SOME GET WORD OF LOSS OF LOVED ONES

Among the Passengers of the Sunken Columbia Were a Number of Teachers Returning From the National Convention at Los Angeles.

broods over Portland while anxious friends and grieving, relatives wait hopefully for the uncertain return of loved ones who went down into the deep with the ill-fated Columbia.

The sharp, sudden anguish and shock of those who wait. In some homes remring telegrams have brought sunne, but even here the rejoicing over ersonal happiness is shadowed and tempered with sorrowing for those not so

Throughout the city mingled with these who hope are those who have ceased to hope and who are now waiting sadly for the return to them of the pitiable forms bereft of life when the pitiable forms bereft of life when the San Pedro sent the Columbia to her last long anchorage. Among these perhaps the best known is William Souls, marine reporter on the Oregonian, who has practically abandoned hope of ever seeing his bride of little more than a year return to him. No word has been received by Mr. Souls which gives him any chance to hope. Mrs. Souls was not among those reported as arriving at Eureka and the only chance for her life is that she was in one of the boats not yet reported.

Young Bride Well Enown.

Mrs. Souls was a well-known young woman of Portland. She was the daughter of Sarah C. Vanhors of Washington county and a niece of Dr. C. W. Cornelius was attending the national convention of the Eliks, but is hastening home. Mr. and Mrs. Souls were married but a little more than a year ago, and Mrs. Souls had started home from San Francisco after a short visit with friends in that city.

after a short visit with friends in that city.

G. W. Weatherly, 412 East Yambill street, is mourning the loss of his niece, Mrs. H. T. Winters and her children, Roland, aged 2½ years, and Virginia, aged six months. Mrs. Winters is well known in Portland, being the wife of Harry T. Winters, former foreman of The Journal, but now holding a position with the San Francisco Chronicle. Mrs. Winters and her little children were on their way to visit in Portland for a time when the accident happened to the Columbia. All three are reported to have been drowned.

Max Claus, chief engineer of the Columbia, is among the missing. Mr. Claus was the brother of Louis Claus of the Gambrinus brewery and had been Claus was the brother of Louis Claus of the Gambrinus brewery and had been a resident of Portland for the past 15 years. He was employed on the Columbia at the time she was damaged in the San Francisco earthquake and went back only a short time ago. He was making his first run since returning to the vessel at the time she went down. Mrs. Claus is in Portland and is distracted at the loss of her husband.

Mrs. Cannon Loses Life. Mrs. R. B. Cannon, mother of R. D. Cannon, city editor of the Telegram, lost her life in the wreck of the Columbia. Louis O. Cannon, a brother, and Stella Cannon, a sister, were saved. A telegram was sent to Mr. Cannon last night from L. O. Cannon at Eureka, stating that Mrs. Cannon had been drowned, but that he and his sister had been saved. Miss Cannon is suffering

No Word From Engineer.

M. C. Burpee, assistant engineer of the Columbia, who undoubtedly went down with the ill-starred craft, had been a resident of Portland for the past 15 years and for 10 years had been employed in the engine-room of the Columbia. He was in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake and was on the Columbia when she went on her beam's end in the San Francisco harbor.

Mr. Burpee leaves a wife and three-months-old babe. Mrs. Burpee clings to the hope that her husband may yet come ashore in one of the boats unaccounted for. Burpee was thrifty and thoughtful and leaves his wife and child fairly well provided for. He was 40 years old and was a native of New Brunswick.

Crushed by the Shock.

Mrs. W. F. Whitney, wife of the missing first officer of the Columbia. is reported to be in a serious condition as a result of the extreme angulsh and nervous tension that she has undergone of the first sad news has passed leaving for the past two days. It was necessary to have a physician with her last the deadened pain and silent suffering night, when she was removed from her residence in the city to the suburban

Other persons who lost their lives in the wreck, but who were not residents of Portland, are being sorrowed for by friends in the city. Mrs. George E. Keller and three daughters, Miss Alma, Effie and Grace, were three Portland-bound passengers from Decatur, Illinois. Mr. Keller is one of the best-known stockmen in Illinois, being secretary of the Decatur Racing association.

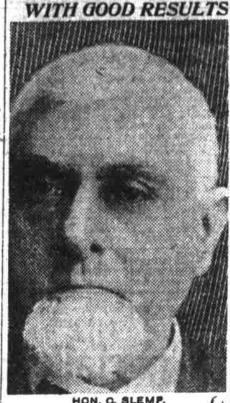

W. H. Truesdale, of Littlefield, California, was well-known in Portland musical circles and was bound for Portland at the time of the wreck.

HON. C. SLEMP.

Hon. C. Slemp, Congressman from Virginia, writes: "I can cheerfully say that I have used your valuable remedy, Peruna, with beneficial results, and can unhesitatingly recommend your remedy to my friends as an invigorating tonio and an effective and permanent cure for catarrh."

Splendid Appetite

Mr. J. C. Huffman, Rea, Mo., writes:
"It is now about a year since I wrote Dr. Hartman for advice. I followed his advice and began using Peruna, without much faith at first. By the time I had used one bottle I began to improve. I have no symptoms of catarrh whatever flow, and feel better than I have for five years. I have a splendid appetite. I give Peruna all praise, and believe I am cured. Peruna is all you claim for it, and I can truthfully recommend it."

"Completely Cured"

Mr. Charles Sauerbier, 815 Main St., St. Joseph, Mich., writes: "A few years ago I suffered with a severe cold which settled on my stomach, causing a loss of appetite and sleep. Peruna was called to my attention. It brought me relief, and within three weeks I was completely cured. I have used it off and on in my family since, and am satisfied that it is a reliable medicine."

Coming On a Wisit.

Miss Ruby Cooper and Miss Nena Cooper, friends and schoolmates of Daniel Perkins of St. Johns, were on their way to St. Johns for a short visit. The young ladies were coming from their home in Fayette, Minnesota, by way of California.

Miss Katrina Hayden of Colorado Springs, was bound for Portland after having attended the National teachers' convention. Miss Hayden was well-known in Colorado Springs as an educator. Her former home was Cripple Creek, where her parents now reside.

Miss Asary Parsons of Denver, was another teacher to lose her life in the wreck. She had been attending the Los Angeles convention and was on her way for a short visit with Portland friends when the wreck occurred.

Lowly Lineman Vanquishes Archie Roosevelt's Bulldog Pete, Which Had Chewed Ambassadors.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Washington, July 24.—Pete, Archie Roosevelt's pet buildog, has been ban ished for keeps. The president com muted the death sentence, at the request of Archie, to exile for life, and Pete, who moved fast in diplomatic and other official society in Washington, never again will rule supreme at the White Strangely enough, Pete got along fairly well until he commenced to chew up common folks. As long as he confined his attentions to high society and was satisfied to chase members of the president's lawn tennis cabinet, and take a bite or two out of a foreign ambassador, he got along all right. Yesterday, however, a lineman from the telegraph company had occasion to enter the yard where Pete was confined, during the absence of the president and his family. Pete fondly embraced the lineman with teeth.
