Members of Portland Photo-Engraving Union, No. 81, held their annual picnic at Sawies Island yesterday and enjoyed the day hugely. From the time the party left Merrill's boathouse early in the morning until they returned at 6 o'clock all kept up a continuous round of good times including running races and a baseball game between the 'Keely graduate class, 1907,' and the 'White Liners.' All sorts of good things had been prepared in the way of refreshments, including pie and cake like mother used to make.

The promised convention of the baggage agents of the Harriman lines did not materialize today owing to the unavoidable absence of a number of the prominent members of the business. It was found some time ago that several members would not be able to be present in Portland at the appointed time and accordingly the convention was postponed until September 24, when it will be finally held in the same program will be carried out at that time as was planned for the convention which was to have met today.

After several days' search, Hugh Brady, the well-known diver, yesterday recovered the body of J. Balch, the young Austrian who accidentally fell into the river from a scow of the Star Line company in the way of East Thirty-Friday and was accidentally drowned. Coroner Finley was notified and removed the body to the morgue. As there were no witnesses in the manner in which Balch came to his death will remain a mystery. As the death of the young man was accidental no inquest will be held.

John B. Gray pleaded guilty to the charge of obtaining $3.50 from S. West by false pretenses in the circuit court this morning. Judge Sears sentenced Gray to a year in the penitentiary but paroled him on account of his previous good character on his promise to make restitution of the money he had obtained on the forged check. Gray's attorney said that the check had been passed while Gray was suffering from over-indulgence in intoxicants.

Card of Thanks—Peterson & Faucette wish to thank the public for the generous patronage tendered them on the opening of their grocery at East Thirty-fourth street and Hawthorne avenue. Fifteen hundred people attended the opening sale, and Messrs. Peterson and Faucette were agreeably pleased with the reception.

Hugh C. Bellinger, grandson of the late Judge B. Bellinger and son of Oscar H. Bellinger, also deceased, died yesterday afternoon after a short illness. The young man was 22 years old and lived at Woodstock with his mother. Funeral arrangements are awaiting the return of deceased's mother, who is out of the city.

"Morality Under Socialism" was the subject of an address delivered by George Vandergent at a Social meeting in Altekly hall last night. He contended that present-day morals are affected by wealth and capitalistic interests, whereas under socialism a higher plane would be reached by true living.

Juvenile court day at the Oaks, postponed last month on account of rain, will occur next Friday, July 21, when the records of the juvenile court will be entertained at the resort on the river. A portion of the day's receipts will be donated to the Juvenile Improvement association to form the nucleus of an open-air fund.

Rev. E. Wallace Shepherd addressed the young men's meeting of the Y. M. C. A. at Mount Tabor yesterday afternoon. He took for his subject "Inferior Objections to the Bible." The meeting was held on the east slope of Mount Tabor, not far from the end of the car line.

CAN'T ENFORCE SPRAYING LAW

City Council Will Be Asked to Aid State in Having Rules Obeyed.

Because of the inability of the fruit commissioner to satisfactorily enforce the spraying laws in so large a city as Portland the state board of horticulture is preparing a resolution to be introduced in city council putting this work under the city's supervision. It is the plan to have the new arrangement completed before the spraying season commences next winter.

Complaints of different kinds have reached the board from all parts of the city regarding the spraying. Some have sprayed their trees and others near have not, which effectively does away with any benefit the spraying might have done. Another very difficult problem is that of watching the men who do the spraying as sometimes they will use solutions that are ineffective. Property owners complain that the scale is just as bad after spraying has been done.

"All these things can only be regulated by the city," said H. M. Williamson, secretary of the state horticultural board. The problem of compelling the property owners to spray and at the same time watching the sprayers is too much of a task for one man. Another matter mentioned by Mr. Williamson is the difficulty of finding the owners of some of the property. Mr. Williamson said it sometimes took several days to run down the proprietor of a bunch of infected trees. In fact there are a number of smaller irritating problems that continually confront the fruit inspector.

This morning and was allowed until Wednesday to enter a plea. His bail was fixed at $300.

HEARING THE MOUT BROKEN CISTERNS

Pastor of First Presbyterian Church Delivers Strong Sermon.

TEXT IS TAKEN FROM TIMELY BIBLE TEXT

Dying Words of Buddha to His Followers Used to Refute Claim That All Good in Christianity Has Been Anticipated in Buddhism.

"For my people have committed two evils; they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water."—Jeremiah II:13.

This text formed the theme of an exceedingly impressive sermon by the Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, of the First Presbyterian church, last evening.

Coming from the time of Jeremiah down to the present, particular stress was laid upon the fact that today even in this land of liberty, educated, intelligent people are turning to cisterns, represented by the numerous cults, away from the fountain of life, instituted by the Church of Christ, endeavoring to hew, with infinite effort and toil, out of the rocks of speculation and philosophy, "cisterns" in which to store truth, which, when stored, can only become stagnant.

The dying words of Buddha to his followers, "I must leave you as you are now leave you I must impress it upon you that the parts and powers of man must be dissolved—work out your own salvation in diligence." were quoted in refutation of the claim that all that is good in Christianity has been anticipated in Buddhism. Judged by the fruits it produces, it is possible to do all the other forms of faith in which people are seeking to find relief, finding instead sterile death and barrenness, a cistern, in which to store truth, which, when stored, can only become stagnant.

One Forsake Cisterns. There is, however, an alternative. Just as it is possible to forsake the fountain for the cistern, it is equally possible to forsake the cistern and go back to the fountain, not necessarily in repentance, but turning to the living fountain and drinking again in its truth.

