation to develop them. In only a few places are the deposits deep enough to make possible the efficient development of tracts as small as 160 acres.

"Transportation inefficiency presents another difficulty. Facilities are at present inadequate to handle the output from any properties now in course of development.

GROWING CHILDREN

The Period When the Nervous Activity Is at Its Greatest. A medical journal says: "Against the practice of giving tea and coffee to children, we cannot speak too strongly.

Childhood is the period when the nervous activity is at its greatest. The brain is ever busy receiving new impressions. Reflex action, coordination of muscles, and the special senses are all under a special course of training. The nervous system is pushed to its utmost capacity, and long is the list of victims that follow its over-stimulation. In these little people, nothing but harm can come from the use of such articles as tea or coffee.

Bad, then, as this practice is, let us as physicians be aggressive in its prohibition. Do not be satisfied by answering "No," when asked as to its use, but let us teach the families with whom we come in contact that such practice is evil. We speak emphatically, because we do not only among the poor and uneducated, but among the rich, who should know better, this practice is marvellously prevalent.

STOLE UNCHECKED FOR EIGHT YEARS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, July 12.—The report of the experts, E. G. Shorrock & Co., who have been checking up the accounts of John Riplinger, former city comptroller, is expected to show that Riplinger stole almost $40,000. The report to the committee was made today. It will be a voluminous affair, covering about 200 pages of typewritten matter. It will show the date and when the thief was able to escape detection. Riplinger's crookedness, it will be shown, began while he was serving as chief clerk to Frank Paul, who preceded him as comptroller. His thefts extended over Paul's administration and through Riplinger's own, making a total of about eight years.

ENDEAVOR MEETING HURT BY RAILROADS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, July 12.—The attendance at the Christian Endeavor convention will be far below expectations and Chairman Frank L. Horsfall of the general committee attributes that fact to the railroads. He says the Endeavorers did not know they were to have any special rate at all until June 15. Then when the special rate was announced, it was a fare and a third. Horsfall complains that the Christian Endeavorers got no more consideration than any other kind of gathering, large or small. The Endeavorers expected a round trip rate of one fare and Horsfall believes that had such fare been granted California alone would have sent 1,000 delegates.

Here Is One of the Letters Sent to John Blaauw in a Friendly Contest Before July 4th, From Children

Forest Grove, Or., June 28, 1907. Dear Sir: I got a package of Golden Grain Granules. My mother made some for breakfast this morning just like you said on the package. My mother has been using them for the last eight years and she thinks it is much better than coffee. We like the Golden Grain Granules very much and are going to try it now instead of coffee. My mother says it is less trouble to make than coffee. The name of our grocer is Hoffman, Allen & Co. The name of my school is Forest Grove public school. The Golden Grain Granules is called the American drink because the Americans are more apt to use any kind of a drink they think that would be harmful to them. Anything that is not harmful to the health and will help to make us stronger should be used instead of coffee and tea, for it makes children nervous. The exact weight of the package I got was 2 1/2 ounces. I will be 10 years old next August. MERTROE HOLLINGER. Forest Grove, Or.

Superintendent at Annapolis Naval School Leaves the Active Service.

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, D. C., July 12.—A number of changes among high naval officers take place today as a result of the retirement of Rear-Admiral James H. Sands by virtue of the age limit. During the past two years Rear-Admiral Sands has been superintendent of the Naval Academy at Annapolis. He is succeeded in that office by Commander Charles J. Badger, who was formerly commandant of midshipmen at the academy. Commander Badger is from Maryland, and entered the navy in June, 1869. For some time past he has served as assistant chief of the Bureau of Navigation. Prior to his appointment to that post he was in command of the cruiser Chicago on the Pacific station. The successor of Commander Badger as assistant chief of the Navigation Bureau, is Commander Cameron McR. Winslow, who was recently relieved from the command of the cruiser Charleston. Commander Winslow made a cruise from New York around the coast of South America with Secretary Root as a passenger. Commander Winslow's wife is the daughter of Henry O. Havemeyer of New York. Several years ago Commander Winslow was on duty in the Bureau of Navigation and served as naval aid to President Roosevelt. He was advanced for extraordinary heroism during the war with Spain, and is now due to be promoted to the grade of captain.
