

CHICAGO BANKS ARE IN TRUST

Independents Declare Combine Has Kept Rate Below Four Per Cent.

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, July 25.—The recent establishment of a savings bank in Chicago which proposes to pay depositors 4 per cent interest on savings accounts, coupled with the fact that all big banking institutions in New York and several in the west are paying the same rate of interest, has revived the prediction that Chicago banks, which hold most of the $150,000,000 of savings accounts here must soon restore the 4 per cent rate.

FAITHFUL ASTORIA ELK IS HONORED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Astoria, Or., July 25.—Astoria lodge, No. 180, B. P. O. E., has presented a life membership card to J. C. Clinton, who has been secretary of the lodge for a number of years. Mr. Clinton during the time he has held the office donated his salary to the building fund. The card was enclosed in a solid silver pocket case appropriately and handsomely engraved. Past Exalted Ruler G. C. Fulton made the presentation address.

PRINTER CHARGED AS CHECK FORGER

Prineville, Or., July 25.—A. Thomas, a printer who has been employed on the Crook County Journal staff here and is charged with having passed five or six worthless checks amounting to about $75 on merchants of this place, has disappeared. The sheriff and a number of deputies are looking for him, but as yet have no clue as to his whereabouts.

LONDON MOTORS COST FORTUNE OF THE DISASTER

Omnibuses Have Been a Dis- mal Failure in Largest City in World.

(Journal Special Service.) London, July 25.—Single deck motor omnibuses, built on the lines of American open streetcars, will make their appearance on the streets of London shortly as an experiment. These will be the first public vehicles with cross seats and side footboards used here. They will carry 20 passengers, whereas double deck motor omnibuses now in operation carry 34. The latter have proved too cumbersome, causing serious vibration, making much noise, emitting noxious fumes and tending to run to pieces after a few months' hard service. Already three companies running double-deckers have gone into voluntary liquidation and some predict that unless a vehicle infinitely more satisfactory and longer wearing can be made the motor bus will disappear from the streets entirely.

JUNK DEALER WILKIN KILLED IN RUNAWAY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Chehalis, Wash., July 25.—Nathan Wilkin, a junk dealer whose place of business is at 1205 Main street, Seattle, was killed near Meakill, Washington, late yesterday afternoon by his horse running away with him down a hill. Wilkin's family live at 2620 South Reese street, Philadelphia. Coroner Harden and Sheriff Degler investigated the accident and brought the body to Chehalis last night. The family have been notified.

WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE WITH RATPIN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Centralia, Wash., July 25.—An unknown woman entered a Centralia restaurant at an early hour this morning and ordered breakfast, but while the meal was being prepared she drew a rat pin from her hat and stabbed herself a dozen times in the breast and abdomen. Aid was summoned at once and she was carried away in an unconscious condition. Her name cannot be learned. There is very little hope of her recovery.

Mrs. William Souls Confided Fears to Traveling Com- panion on Columbia.

Eager to view the storied beauties of the Pacific slope, pretty Florence Thompson, a teacher of a kindergarten class in the school department of Youngstown, Ohio, accompanied at the corner of Main avenue and Fairgreen street in that city, determined to take advantage of the special rates offered to the National Educational association convention in Los Angeles. Miss Thompson is one of the few survivors of the Columbia disaster who escaped from the sinking steamer, fully clad, even to a new spring hat.

That Mrs. William Souls, wife of William Souls, marine reporter of the Oregonian, apparently had a premonition of impending disaster is the opinion of the young school teacher.

"As we were both traveling alone, Mrs. Souls and myself struck up an acquaintance and were together Saturday afternoon and evening. She appeared to be very nervous and seemed to fear something would happen, because her husband was not with her. Her friends in Seattle wanted her to remain over until Wednesday, the sailing date of the next steamer, but she wanted to return to Portland at once and would not listen to their suggestion.

Miss Thompson arrived in this city at noon yesterday by train from Astoria in the company of her traveling companion, Constable Lou Wagner, 294 North Twentieth street, whose hospitality she accepted during the night. She remained over until Wednesday, the sailing date of the next steamer, but she wanted to return to Portland at once and would not listen to their suggestion. Miss Thompson arrived in this city at noon yesterday by train from Astoria in the company of her traveling companion, Constable Lou Wagner, 294 North Twentieth street, whose hospitality she accepted during the night. DARROW HITS BACK

(Continued from Page One.) was all in. And don't forget that he also is not under indictment, although God knows he ought to be." Explains About Jack Simpkins. Clarence Darrow continuing his fight for Haywood's life today took occasion to carry the war against the people. Hawley had demanded why he didn't call Adams and Pettibone and Darrow explained. And it was a good legal argument, too.

Then he took up the failure of the state to call the witnesses it had promised to call in the case of the people up to Borah who will follow him inasmuch as there has been great speculation regarding the failure to put Neville, Sterling and McFarland on the stand. Outside this statement the feature of Darrow's address today was his defense of the federators for continuing Jack Simpkins on its executive board. He declared Simpkins' flight didn't argue his guilt.

Reasons for Keeping Member. "I don't know if Simpkins knew of the killing of Steunenberg," he said. "I know he had cause to hate the governor and he was a man who was in the neighborhood. But he wasn't there at the time the actual tragedy was committed, and I prefer to believe him innocent." "But if we had him on the board, do you know what the state's lawyers would have argued? It would have been guilty. And we do not. When Simpkins has his day in court, when he is convicted of this dastardly crime, if he can be then and not until the Simpkins will be dismissed from his position."

The balance of Darrow's argument was chiefly devoted to an analysis of the evidence relative to the Bradley explosion in San Francisco which he claimed showed it to be an absolute liar. The theme of his entire speech today was chiefly exhortation of Orchard and Hawley and praise for Haywood and the federators.

Darrow Makes Good Argument. Darrow showed the strain he has been laboring under during the past twenty-four hours when he resumed his final appeal to the jury. His face was drawn and his voice husky, but this quickly wore off and he was soon talking with his accustomed vigor. He plunged at once into Colorado troubles. In scathing terms he placed the entire responsibility at the door of the mine owners.

Explaining why Jack Simpkins was not here, Darrow said the best reason he could give was that he was afraid to be here. The fact that he was away, however, Darrow declared, by no means proves him guilty. The federators kept Simpkins on the board, he declared, because he was not yet proved guilty.

We Are Leaders

WHY? BECAUSE:

1. We made the first grand player piano in the world with 58, 65 and 88 notes. It is known as the APOLLO grand player piano.
2. The APOLLO grand player piano was the first grand player in the world to be played in public concert. The event took place at the palm garden of the St. Charles Hotel in New Orleans, on December 19, 1906.
3. We are the first piano manufacturers in the world to sell a grand player piano in the market and be paid for the same in current money.
4. We are the first manufacturers in the world to ship a grand player piano to a buyer in a foreign country; therefore, the first in the world to make the grand player piano a commercial success.
5. We are the only piano manufacturers in the world to make a grand player piano with a range of 88 notes or the entire piano keyboard; and, consequently, the standard player.
6. We were the first piano manufacturers to invite the representatives of the trade press to inspect our new grand player piano, which was placed on exhibition at our warerooms in the third week of July, 1906.

These facts make us the leaders in the player piano field. All others must follow.
