

ORCHARD'S TESTIMONY WAS NOT SUFFICIENT IN THE INTERIOR

Portlanders of Prominence, Including Leading Legal Lights, Hold Such to Be Reason for Haywood's Acquittal—Feature of Affair Is Orchard's Position.

Lawyers and business men, professional men and representatives of the various labor organizations in Portland are practically of one opinion regarding the outcome of the Haywood trial. It is the general sentiment that the jury was left to deliberate upon its verdict with Orchard's testimony as the basis of its decision and that Orchard's testimony was not of the strength to convict.

Not all, however, expected an acquittal. The opinion being freely expressed that a hung jury would result, even though the same opinions carried with them the conviction that Orchard's testimony was not of such a nature as to implicate Haywood or any other of the Western Federation officials.

Fair Trial, Say Lawyers.

Portland lawyers who followed the evidence in the case think the trial was conducted fairly and impartially. They especially do they look with favor upon the instructions given the jury by the judge at the time of the arguments. Judge Pipes said this morning:

"I think the distinctive feature of the Haywood case was the fair instructions given the jury by the judge. It was satisfactory to both prosecution and defense and shows that the law and dignity of the courts are still paramount in this country."

The opinion is expressed, too, that Orchard will not suffer greatly for the crimes he has committed. He is in the unique position of being able to go upon the stand and confess now that his stories were not true, when the worst that can happen to him will be a perjury sentence. On the other hand, should he be forced to trial for his confessed crimes, it would be a difficult matter to convict him, lawyers say for the reason that there is no evidence except his own story of his crimes and that of course, could not be used against him.

Labor Leaders Surprised.

The jury's verdict was a great surprise to labor leaders of this city, and indeed all over the country, according to John Cameron, secretary of the I. W. O. here. They expected a hung jury, and when the verdict of acquittal was announced they were greatly surprised.

"There is no need of my saying that I was delighted with the verdict," said Mr. Cameron. "It should show to the world that labor is not in favor of forcing through the history of the world shows that might makes right."

"The best we expected was a hung jury, though no time was given to the evidence enough to convict anyone. However, there were various causes for thinking that a hung jury would be the result. Prejudice against the defendants has always been shown and we thought it might have its effect."

Thomas Skidmore, secretary of the Socialist party, looked for a disagreement. "The verdict," he said, "is as it should be, but the prosecution had everything in its own way. The defendants were kidnapped and taken into hostile territory and tried before a jury of farmers who knew nothing of life outside an agricultural sphere. Orchard, I believe, is a shrewd, criminal lunatic, and I think he figured if he confessed to his crimes he would save his own neck by getting an otherwise death sentence commuted to life imprisonment."

Edna Wilson's Evidence.

F. McDonald, editor of the Labor Press, believes the verdict in line with the evidence, but, contrary to others, thinks that the prosecution will not end here, but will try the Pettibone and Moyer the next defendants.

Secretary T. M. Leabo thinks it would have been impossible for any 12 men to convict Haywood on the evidence as was furnished by Orchard.

"The word of a man who admitted that he was a murderer, a thief, a forger, a bigamist and belonged to every other criminal category on the calendar surely wouldn't have much weight with an intelligent jury, especially when that evidence went in practically without corroboration."

Decision Thought Just.

Around the city hall sentiment seems to regard the decision in the Haywood case as just.

Prof. Law said: "I believe I would hesitate to convict a man on the testimony of Harry Orchard. Orchard confessed many murders of the most fiendish character, and it is barely possible that he chose a dramatic end for Haywood when he named the minor official as his accomplice. I have not followed the case very closely, but this is my impression of it."

Assistant Inspector Joe Hutchinson said: "This is a very vital question for the American people and I am confident that the jury exhausted every bit of sense before they rendered their verdict. I have no reason to believe the verdict was not a just one. I have never before seen an incident where the defendant's confession was all truth. The foundation for some of his statements seemed far fetched. I didn't follow the evidence very closely, but from the rebuttal I was, I confess, surprised at the result. Barber said: "From what reading I have done relative to the Haywood case I do not feel justified in expressing a criticism of the jury's findings."

Ministerial Opinions.

Concerning the Haywood verdict Rev. E. M. Hill who was formerly a minister in Colorado says: "It seemed evident that there was guilt on both sides and quite certain that labor has not had a fair show in Colorado. More than anything else about the case, the evidence of such a fearful villain as Orchard has shown himself to be that I have the opinion in favor of the defense. I think it is a pity that the verdict of the jury is not a just one."

