AUTOPSY WILL REVEAL CAUSE

Inquest Necessary to Determine What Led to Demise of Lineman.

Whether John Carlberg, a lineman employed by the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co., came to his death at Seventh and Upshur streets yesterday afternoon from electrocution or succumbed to heat prostration, will have to be determined by an autopsy to be held this afternoon.

Carlberg was at work on the cross-arm of a pole, 22 feet above the street, engaged in transferring the high voltage lines, a most dangerous undertaking, when overtaken by death. Upon noting Carlberg lying limp and apparently dead at the top of the pole, Foreman W. Ibbotson, assisted by several linemen, succeeded in lowering the unfortunate man to the ground. It was necessary to cut one of the large cables before the body could be extricated.

Upon examination Carlberg was found to be dead and the coroner was notified. Claim Agent Boynton of the electric company declares from investigation, he is convinced Carlberg died of heart disease or stroke. Coroner Finley decided to hold an autopsy.

Shortly before Carlberg's death, Elmer Downing, a lineman, residing at 38 1/2 Morrison street, who was at work on the pole in question received a heavy charge of electricity through his body and it was necessary to remove him to Good Samaritan hospital for treatment. Although his condition is serious it is thought he will recover.

Carlberg, who was an experienced lineman, entered the employ of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co. several months ago. He was ordered to take Downing's place on the pole. The fact that his predecessor narrowly escaped electrocution tends to confirm the theory that Carlberg's death was caused by shock.

CASTOFF WOMAN DRANK CARBOLIC

Rachael Hathaway Ends Life When Threatened With Desertion.

Fearing she was about to be cast aside by the man she loved, at whose instigation she had sacrificed honor, home and loved ones, pretty 19-year-old Rachael Hathaway of Eugene, Oregon, sought succor from sorrow at 10:40 o'clock last night in a room at 461 East Morrison street by swallowing carbolic acid.

After lingering in agony for an hour the young woman succumbed. The body was removed to Finley's undertaking parlors and the coroner has not yet decided whether an inquest will be necessary.

Following the tragedy, which had been enacted in his presence, Edward Small, a widower with whom the girl had been living, started out to end his life in the Willamette and as a result was landed in the city prison by Patrolman Phillips and Deputy Sheriff Andrew. Small was taken into custody at Front and Morrison streets, as it appeared that he contemplated drowning himself, and is still held in jail pending the decision of the coroner relative to an inquest.

It is understood that Rachael Hathaway left her home in Eugene two weeks ago following a quarrel with her mother, and came to Portland to take up her residence with Small, whom she had known in her home town. Small has two small children. Upon being informed by Small last night that he intended going to Salem to accept a position and could not take her with him, the girl strenuously objected and became morose.

During temporary absence of Small from the room the despondent girl drank poison and died in horrible agony within an hour.

Small comes from Eugene, and his children are in the custody of his mother there.

STATES' TEAM WILL COMPETE

Eighteen Best Citizen-Soldier Marksmen Will Compete for Trophy.

The results obtained by members of the Oregon National Guard at the third annual rifle competition held near Roseburg insure a state's team being sent to Port Clinton, Ohio, to compete for the national trophy. This meet will be held from August 19 to September 1, the government paying four fifths of the expense incurred.

The team will consist of 18 of the best shots in the state, who will compete with picked men from other states and from the army and navy. The Oregon National Guard was represented at the national meet in 1905-6, last year having a higher average than 23 of the competitors.

The records made by the men are flattering and they feel satisfied they will capture not only the first prize, but others also. All but two of the companies in Oregon were represented at Roseburg. Private B. F. Shields, Company D, made a perfect score of 56 points in rapid firing. Lieutenant George E. Houck hit the bullseye 49 times out of 50 at 1,000 yards range in the circuit court against T. A. Garbade to recover the money that he paid for the stock. Van De Wiele alleges that Garbade sold him the stock and fraudulently represented to him that the company was solvent and that the stock was at premium.

FRAUD IS CHARGED IN STOCK TRANSACTION

Charging that he was defrauded into buying a share of stock of the Portland Coffee and Spice company for $5,750, D. L. Van De Wiele has filed suit in the circuit court against T. A. Garbade to recover the money that he paid for the stock. Van De Wiele alleges that Garbade sold him the stock and fraudulently represented to him that the company was solvent and that the stock was at premium.
