WEATHER REPORT

WEATHER REPORT.

The high pressure area along the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains has contracted in area and remained nearly stationary. A trough of low pressure extends from Arizona northwest through California and thence northeastward through eastern Oregon to northern Idaho. A shallow disturbance is central over Lake Superior. Light thundershowers occurred in the lower Willamette and lower Columbia valleys and light rain is reported in southern Nevada, Utah, Arizona, and at widely scattered places in eastern states. It is cooler in western Oregon and western Washington, but in the eastern portion of these states and in Idaho warm weather continues.

Indications are for showers and thunderstorms in this district tonight or tomorrow with lower temperatures, except in southwestern Oregon, where it will be warmer tomorrow.
