The first crowd of laborers to be taken south will number about 150 men and they are expected to start soon. The barge will leave Portland in time to cross out over the Columbia river bar in the morning and reach Tillamook before night. This will make the voyage one of almost perfect safety, although there would be little danger in traveling at night, since the Wallacot is considered as staunch as any of the ordinary craft engaged in the coastwise trade. This is considered the best method of getting quickly into the country.

The laborers will be mostly Italians who have been engaged to work on the road being built into Tillamook by the Pacific Railway & Navigation company. No stop will be made at Astoria, but everything, including the men's outfits, such as blankets, etc., will be taken on board here. The Wallacot is now receiving freight for the road at one of the docks on the east side of the river.

(Journal Special Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 26 .- Secretary of the Treasury George B. Cortelyou, whom many astute politicians look upon as an active candidate for the Re-publican presidential nomination in 1908, was 45 years old today. Secretary Cortelyou is spending the summer at his home on Long Island, but he runs over to Washington at intervals to look after affairs in the treasury department and to keep in close touch with the political situation.

Railroad laborers will be hauled in farge numbers from this city to Tillamook on the barge Wallacot, in tow of the tug Daniel Kern, and it will probably be the first time in the history of the Pacific northwest that this mode of transportation has been employed, since the barges can hardly be classed as sailing vessels, although equipped with enough spars and canvas to keep upder headway should they part from their tug.

The first crowd of laborers to be House as assistant secretary to President McKinley. This was the beginning of a series of rapid promotions. Private secretary first to President Mc Private secretary first to President McKinley and then to President Roosevelt, secretary of the department of commerce and labor, postmaster general of the United States and secretary of the treasury all came in rapid succession. In 1904 he was chosen to manage the Republican national campaign, in other words to fill the shoes that had been worn in days gone by by such con-summate political leaders as Zach Chandler, Matthew S. Quay and Marcus A. Hanna. And now, at 45 years of age, his name is mentioned in connection with the presidency of the United States.

Secretary Cortelyou himself is believed to have the presidential bee in his bonnet and possibly thinks he may stand a show as a "partially administration and partially conservative" candidate if anything happens to sidetrack the Taft movement and the president sticks to his determination not to run again.

again. Cortelyou is acknowledged to be a Cortelyou is acknowledged to be a consummate political manager. There is not a diplomat in Washington more adroit. He is a great organizer. He works so easily and quietly that he never seems to be busy. But he does a tremendous lot of work for all that. He has the distinction of never having been a business man, but of being remarkably well equipped to handle business questions. The captains of industry believe in Cortelyou. Such men as Morgan and Bliss think very highly of him. It is recalled that in 1904 Mr. Bliss consented to serve as tressurer of the national committee only when told Bliss consented to serve as treasurer of the national committee only when told that Mr. Cortelyou would be chairman.

Mr. Cortelyou may be a long way from entering the White House, but that he himself thinks he has a chance to win is undisputed. He thinks so well of his chances, in fact, that he has refused several brilliant business openings so as to remain in politics and keen "in" so as to remain in politics and keep "in line."

FORTY-FIVE Live All Your Years A Perfect Man

The human body is most wonderfully and perfectly constructed. Each part is built equal to its task. Unless overburdened or attacked by disease, no organ falters. Nature intended that every man should live all his years a perfect man. Few men do. Most men can.

All men make mistakes. Some make mistakes in youth. Others make mistakes after they have grown to be men. Still others are merely unfortunate. Practically all diseases and disorders are the result of mistakes or misfortune.

The problem of living a perfect man is simple. Undo the injury that mistakes or misfortune have wrought. Then avoid both—live as nature built you to live.

Undoing the Injury

I do not know how many thousands of men I have treated. I have been a specialist in men's diseases for seventeen years. During most of these years my practice has been the largest of its kind upon the Pacific coast. During the several years just past it has been fully double that of any other specialist in the west treating men's diseases. I have met with but few incurable cases. I have failed to cure in still fewer cases. In recent years I have failed in none. This is because I attempt to cure only those cases that I feel confident I can cure, and as my experience has grown I have become able to determine curable and incurable cases with certainty. It is also because my skill in curing has grown and my methods of treatment have been perfected.

The following mention of ailments that come through mistakes and misfortune is necessarily brief. I will gladly explain them further and tell of my original, scientific and certain methods of treating them to all who will call or write.

