Prominent Eastern Oregon
Journal Praises Contest of This Newspaper.

BOYS AND GIRLS URGED TO "GET BUSY"

Portland Contestant Absent From City for Two Weeks Back in Harness Again Doing Splendid Work
—What Others Accomplish.

The Baker City Herald, one of the most influential papers of eastern Oregon, calls attention to the fact that the "Oregon Journal has a contest of interest to all young people of the state."

The Herald says:
"The Oregon Journal at Portland has started a contest, and with its usual enterprise and generosity that paper has placed within reach of many men and women an opportunity to get a scholarship in the best schools without the expenditure of money. All that is necessary for the young person to do is a little hustling for a newspaper which can conscientiously be talked for."

"The Baker City Business college is among the list of the schools which The Journal has made arrangements with to furnish free scholarships and if a young man or young woman of this city wants to enter the contest they stand an excellent chance of getting the $100 scholarship in Baker City's business college."

At Work Again.
J. A. Guy, 491 East Twenty-eighth street, has returned from British Columbia and will resume the gathering of contest votes. He has been away from Portland for two weeks and his name has gone down the contest scale during that time. In two days since his return Mr. Guy has secured subscriptions amounting to over 2,500 votes and this indicates that he is in earnest in his declaration that he will win the scholarship in Albany college.

Fatherly Interest Justified.
Who better than the father is qualified to speak the praises of the child?
Long has it been said and many are the examples to prove that the value of which the parent places upon the child is the valuation which the world bestows.

It is natural for all of us to try to live up to what is expected of us.
Cyrus H. Walker, generally regarded as one of the most public spirited of the pioneers, writes The Oregon Journal in which he tenderly expresses fatherly interest in his little son Glenn, who is competing for one of The Journal's scholarships.

"Albany, Or., July 24.—Contest Manager, The Oregon Journal—Dear Sir: I heartily thank you for the very favorable endorsements you have given my miserable boy, Glenn E., through your very valuable paper, The Oregon Journal, in the contest for a scholarship.
"He deserves all the praise that has been given him. In spite of his infirmities he is cheerful and happy, always singing or whistling when going about his work.
"He has a wonderful memory. When he hears a comic selection played upon the phonograph he can render it almost word for word. He composes other comic pieces and is often in demand upon Grand programs for readings.
"I hope many others will emulate the example of Edgar H. Cooper of Banks, as given in last Saturday's Journal, and will send in 'bunches of votes' in Glenn's favor."
"CYRUS H. WALKER."

Oregon Law College.
One of the most valuable scholarships in The Journal's awards to contestants is the two years' tuition in the Oregon Law college of a value of $150. Several young men and one young lady engaged in vote-gathering are looking with favor upon this scholarship.

The school is located in the Commonwealth building, Portland. It gives instruction also in Salem and at the capital city it had its beginning.
Dean S. T. Richardson has spent the greater portion of the best years of his life in instructing and preparing students for the practice of law. Several for a great many years dean and instructor of the law department of the Willamette university, and his success as an instructor is evinced by the fact that many of his pupils have won distinction at the bench and bar.

An Independent Institution.
The rapid growth of the institution demanded that one of its permanent homes should be at the great metropolis of the northwest, Portland. It is proposed, by well directed efforts in the interest of its students, to make the Oregon Law school the most popular on the Pacific coast. Some confusion has arisen in the past by confounding the name of the Oregon Law school with the school forming a department of the state university. As previously stated, the Oregon Law school is an independent institution, having no connection with any other.

Able instructors are assigned to the different branches of the work, prominent among whom is Grant B. Dimick, county judge of Clackamas county, who is also one of the principal officers of the corporation.

New Term October 1.
Persons desiring information or wishing to register for the term commencing October 1st, 1907, should address S. T.
Richardson, dean, 303-304 Commonwealth building, Portland, Oregon, or call on or write Mr. Morehead, business manager of the Oregon Law college, at the above address.

This institution has been established with a view to bringing practical law education within the reach of all who are willing to make a reasonable effort to obtain it. The school is training students for the practical affairs of life.
The courses of study have been arranged with reference to the need of the students. It is the intention to accomplish in a given time the greatest amount of work consistent with thoroughness of instruction.

Superior Facilities Recognized.
The superior facilities of a school of law for imparting instruction in the science and practice of the law are now generally recognized. Formerly students were obliged to pursue a course of reading in the office of some practitioner. Too often these efforts were unaided and without intelligent direction. The student wandered through a labyrinth of learning, only to emerge with vague and much confused ideas of it all.

There is little dispute now as to the relative merits of education by means of law school and that to be got by mere practical training or apprenticeship as an attorney's clerk. The verdict of the best-informed is in favor of the schools.

Points of advantage.
The benefits which they offer are easily suggested. They afford the student an acquaintance with general principles, difficult if not impossible to obtain elsewhere.

YOUR LIVER
Is out of order. You go to bed in a bad humor and get up with a bad taste in your mouth. You want something to stimulate your liver. Just try Her-bine, the liver regulator. A positive cure for constipation, dyspepsia and all liver complaints. Mrs. P. W. Fort Worth, Texas, writes:
"Have used Herbine in my family for years. Words cannot describe the relief it has brought me. Everybody in my household are happy and well, and we owe it to Herbine." Sold by all druggists.

TAILORS' CUTTER SAID HE WAS CREATED PROPHET BY SPIRITS

"He said the spirits had made him a prophet, that terrible things had happened that night in Russia, and the spirits had told him to prophesy it here. He said the papers would announce the Russian horrors in an extra edition at 10 o'clock, and sent a boy to buy him an extra, but no extras were issued."
Marie Zeitfuchs made this statement while testifying before Judge Reid yesterday at the trial of a suit brought against her by Michel Pekar.
Mrs. Zeitfuchs was talking about Pekar, telling why she had discharged him from his position as a cutter and fitter of ladies' garments.
"Pekar neglected his work," continued Mrs. Zeitfuchs. "While fitting a garment on a customer he would stop suddenly, look up into the air and listen.
If anyone spoke to him he would tell them to be still, that he had to hear what the spirits said."

be otherwise obtained; they serve to remove difficulties which are inherent in scientific and technical phraseology, and they, as a necessary consequence, furnish the student with the means for clear conception and accurate and precise expression. They familiarize him with leading cases and the application of them to discussion. They give him the valuable habit of attention, teach him to look up into the air and listen as a science, and imbue him with the principles of ethics as its true foundation. Disputing, reasoning, reading and discussing become his constant exercise; he improves remarkably as he becomes acquainted with them, and obtains progress otherwise beyond his reach.