SENATORS FEAR TO IMPROVE THE COMPLEXION

Home Treatment Said to Be Most Effective in Bringing the Glow of Health to Sallow Faces

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Lakeview, Or., July 29.—When United States Senator C. W. Fulton and Circuit Judge H. L. Benson reached Lakeview last Tuesday in the course of their itinerary through interior Oregon they were warmly welcomed by all their personal and political friends. Though they were very weary after their long drive across the country they spent the evening visiting old acquaintances and making new ones. The following evening Senator Fulton addressed a large audience, many of whom had come a great distance to hear and meet him. He introduced the senator, who in his address stated clearly his position on the question of the national forest reserves, which in Lake County is a most important question. He approved the policy of the government with regard to their creation and the protection of water sources and forests, but considered the administration took ground too broad in its treatment of the subject and that its course was prejudicial to certain extent to the interests of the people of Oregon.

A banquet at which about 75 of the leading business men of this immediate vicinity were present was given in honor of the distinguished guests. After an address by Senator Fulton toasts were proposed by Postmaster L. B. Snelling and answered as follows: H. L. Benson, "Senator Fulton"; B. Daly, "Lake County"; George H. Ayres, "The Forest"; Attorney M. Batchelder, "The Bar"; C. N. Spider, "The Pioneers"; J. W. Watson, "Development"; Attorney W. L. Thompson, at will.

Ex-Senator Fred W. Mulkey and State Senator E. C. Beach arrived in Lakeview Sunday, July 22, and spent a few days meeting the people.

The wash and massage as given in the formula below comes from the noted French dermatologist and is most generally used among the ladies of the exclusive social circles of Paris when powder and cosmetics of all kinds are now scorned.

Obtain from your druggist the following: two ounces Rose Water, one ounce Cologne Spirit, four ounces crystallized Baryon (skin food).

Put the Baryon in a pint of hot water (not boiling); let it cool, then strain through a fine cloth into a bottle or small fruit jar and add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirit.

This will make a sufficient quantity to last for a long time and is an inexpensive toilet preparation, at the same time being the most effective known to the profession. The only thing to remember in using it is that it must be well massaged into the skin. If this is done and it is persistently used it is remarkable how it will restore that enviable youthful bloom.

At the time of the Steunenberg assassination he probably would have acted just as Governor Gooding has done.

Attorney James H. Hawley of the prosecution is broken down in health as a result of the trial and has started west under care of his physician.

When Haywood called at the hospital to see John Murphy, pastor of the Western Federation who is dying of consumption, he lifted the dying man in his arms while the latter gasped out: "Bill be thankful and be humble."

MOYER OUT ON BAIL

Haywood's attorneys appeared as much surprised as those of the state when the jury returned its verdict. All had expected a disagreement and when a verdict was brought in those of counsel for the defense were present in the courtroom went wild with joy. They danced about their client shouting their congratulations and Judge Wood made no attempt to restrain them.

Orchard Ready for Justice.

Harry Orchard took the verdict of the jury very philosophically, saying that he had simply done his duty and could do no more. He also said that he was ready to take any punishment that might be meted out to him and the sooner he got it the better it would suit him.

The verdict of the jury came as a surprise to the people of Boise, for although it was known shortly after midnight that the majority of the jurors stood for acquittal, it was believed there would be a disagreement. All had expected a disagreement and when a verdict was brought in those of counsel for the defense were present in the courtroom went wild with joy. They danced about their client shouting their congratulations and Judge Wood made no attempt to restrain them.

GOMPERS PLEASED

Head of American Federation of Labor Is Not Surprised.

(Journal Special Service.)

Washington, July 29.—The verdict in the Haywood case comes as no surprise to President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor. Gompers, upon hearing the decision of the jury, declared that he was not surprised. He said that he had no right minded American could have brought in any other kind of a verdict.

Gompers declared that Orchard's confession of murder, assassination and bigamy was enough to sicken any one and that no right minded American would have even a yellow dog on such testimony.

CELEBRATE AT BUTTE

Men, Women and Children Form Parade in Honor of Haywood.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Butte, Mont., July 29.—For several hours last night the streets were crowded with a wildly cheering mob of men, women and children. During the afternoon, banners were put on the street announcing a big parade on account of the Haywood "victory" at Boise.

The Miners' union turned out almost to a man and were headed by the B. & M. band. The national emblem appeared quite frequently and interspersed throughout the column of marching men were banners bearing such inscriptions as "Victory," "Hurrah for Haywood and the Undeclared Citizens." The original column, consisting of the Miners' union, easily numbered 3,000 men and was greatly increased by the large number of people who lined the curb and pushed into the street, cheering madly.

Great excitement prevails over the complete acquittal of Fred Moyer, the Western Federation of Miners. It is understood that Haywood will come to Butte as soon as possible.

FLOOD OF TELEGRAMS

Messages are coming in from all parts of the world, 10 foreign countries being represented. All of the large eastern cities are also included in the list of invitations to Haywood to speak in Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Baltimore were received this morning. These cities are planning receptions for the federation leaders and Denver will give him a royal welcome on his return.