Mr. Foulkes begins his vacation this week, and next Sabbath, the Rev. Ira W. Landrith, D. D., of Nashville, Tennessee, will preach morning and evening in this city. He is the great man of the reunited Presbyterian church, being the leader of the Cumberland forces in the reunion which has been accomplished between the Presbyterian church, North, and the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Following him for three Sundays the Rev. William Foulkes, D. D., Kansas City, Kansas, will preach, and following him the Rev. Mr. Charles Gorman Richards, of Sterling, Illinois.

RECORD AUDIENCE

Every Seat Filled and People Stood in Tiers to Hear Dr. Brougher.

To an audience that occupied every seat and stood in tiers all the way to Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher spoke last evening on "Mistaken or an Unfortunate Marriage," taking the case of Abigail and Nabal, of which the Bible tells us was beautiful with a beauty which signified good disposition, a pure heart and a noble character. His text was not the fiery type which displays a silly disposition, a shallow nature and an untrustworthy character. She was sensible. Down beneath all usefulness must rest a good understanding.

"The young woman of today who is going to meet the great problems of life and who is going to do this kind of thing, responsible of all positions in the world, a true wife and mother, must be thoroughly educated. She was industrious; she knew how to handle her household well. The successful wife must be a helpmeet, not merely a help-to-eat meat. She was virtuous, she was religious, but money has no power of itself to bring happiness to a home. He was ill-tempered, he was untruthful, he was untrustworthy. But what did Abigail do? She did not become faithless to her husband and enter upon a life of flirtation with other men; she was content only end in the loss of reputation for the woman and her ultimate disgrace and ruin. She did not seek a divorce.

"I am not divorcing on proper grounds. I do not believe God Almighty ever intended that a sweet, pure, true, noble woman should live a life of misery as the wife of some faithless drunken scoundrel who is untrue to her and to his marriage vows. Nevertheless, she was a woman of God and God delivered her through the death of her worthless husband. Whatever comes between husband and wife there is but one thing to do—be true to your conscience; be true to God and in due time some way, somehow you may realize all that God has in store for you."

"RIGHTS OF PARENTS"

Rev. Corby Delivered Effective Sermon on This Problem of Today.

Rev. James D. Corby, pastor of the Universalist church, delivered an effective sermon this morning on the Rights of Parents. The speaker contended that the whole problem of human existence circled about the home, that the home created that the family was the unit of existence. This was the young people's age, the pastor said, where the man of the past and the woman of the past were sought in all the walks of life.

This spirit of the present age was obscuring the old world ideas of love and honor to be rendered parents by their young. Yet the most beautiful thing in history was the reverence paid by the children in olden times to their elders.

The pastor contended that the admonition for children to honor their parents and the promise of preferment to those who did held good in these days as it did in times now past. He pleaded for the care and kindness which ought to be shown by the young to the old and argued that this spirit, if national, would be a bulwark of strength to the continued progress and prosperity of the nation.

CLAIRVOYANTS PLAYED

Rev. True Wilson Demands That All Fakers Be Prosecuted.

Rev. Clarence True Wilson, at Grace Methodist church last night, took occasion to denounce the practice of clairvoyants, palmists and kindred fakers who at the present time infest the city, and incidentally chided those who are wont to patronize them. The speaker took for his text II Timothy, III:16, and the subject of the timely sermon was "Fool Catchers and the Parasites that Prey on the Life of Portland." He said in part:

"It is not my purpose to attempt to explain the known phenomena of thought transference, of mind reading, nor the

JEWELRY ALTERATION SALE OF HIGH GRADE JEWELRY, Etc.

Since opening our doors in this city a couple of years ago, our business has steadily increased, each month showing a gratifying increase of sales over the previous month. It is now necessary for us to enlarge our store and add new fixtures. When a store is upset and the ears are greeted with the noise of hammers, most people pass on to more agreeable surroundings. We realize this, and to make it an object for you to call, we have made some remarkable reductions in price, as you will realize by scanning the figures quoted below. We just finished a sale of diamonds, which was successful beyond our fondest expectations, but we gave the values and kept faith with the public, who are not slow to discover the genuine from the bogus. All precious stones in settings will be included in the present sale. The sale that we now inaugurate has never been duplicated in this city and a visit to our store will convince you of the sincerity of this statement.

CONGO ATROCITIES. Rev. Herbert Johnson Told of the Slaughter of Innocent People. Rev. Robert S. Johnson spoke yesterday morning at the White Temple on the atrocities committed in the Congo Free State by King Leopold of Belgium. The slaughter of innocent people whose death excites no comment, the ghastly piles and strings of dried hands cut from men, women and children because some village had come short in its rubber supply, cannibalism and merciless scourging—Dr. Johnson told of demanding that his employers work for a wage smaller than they can live upon in a self-respecting way.

It is the duty of such employers to perform a simple sum in arithmetic. Let them add board and lodging to the cost of clothing and then an amount above that for incidental expenses. They will get better service and their conscience will be clear. It is putting it mildly to say that an employer is a dishonest man when he pays less than enough for his help to support themselves upon with self-respect. If he pays less than this he takes what belongs to the employe as much as if the money was embezzled from the bank. Such an employer is far worse than the embezzler. However, for he places the girls in such a condition of helplessness that an accomplice may steal that which is of more value to them than their lives."

the self-confessed instigator of the blackest crimes in the history of the world—a man who stops at nothing to get his own coffers and to secure immunity from outside investigation. The United States has now expressed to England a desire to be allied in whatever executive action may be taken to put a stop to these outrages. Mr. Johnson states that he believes that it can be accomplished bloodlessly.
