

LADY WOLSELEY SORRY FREE TIMBER HUSBAND IS ENGLISH AND PASTURE

Wittiest Woman in King Edward's Realm Declares That American Women Are Best and That Her Countrywomen Are Not Allowed an Idea.

Lady Wolseley.

(Journal Special Service.)
London, July 19.—A decided sensation was furnished for London society when England's wittiest woman, Lady Wolseley, formerly Miss Beatrice Knollys, authorized an interview in which she declares that the American woman is far superior to her British sister and that her only regret is that her husband is not from the United States. Lady Wolseley has furnished numerous sensations for the smart set, but this last offense bids fair to cause an open rupture in the "inner circles." In an interview, Lady Wolseley says: "A woman with an original idea in England is looked upon as queer; with two original ideas she is thought to be crazy, and—well, I am a freak. "That's why American women are so charming; they are so independent in thought and action. I say, why shouldn't women be? We are brought up here to

Cholera Morbus and Bowel Complaints

"Over 95 cases in every hundred of summer complaints could be avoided," says a leading specialist, "if every one was careful to keep his system toned up with Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It's the most effective germ destroyer known to the medical profession."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is distilled wholly from malted grain, and its softness, palatability and freedom from injurious substances make it acceptable to the most sensitive stomach. It is recognized everywhere as the unailing specific for the cure of consumption, nervousness, typhoid, malaria, every form of stomach trouble, all diseases of the throat and lungs, and all run down and weakened conditions of the brain and body. It restores youthful vigor to the old and maintains the health and strength of the young. It nourishes and feeds the vital forces of life. It is a form of food already digested. It is prescribed by doctors of all schools, is used in all the leading hospitals of the world, and is recognized as a family medicine everywhere. It is absolutely pure.

Explanation of System That Benefits Settlers Near Forest Reserves.

GRANTED TO VALUE OF TWENTY DOLLARS

For Public or Semi-Public Purposes, Up to a Hundred Dollars, or More—Free Pasture Up to Ten Animals—Care of Slashings.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)
Washington, July 19.—One phase of national forest administration not commonly known is indicated by the announcement that during the fiscal year just closed the number of people granted free use of timber from the national forests increased very largely. In the fiscal year, 1906, free use permits were granted to 18,000 persons. Exact figures for the last year are not yet obtainable, but enough is known to make it safe to say that they will show a decidedly larger total.

Just why and how free use permits are granted is a matter which comparatively few people who do not live near a national forest understand. In this, as in its grazing regulations, the policy of the government is aimed at helping the settlement of the country. The man who wants to make money by cutting and selling to others timber from national forests pays for it at the market price. But the rancher who is trying to make a home on a national forest and has no timber of his own, or the small community which undertakes to build a church or a school or a road and needs material for the purpose, is allowed by the local forest officer to take a reasonable amount free, wherever this can be done without harm to the forest. There is no red tape or delay involved, for the forest officers on the ground are given full power in this matter.

Twenty Dollars per Applicant.
The value of the wood given away during the year was about five dollars per applicant. Under the regulations no one may receive more than 200 worth of free wood in one year. The timber must be used by those who cut it. It usually goes for fencing, house-logs, posts, poles, well-logs and similar purposes.

Where dead timber is at hand, free use applicants are permitted to take it and let the green trees to grow. Settlers frequently prefer dead timber which has not begun to decay, since it is dry and light.

The Hundred-Dollar Limit.
Timber for roads, schools, and churches may be had free up to the value of $100. This means a good deal of timber on the stump, in case of necessity—as the rebuilding of a burnt church, for example—larger amounts may be granted. In regions where wood is plentiful settlers usually have enough of their own and they ask little from the public domain. But where the ranches are treeless often the only place where the people can obtain wood is the national forest. By removing the dead or overmature trees they likely actually benefit the forest as well as themselves. Settlers whose land is within or adjoining national forests are allowed free pasture as well as free timber, but not for more than ten head of domestic animals used about the farm. For these no permit is required. The horses and cows are grazed where they please. It is worth noting that abuse of the privilege is rare.

The More Settlers the Better.
The man who obtains a home on the edge of a national forest is often forced, for the free use of timber and pasture is a valuable consideration. It is also an advantage to the forests to have settlers in and about them. The forests are for use, and need men, to use them. They also need protection, and often labor. Sometimes fires must be fought, and the only way for the settlers' and government's interest that fires be kept out. Again, roads have to be built, and other improvements made. The more settlers the better the forests can be handled, if the settlers are friendly and willing to cooperate with the forest officers as well as the common good, which is what the forests exist to promote.

SERMON OF A SINNER BRINGS EXPOSURE

(Journal Special Service.)
Lincoln, Neb., July 19.—Rev. W. P. Ferguson, pastor of the First Methodist church of University place, was suspended from the church after a two days' hearing on charges of misconduct with Mrs. Cross, a member of his congregation, at whose house he boarded. After hearing Ferguson deliver a powerful sermon on virtue, Mrs. Cross confessed to misconduct with the minister at various places, including his study and hotel. Had it not been for the effective sermon she would have remained silent.

ILL FROM OVERWORK

NERVOUS PROSTRATION CURED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

By Toning Up the Blood and Nerves Patient Recovered Weight, Strength and Good Spirits.

When the nervous system is broken down from overwork, or whatever cause, life loses its joys. Not only is the nervous victim a sufferer himself, but he is usually a trial to the whole family. Nervous breakdown is often gradual, appearing at first to be merely an unusual fretfulness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tone up the nerves in the most direct way and not only cure minor troubles but serious disorders as well.

Mr. W. W. Munroe of 16 Hazel Park, Everett, Mass., says: "About four years ago this September I became all run down from overwork and from confinement to work during warm weather. For two months I grew steadily worse. I lost my weight and strength and had no appetite. My memory failed me quite rapidly and I became in a very low state, both physically and mentally. I took no interest in life, neither in business nor recreation. In my position as foreman in a large manufacturing chemist's establishment in Boston a good memory is absolutely essential to success because of the immense amount of detail that must be carried in the head.

I grew very despairing, could not bear to have people meet me and my friends remarked on my condition. About the middle of December a friend told me one day that he had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and found them reliable. I commenced taking them and at the end of two weeks the change for the better was remarked by friends. I continued using the pills until I was thoroughly recovered. I regard them as a fine remedy and make this statement voluntarily as it is absolutely essential to success because of the immense amount of detail that must be carried in the head.

These pills actually make new blood and have cured such diseases as rheumatism, nervous general debility, indigestion, nervous headache, neuralgia and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. As a tonic for the blood and nerves they are unequalled.

If you are a sufferer from any disorder of the blood and nerves write for proof of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have accomplished in cases similar to yours. Every testimonial used by this company is carefully investigated before being published and is authentic. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

home of Mrs. Cross, testified that the clerkman was indiscreet even in the presence of the boarders. Miss Josephine Brown, general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, another boarder, said she had been driven to withdraw from Ferguson's church because of the minister's misconduct. Ferguson is a widower, 50 years of age.