Miners who are conversant with the situation declare that the Haywood verdict will mean a great increase in the membership of the Western Federation of Miners.

LONDON BUTTS IN English Papers Declare Haywood Verdict Is Result of Anarchy.

(Journal Special Service.)

London, July 29.—The London papers call the Haywood verdict an anarchy and Idaho conditions are criticized.

"The western state is as near anarchy as a community is likely to get," says the Star. "It is clear that huge chunks of the United States are still weltering in raw undeveloped areas and that the country cannot digest itself."

Comments of other papers are along the same lines.

BALES PLAYING WITH RATTLES

Mrs. Harpole Finds Children Trying to Tame Savage Reptile for Pet.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Colefax, Wash., July 29.—Finding her two little babes, aged 3 and 3 years, respectively, playing with a savage rattlesnake, Mrs. M. D. Harpole snatched the little tots out of danger just in time to save their lives. The babes were pleased with the appearance of the snake and wished to catch it for a pet.

Mrs. Harpole, who lives several miles down the Palouse river from this city, told the story of the little ones' narrow escape.

"My sister and I were busy with our household and the two children, a boy 2 and a girl 3 years old, were playing out in the yard," she said. "We heard them talking, as we supposed, to the cat, saying, 'Come on, come on,' and paid no attention to it until the little girl called out, 'Mamma, come see the rattlesnake.' I ran out as fast as I could and the sight I beheld nearly froze my blood. Lying coiled just beside the fence and a position to jump and strike instantly was a huge rattlesnake and kneeling just in front of him and not more than 16 inches distant with their little hands outstretched until they were almost over it were the children. I caught one in either hand and lifted them out of harm's way and three sticks of dynamite about this hole covered it carefully with blankets to leave the shock of the explosion, and set a match to the fuse. A concussion so terrific that it knocked the cook at the other end of the jail, nearly across the kitchen. An inspection of the wall inside the hole that had been drilled with the spike, was deepened in diameter, and from four to five inches thick, and the explosion, which left at least six inches of solid concrete between the prisoners and liberty.

One of the prisoners, named Christensen, was injured by being cut in the back by flying chips of the concrete, and another named Donegan, suffered an injury on the hand. Excepting these men, no one was hurt by the explosion. Dr. C. C. McCormack was called at once to dress their wounds, and when the men were examined it was seen that their injuries were slight. Both are working today.

Four men were put in the dungeon, and it is expected that others will be sent to join them tonight. The men in the dungeon are to remain there for months to serve; Foster, six months to serve; E. Mayer, committed for 60 days, who is wanted on other charges, as soon as the present sentence is served.

F. S. Rankin, who was arrested with the Sellwood postoffice robbers, was returned released by the federal authorities, but sentenced to 60 days by the city, as supposed to have been one of the leaders in the plot to demolish the jail with dynamite. The affair is being investigated and it is believed that Rankin will join the four in the dungeon by night.

SWEENEY RIDICULES JONES' TOGA CHASE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Spokane, Wash., July 29.—Charles Sweeney, millionaire and ex-candidate for the United States senate, is in the city from New York and had the following to say concerning the candidacy of Congressman W. L. Jones to succeed Lev Anthony of Walla Walla as United States senator from Washington:

"Everybody knows that Congressman Jones is John L. Wilson's man and Wilson is using him for a cat's paw. He is making Jones a cloak for his own ambition to return to the senate, depending on being able to swing the forces that will gather around Jones, for his own use. Wilson would have no scruples about making his grand-mother a tool to further his ends."

Mr. Sweeney said he had considerable strength on the coast, but that he would not be candidate a second time, as he was out of politics for good.

SULTAN'S TROOPS IN FIGHT WITH BANDITS

Tangier, July 29.—Fierce fighting is reported between Sultan Raisu's forces and the government troops which were sent to suppress the bandit forces. The Sultan's troops are being captured by the bandit and is being held prisoner in a cave in the mountains. The Sultan hopes to secure a substantial ransom from the government.

Reports of the fight are meagre and it is not known which side is coming out victorious. The bandits have an advantage for although they are not so great in number as the government troops, they are thoroughly familiar with the battleground.

ATTENTION!

To the Stockholders of the Anglo-American Oil & Coal Co.

The following letter was recently received by George H. Hill, secretary and treasurer of the Anglo-American Oil & Coal Company, from Captain E. J. Rathbone, field superintendent of the company, dated "In Camp near Katalla, Alaska, July 9, 1907":

"Dear Sir: The drill commenced dropping on July 24, and we will soon have a hole to relog. A strong oil seepage or spring empties into the lake right in front of our cabin; it can be seen only at extreme low tide (two or three times a year). We feel confident of success, but the drill alone can tell the final tale."

