Officer Matt Murphy, Accused of Misconduct at a Ball Game, Is Believed to Have Been Found Guilty -Decision Next Friday.

That officer Matt P. Murphy has been found guilty of the charge of drunkenness and using foul language preferred against him by J. M. Higgins, manager of the league baseball grounds, seems certain, although the decision of the olice commission will not be made known until the meeting of the executive board next Friday afternoon. Murphy's trial was held yesterday aftermoon before Mayor Lane and the members of the commission, Thomas G. Greene, R. L. Sabin and D. M. Donaugh, and he was defended by Attorney Dan. R. Murphy

Sunday afternoon, June 9, Officers said to be Murphy and Ace Welch attended the neen's staff. Sunday afternoon, June 9, Officers baseball game at the league ground. In explaining how the trouble between the officer and the manager came up. Murphy said:

"Ace and I thought we would go out and see the last two or three innings of the game between Los Angeles and Portland after we had been relieved from duty at 4 o'clock. The game was going against our team and Los Angeles had a lead of 9 to 0. Ace and I were disgusted with the playing of the Beavers and said so. This fellow Higgins heard us express our opinion of Portland's playing and butted in with:
'If you stiffs don't like the way this Portland team plays don't come out here. We don't need you and we don't want you.' We paid no more attention to him and left when we were ready."
Welch's description of the ball game

Only two witnesses were present against the officers. Biggins and Edward Dietrich, a clerk in Schiller's cigar store, corner Sixth and Washington streets. When placed on the stand and sworn by the mayor, Higgins said:

"Murphy was considerably under the influence of liquer when he loomed up in front of the ticket office, and in a loud woice damanded admittance, saying that Chief Gritsmacher had sent him out to the game.

"We hire our own policemen, since the city once informed us that it could not pay wages to men to watch ball games. I told Murphy that if he saw the game he would have to buy a ticket the same as anyone else. He grew offensive, and took down our names in a matchcok.

"When he found out he could not bluff his way into the ball game on his bluff his way into the ball game on his uniform he went across the street and followed two women into the back part of the Tavern saloon. He remained in there about half an hour and then came out again."

Dietrich's testimony before the commission was practically the same as that of Higgins, but was not so positive as to details.

The defense introduced, in addition to Murphy Cantain Edward Anderson a Wade Charges Dismissed.

In the case against Officer J. B. Wade, who was charged with interrupting a Socialist meeting during the last campaign on the ground that they blocked the sidewalks in the plaza blocks, the charges were dismissed at the request of the complainants, T. Bladden and J. H. Farbrooks.

"He told me I was a dog," complained Roderick B. Byland to the police commission when asked to explain the reason for his charge against Officer Murphy. Byland told the commission that Murphy offended him one morning while he was trying to get his delivery wagon in the proper place in front of Barnes' meat market. The wagon got on the track and blocked a streetcar for a few moments. This case was also taken under advisement.

Acting Detective Hill was also on the carpet, charged with having left the city without permission from his superiors. Hill admitted the delinquency, which consisted of accompanying a deputy sheriff to Vancouver to deliver age.

Frederick Magill and Bride Are Arrested While Enjoying Their Honeymoon at San Diego-Accused of Murdering Banker's First Spouse.

San Diego, Cal., July 13.—Frederick Magill. a millionaire banker, his wife.
Mrs. Fay Magill, and daughter, Margaret Magill, of Clinton, Illinois, were arrested at the Robinson hotel in this city tonight, charged with having murdered Magill's first wife. The arrest self and Mrs. Magill No. 1 was found dead in bed three and a half months ago. She was at that time supposed to have committed suicide. It was also disclosed that ever since this death an investigation has been proceeding in charge of C. O. Miller, the public prosecutor of Clinton county, who has clung to the belief that Mrs. Magill did not kill hereafted and while the investigation was arrested at the Robinson hotel in this city tonight, charged with having mur-dered Magili's first wife. The arrest was made by Chief of Police Mouiton on a telegraphic order from Attorney Arthur F. Miller of Clinton, Illinois. Magill attempted to commit suicide when he learned the officers were Magill was previously warned tonight, and was waiting for an automobile in which the trio could escape across the Mexican border to Tia Juana, where they could resist extradition.

The arrest created a sensation in the Hotel Robinson, which is a fashiosable resort. WIFE'S BODY EXHUMED.

