NEW LIFE BOAT DAVIT WILL BE INSTRUMENTAL IN SAVING MANY LIVES

By Means of This New Davit the Inventor Claims That Lifeboats Can be Lowered From a Vessel's Deck With a Minimum of Effort and Risk.

Christian Smith, second officer of the Norwegian steamer Henrik Ibsen, is the inventor of a lifeboat davit that bids fair to become universally adopted because of its great superiority over the old fashioned davit now in use on craft of every nation. The Henrik Ibsen is in Portland harbor at present loading a cargo of flour for the orient and by reason of that fact and the Columbia disaster, a description of the new davit will be of more than ordinary interest.

The boat can easily be lowered by one man because the turning point of the davit is below the center of balance and the upper part has a slight cant upward, as will be seen in the illustration. By reason of this all that has to be done is to release the frame held in place by a tackle, the end of which is made fast to the stationary part of the frame, and the boat will move seaward by its own weight.

Some of the principal ship owners of that country are fitting their ships with them. Dr. Nansen, the famous Arctic explorer is among those who strongly recommend the invention. The davit is very simple. One man is sufficient to lower the frame over the side of the ship and two men could lower the largest life boat full of passengers. All this is done from the boat itself, so there is no danger of the passengers being lost overboard, as is the case with the davits now in use.

It is so simple in construction that in an emergency the passengers could work it. An additional advantage is in the length of the frame, which gives ample room for the boat to swing clear without striking the ship's side. This is at present one of the greatest dangers in lowering a boat in a heavy sea. Lieutenant Smith has done away with this danger by ingeniously furnishing his davit with two upper blocks for the boat tackle, instead of the ordinary double block now in use. The outer block is placed at the davit, and the other one about three feet further "inboard."

RICH MINES TO BE MADE RICHER

Two Properties in the Galice District Taken Over by Big Capitalists.

GOLDEN ROAD PAID WITH A SMALL MILL

With Adequate Equipment and Deep Workings, It Will Be a Mint—Copper Eagle Is Also Taken Into Strong Hands—District Active.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Grants Pass, Or., July 27.—The Golden Road Mining company has under way the development of the Golden Wedge group of quartz claims of Galice district, on a big scale. While this is a new company, the Golden Wedge is one of the oldest quartz mines in southern Oregon, development and operation dating back eighteen years. It has produced several fortunes, having been equipped for a long time with a mill and reduction plant. Though the milling capacity of the plant is small, the rich ore has given handsome profits. The new owners will be developing the Golden Wedge. The tunnels will be driven in below the old workings, and will tap the ore body at greater depth. The small plant that has been employed will be dismantled and a larger and more modern one installed. The mine will also be equipped with up-to-date hoist, compressor, machine drills and pumps. The company is composed of wealthy eastern men. Ample funds are at their disposal for complete development and equipment. Several members of the company visited the property recently, making an examination and laying plans for future work. Those who came out were Paul Bright, president of the company, and his son, both of Wilmington, Delaware; Samuel Silsinger of Wilmington; W. J. Cleland, wife and son of Philadelphia, and J. L. Garret of Chester, Pennsylvania.

Another is the Copper Eagle. It has recently changed hands and which will be deeply developed and extensively operated in the Copper Eagle. It was taken over a few days ago by R. E. Doss and associates of Los Angeles. The new owners will expend a big sum in shaping the mine for operation. The Copper Eagle has been under development 10 years. It has a big body of ore exposed, the ledges carrying values in both copper and gold. For two years it has shipped considerable ore, much of it giving returns of several hundred dollars to the ton.

Galice district is more active this summer than it has been since the early days of mining. The activity of the present, however, unlike that of the early days, is directed upon quartz instead of upon copper. More than 20 quartz mines, copper and gold, are being developed in the district, many of them significant propositions, with able companies behind them. The development and equipment and the ultimate operation of these properties will make Galice district of importance in Oregon. The camp is located on Rogue river, and reached by wagon road from Grants Pass or Merlin.

LUMBERMEN SIGN FOR FINISH FIGHT

Quarter-Million Fund to be Raised to Resist Advance in Rates.

SPOONER AND CHOATE MAY BE CHAMPIONS

Movement Takes in Millmen and Loggers of Three Coast States, Idaho and British Columbia—Battle Spirit Never So High.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, July 27.—Former United States Senator John C. Spooner of Wisconsin has been asked by the lumbermen of the Pacific coast to head the fight the mill interests will make to prevent the advance from putting into effect the radical increase of lumber and shingle rates proposed for October 1. Associated with him will be the best legal talent in the country. Such men as former Ambassador Joseph H. Choate have been discussed earnestly by the lumbermen as associate counsel and talented lawyers whose practice is restricted to the interstate commerce commission alone will be drawn into the fight before the federal regulative board.

One hundred thousand dollars as a defense fund was pledged at yesterday's meeting of the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' association. Secretary R. W. Douglas is sending out a circular letter calling the shingle mills bureau together to pledge funds for a fight against the railroads. President Miles of the Southwestern association has called a meeting of that organization at Centralia for Tuesday, and President Phillip Ruehner of the Oregon Lumber Manufacturers' association has agreed to recommend the raising of a fund among the Oregon mills on the same basis as that adopted by the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' association. Idaho, British Columbia and California lumbermen and the Loggers' association of Puget sound, Grays Harbor and Columbia rivers districts will be asked for aid. A defense fund that may reach $250,000 will be asked for and against the new rate order.

ROCKEFELLER FAILS TO PAY HIS TAXES

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)
Cleveland, Ohio, July 27.—Although recognized as the richest man in the world, John D. Rockefeller is classed as a delinquent on the books of the county treasurer.

The trouble originated when Mr. Rockefeller failed to pay $76 due to the county upon a personal return of $3,800 worth of property at his Forest Hill estate and failed to settle the remainder of his taxes until the last day allowed. Appended to the millers' statement was a showing that lumber rates in three years have advanced from 24 to 31 per cent. This serves to accentuate the anger of the mill interests.

REASON M'NARY WAS NOT THERE

District Attorney Replies to an Accusing Special Dispatch.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., July 27.—Concerning a Brownsville, Oregon, special dispatch published yesterday in a Portland evening paper, charging District Attorney John McNary with neglect in not appearing against Richard Sharp, charged with burglarizing C. A. Anderson's jewelry store at Brownsville, Mr. McNary makes the following statement:

"The first knowledge I had that there was a case at Brownsville against one Richard Sharp was Wednesday of this week when a party claiming to be a detective called on me and claimed that he had been employed by Brownsville authorities to secure evidence against Sharp and Ray McHargue for robbing a store at said place. This so-called detective detailed a series of circumstances, which he claimed to be evidence justifying the arrest of Sharp, then

FRANCISCAN BROTHERS UNFROCKED BY BISHOP

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)
New York, July 27.—Twenty brothers of the Franciscan order in Brooklyn who applied for permission to leave the local order and join the third order of St. Francis in Spaulding, Nebraska, have been virtually unfrocked by Bishop C. E. McDonnell of the local diocese. The bishop has dispensed them from their vows and in so doing has severed their connection with the college of St. Francis in Butler street.

STRENUOUS TRIP OF A MAGNATE

President Earling Traces Through Wilderness, Milwaukee Route.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, July 27.—President Earling of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, reached Seattle tonight after a trip over the right of way from Missoula, Montana, to the coast. Despite reports of delayed work he is firmly convinced that trains will be running into Seattle in 1909. Except for 30 miles down the St. Joe river in a skiff, he made the entire trip by wagon or on horseback.