"Have two coal camps established and am getting down as fast as possible; I want to get in shape to drift (drive some tunnels) on the coal during next winter and get this well down and get moved to another site by last of October, so we can sink another well during the winter. I am figuring on remaining all winter myself to look after the work. Surface work in the summer and underground work in the winter is my plan."

"The railway people have had quite a battle, chiefly with clubs, but a little shooting, too. One man shot to death, another's arm shot off, a dozen arms and legs broken and eight skulls cracked with pick handles. Think the worst is over. The railroad's progress is not very speedy, but both insist they will reach the lake at least before fall; they receive 100 to 150 men every week, and while some leave, the force is increasing very rapidly. The Guggenheims road has been delayed with their wharf by the scrap with the other road. They were trying to reach a stone quarry with which to fill their trestle as they proceeded."

"They have three locomotives, some cars, and a little track laid, right of way slashed for 12 miles, and a good deal of earthwork and a small amount of roadwork done."

"No wharf facilities is a great burden to them. It costs $5.00 a ton measurement to pay lighterage from ship to shore, and all local freighting is expensive this year, much greater than last year. Our freight bills will amount to about $750.00 for our first shipment this season (which I brought up)."

"Men who do rough work get about $90.00 a month and board as an average."

"Katalla needs a decent blacksmith shop and machine shop bad."

"Mr. McDonald has opened a coalminers' store and is putting up a sawmill across the lake, a mile and a half from our well and headquarters."

"We are all O. K., making progress. Sincerely yours, E. J. RATHBONE."

Nine oil wells are on land adjoining this company's holdings, and in addition to the coal end of our enterprise, A COMPLETE OIL DRILLING OUT-FIT IS NOW AT WORK, under the personal supervision of Mr. Cluny, an oil-drilling expert from Pennsylvania, who has "made good" both in Pennsylvania and California, in producing oil and who says "there is no question but that I will produce oil for the Anglo-American Oil & Coal Company." The holdings of this company embrace twelve thousand six hundred acres, and we are developing this property as fast as possible. OVER ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS HAVE ALREADY BEEN EXPENDED, and as much more will be spent in the near future.

We advise those persons who are alive to their own interests to immediately investigate this company and its holdings.

At the present time, when our payroll amounts to several thousand dollars a month, besides other heavy expenditures, and an earnest desire on our part to vigorously push the work along, you can secure a holding in this company at TWENTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR

It is a cheap buy. Nothing can stop the rapid advance in the price of this company's stock; it will soon be selling for more than double its present price, and when you have looked into the matter and made your own investigation, you will agree with us.

The men who are at the head of this company are heavily interested. This is one of the few companies the success of which does not depend wholly on the sale of stock. We are going ahead as fast as possible, and our success is already assured. We now offer you an opportunity to become interested with us, but you must act at once.

The Anglo-American Oil & Coal Company will handle their own product, and with shipping facilities now building as fast as men and money can do the work, it will not be long before the business offices of this company will be open from 8 in the morning till 6 in the evening to receive orders for a better grade of coal than ever before produced on the Pacific coast.

The anthracite and semi-bituminous smokeless steaming coal found in southeastern Alaska has no equal on the Pacific coast, and its appearance in the market will revolutionize the coal business from Vancouver to San Diego.

MINSTREL SHOW

A troupe of entertainers, who are genuine negroes though not genuine minstrels, appeared at the Hellig last night under the name of the "Dixie Minstrels." The company is owned and directed by R. Voelckel and John J. Nolan, who style themselves the "Barnum & Bailey of real negro minstrelsy."

The performance followed the time-honored customs of minstrel shows in the arrangement of its program. The efforts of the performers, jokes, musical numbers and other features of old-time minstrelsy. There was an inter-locutor, endmen and other regulation performers.

The company includes several voices of remarkable natural merit, but was at the same time almost devoid of vocal talents. The dancing and singing and the stars of the aggregation were worthy of the best minstrel performers, but efforts at funmaking were not up to the standard of the most mediocre vaudeville performance.

The first part of the program was devoted to singing and dancing specialties by various members of the company. Among the members whose singing especially pleased the audience were Charles Williams, H. S. Wooten, Monroe Taber and Charles Fleming.

A travesty entitled, "A F-o-w-l Deed, or the Countdown Court" occupied the second part of the program, and provided great merriment for the audience. The piece was staged by Charles Williams and the music arranged by Robert Leach.

There was a good-sized audience to hear the minstrel performance, and it showed its appreciation by repeated applause. The Dixie Minstrels is an organization of colored singers and dancers which has been far more successful than most of the so-called minstrel shows of modern days, and is known throughout the country.

Clinton, Ill., July 29.—A special grand jury to investigate the charges of unscrupulousness against Fred Magill and murder against his bride was impaneled this morning, instructed by the court, and sent into secret session. Twenty-four witnesses here have been subpoenaed by the state. Magill finds public sentiment is not entirely in his favor, but his lodge members are standing by him.