I Am Always Willing to Wait for My Fee Until a Cure is Effected

Weakness

No matter in what form those functional derangements commonly termed "weakness" may appear, the causative conditions are, in fully 95 per cent of the cases, very similar. I have given the closest possible study to this remarkable prevalent aliment, and find that in practically every case of prematureness, etc., there exists at some vital point of the pelvic system a state of chronic tenderness, inflammation or congestion. My first step is a thorough examination to ascertain the exact location and nature of the disorder, after which, by a system of carefully directed local treatment, I restore the affected part to its normal condition, which promptly results in full and complete return of power. In perhaps less than 5 per cent of the cases do I find general impoverishment, lack of nervous energy or any other condition or complication requiring constitutional treatment. Therefore, I may safely assert that not more than one case in fifty can be permanently benefited by the use of tonics, stimulants, electrical or mechanical appliances, and that fully forty-nine cases in 50 will be aggravated by such methods of treatment.

My cures are positive, complete, thorough and permanent, because by my method the real and only cause of the functional weakness is totally removed. The knowledge gained by close study and observation in thousands of cases enables me to recognize the exact requirements and treat accordingly, and in years I have not failed in a single instance to accomplish the desired results.

Varicocele

Varicocele affects the veins of the spermatic cord. An average of one man in four suffers from this affliction. The muscular walls of the veins weaken and relax, the valves cease to perform their functions and local stagnation of the blood ensues. The first evidence of varicocele is usually a thickening, dilating, knotting and twisting of the veins on one or both sides, most frequently upon the left side, often accompanied by pains in the back, legs, thighs or chest, and a sense of dragging in the groin. Owing to the impaired circulation, a wasting away of the organs, accompanied by partial or complete loss of power, almost without exception follows in severe cases where treatment is Varicocele affects the veins of the spermatic cord.

neglected, and even slightly developed cases cannot fail to have a damaging influence upon the organs involved as well as upon the general health. Eafety is a disease that increases in severity the longer it is in all instances demands a prompt cure, for varicoccie neglected. neglected.

I cure varicocele without pain and without de-taining the patient from business. I have cured over two thousand cases without a single failure or un-pleasant result. My treatment is original and has two thousand cases without a single failure or un-pleasant result. My treatment is original and has been developed through seventeen years of practical experience. It restores the lost tone and elasticity to the weakened and dilated blood vessels, which re-sults in normal circulation and reestablishes the natural processes of waste and repair throughout the vital system.

My special practice also includes Mydrocele, Stricture, Contracted Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, Nervous Debility and all Reflex Ailments.

Consultation Free

To men whose years are being lived in physical imperfection as a result of mistakes or misfortune, whose lives are less than full and perfect lives and who yearn to be the men that nature meant them to be, I extend an earnest and sympathetic offer of consultation and advice. My experience among men and in treating men's diseases places me in a position to be helpful to you. In consulting me you will be asked no foolish and embarrassing questions. Weakness

The common practice is to pre-scribe stimulating drugs in case of vital weakness, without regard to the cause of the trouble. Every patient should understand that the effect of such treatment is not only effect of such treatment is not only temperary but injurious. Every case of weakness has some local con-dition which must be removed and cured before power is restored. Nearly all of our applicants for treatment tell the story of their ex-perience with stomach drugging, etc. which have always failed. We have which have always failed. We have given twenty-seven years to the study and treatment of the local conditions which are the direct cause of vital weakness. With twenty-seven years in Portland, the older readers of the papers realize that our announcements and style of advertising have been continually copied by others; this we cannot prevent, but to those seeking reliable and successful treatment we wish to say our mode of examination, diagnosis, treatment and cures are in our own keeping and cannot bein our own keeping and cannot be-copied. Cases of weakness which we treat are invariably cured by finding and removing the local disturbing cause by scientific local treatment.

OUR FEE

We Cure

Blood Poison, Skin Diseases, Sores, Ulcers, Varioccele, Eydreccele, Nervous Debility, Piles and Chronic Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder.

As to terms: Our large practice enables us to cure for less money than the average so-called specialists—and you see the results before you are required to pay us. Honest, conscientious work speaks for itself. Pretenders, jealous of our success, try to belittle us because our fee is small, but intelligent men are not influenced by their arguments. We ask any man suffering from any disease we treat to call and see us. Many cases supposedly incurable are often the result of poor treatment, and when methods such as we employ are directed toward the cause, and with care and proper attention to your case, you can be cured.

Stricture

Our method of treating stric-ture is painless and permanent, free from cutting, always suc-cessful. We do away with the stricture with a simple method of absorption by local application, which leaves the issues in their original normal condition. We make the cure complete and per-manent.

Established 25 Years in Portland

We make no charse for a friendly talk or correspondence. Come to us in the strictest confidence. We have been exclusively treating special diseases of men for years. Nothing science can devise or money can buy is lacking in our office equipment. We will use you honestly, treat you skillfully and restore you to health in the shortest time with the least discomfort and expense. If you cannot call, write for symptom blanks.