Believed Investigation Has Proven That There Was Foul Play.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)
Bloomington, Ills., July 13.—The arrest tonight at San Diego, California, of Fred Magill of Clinton, on a charge of murder, is a sensational climax to a case which has greatly sroused the people of Dewitt county. Magill's first wife died on May 30 last from the apparent effects of chloroform and was supposed to have committed suicide. supposed to have committed suicide. This week he was married in Denver, Colorado, to Miss Fay Graham of Clinton, who was an intimate friend of the family during the life of the first wife.

The early marriage within six weeks of the death of the first wife created much resentment and aroused anew the gossip which was caused by the peculiar facts concerning the death of the first gossip which was caused by the peculiar facts concerning the death of the first wife. It was charged by some that there was reason to believe that she had been the victim of foul play and an investigation was demanded. In response to this State's Attorney Miller took steps to have the body exhumed. Whether the disinterment took place this week or not is not known as great secrecy was enjoined. From the fact that the arrest was ordered it is presumed that the exhumation took place and that evidence of wrongdoing was developed.

belief that Mrs. Magili did not kill herself, and while this investigation was going on, and while he was still under the shadow of this tragedy, Magili married Miss Fay Graham in Denver.

With that death Miss Graham's name had been connected in a letter which Mrs. Marill is said to have left in her room. In the letter, according to reports, she is said to have urged that no one suspect Miss Graham of her death. This letter was one of a number that was taken in charge by the coroner. They were not read at the inquest and the result was not disclosed to the public. The letters are now said to be in the possession of Mr. Miller.

Women Were Friends.

A further and more startling feature of the traged is that Miss Graham, who is only 23 years old and very beautiful, was for years a warm friend of Magill's first wife. Miss Graham had lived all her life in Chinton where her family is wealthy and prominent socially. Magill too, was born and brought up there and there he wedded his first wife who also came from one of the foremost families of the state.

As a child Fay Graham had visited the Magills. She was very fond of Mrs. Magill, but during recent years it is said that the fondness of her husband for pretty Fay Graham had aroused the jealousy of Mrs. Magill and it was the cause of many family tiffs.

Cloud Breaks. Women Were Priends.

Cloud Breaks.

But it was not until the sudden death of Mrs. Magill that the domestic cloud that had been so longs suspended over the Magill home was noted by others. The families of all were so prominent that none had dared to whisper of the scandal which many had noted.

But the death of the wife, the inquest that followed and the letter referring to Miss Graham in the dead woman's handwriting all drew attention to the girl. She was stared at. She was snubbed by some of her closest friends. It became unbearable to her.

She told her father that she was going to Kankakee and from there to Chicago. She left her home a little more than six weeks ago and soon after Magill and his daughter left the city. It is supposed that Magill took his daughter so as to avert any suspicion that the arrest was ordered it is presumed that the exhumation took place and that evidence of wrongdoing was developed.

Magill is 38 years of age and comes from a prominent and wealthy family of Clinton. He is a member of Governor Dineer's staff. He inherited $50,000 by his father's death. Mrs. Magill No. 2, is about the same age as Magill's daughter by his dead wife. The daughter accompanied her father and Miss Graham to Denver, where the marriage took place.

The preparations of the United States will be added to materially by the battleships themselves so far as the west coast is concerned. It is assumed here by officers that every one of the battleships going to the Pacific will have more than sufficient magazine supplies. The opportunity at last is given for the sending to the coast of unlimited supplies but the work that has been done within the past few months, and revealed for the first time in the Examiner, has secured a considerable lot of defensive material already for the coast and the Philippines.

The plan was so well worked out that there was no chance of leaving the coast defenseless for the benefit of the Philippines. The officers here who know the facts say that supplies were gotten to the coast to take the place of those sent to the Philippines, and that the process is a continuing one. The plans for this transfer and re-supply, it is understood, were formulated by the war college at Newport.

The members of the general board, of which Admiral Dewey is the chairman, are now at Newport, so there appears to be a close agreement and harmony between the work by the transports on the coast and the navy de-

A farmer by the name of Wilson, tesiding on Piney, four miles west of Dickson, came to town today bringing with him the stuffed hide of a bull-snake which he killed in his neighborhood recently, and which measures six feet in length.

This is a species of snake rarely found in this section, but a rather remarkable feature is that when one is found it is always a large one. The serpent takes its name from the bellowing sound it emits when angry which is
