

PRISON FOR LIFE FOR GUAJARDO

Slayer of Swarthout Found Guilty of Second Degree Murder.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IS DENIED

Plea of Self-Defense Unavailing—Convicted Man Receives Sympathy From Neighbors—Verdict Is Returned in Midst of Midnight Storm.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
St. Helens, Or., Aug. 2.—Francisco Guajardo must spend the remainder of his natural life in the penitentiary for killing Herbert N. Swarthout, unless the higher courts give him relief. He was yesterday sentenced by Judge McBride to a life term, following the verdict of murder in the second degree, which had been reached at an early hour of the morning.

The verdict was brought in in the midst of a terrific electric storm that raged for hours. Guajardo was pale but calm and to the last retained his composure, even thanking the judge for his consideration toward the defense throughout the trial.

At 10 o'clock yesterday Guajardo was brought into court for sentence. His counsel made a motion for a new trial, which was denied. The judge stated that the defendant had received a fair trial and had had a good defense and a good jury. He then sentenced him according to law to the penitentiary for life. His counsel asked six days in which to file his bill of exceptions, which was allowed.

Guajardo showed no emotion at any time. Few were in the courtroom and there was no demonstration of any kind. Guajardo will be taken to Salem today. The prosecution at the trial contended that Guajardo had broken up the Swarthout family, while the defense showed that Guajardo had provided a home for Mrs. Swarthout and her six children after they were deserted by Swarthout.

The instructions of the court to the jury were very clear. The points of law in regard to self-defense were especially emphasized. The defendant remained perfectly calm throughout the trial. He apparently had the sympathy of his neighbors.

Mrs. Swarthout was not in the courtroom during the closing scenes of the trial.

UNKNOWN'S GIFTS TO BRAVE GIRLS ARE THINGS OF BEAUTY

Brooch Presented to Miss Ethel Johnson.

The beautiful necklace and pendant which were presented to Miss Maybelle Watson in admiration of her bravery by an unknown admirer is a rare and valuable product of the jeweler's skill. The chain is of platinum, three times the value of gold, and the pendant, or lavallier, is the shape of a bow-knot with open work framing a rare stone, a kunzite. The gem is a hard stone, of the brilliancy of a diamond but of a pale lilac color. The open work is set with a number of full cut diamonds. The whole design is chaste and fine, one of the latest Parisian styles, and of great value.

The brooch which was given to Miss Ethel Johnson by the same donor is a butterfly of gold with wide spread wings which are set with diamonds, and with ruby eyes. It is a striking and brilliant piece of jewelry.

The name of the donor will not be disclosed, and there was no other motive for his act than that of pure philanthropy and a desire to reward in some measure the bravery of those two young girls who in a time of great personal peril did not lose their wits but heroically aided others to escape sudden death.

When the Columbia was wrecked Miss Watson supported Miss Grisee in the water for two hours and refused to be helped into a boat until Miss Grisee, who was unconscious, had been taken in. Miss Ethel Johnson, who is but 12 years old, saved the life of Ethel Gordon, her girl chum, and of a man who clung to her.

Alsea Country Offers Inducements Unexcelled in All Oregon.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Fisher, Or., Aug. 2.—Lincoln and Lane counties expect to attract and hold their share of the landseekers of 1907 from the east and from foreign lands. There remains vast areas of good lands at reasonable prices. Notable for its opportunities is the Alsea region.

This is a part of the state that nature has done her best for. It is situated in the extreme southern part of Lincoln county and Lane county on a stream called Five Rivers, a tributary to the Alsea river, which flows into Alsea bay. These lands are adapted to almost anything and will bring as large crops as any other part of Oregon. The land is new and very rich. Vast quantities of splendid timber for piling and ties are here and a good logging stream to send them into Alsea bay. The bottom lands

WARM WEATHER RESPONSIBLE FOR THE INCREASE IN DRUNKS

Apparently the warm days have had a tendency during the month just ended to increase the number of arrests for drunkenness in the city. According to report filed by Thomas Jefferson Casey, statistician of the police department, with Chief Gritzmacher, out of 563 arrests made during the month of July 515 were for intoxication as compared with 444 for the preceding 30 days.

The need of an additional patrol wagon is demonstrated by the fact that 478 calls were answered by the one vehicle in use during July, an average of over 15 runs a day to all parts of the city, on both sides of the river.

In the bureau of criminal investigation are the best in the world for clover, timothy or any kind of grass. As for vegetables, fruit or berries, it challenges any part of the state, or for that matter any part of the world. Any person will be convinced by coming and looking for himself. New people, however, are wanted to develop the country. There are fair roads, telephone lines, a creamery route and a thrice-a-week mail route. Pure water, good land, fine timber and a healthy location are the essential features of this part of the state, which should induce people of means to visit this part of the country and look it over for themselves.

tion 75 cases of larceny, three highway robberies, three burglaries and two bogus checks were investigated by the detectives.

For assault and battery, 43 persons were taken into custody; disorderly conduct, 25; drunk and disorderly, 35; gambling, 15; larceny, 23; violating city ordinances, 100; disorderly by fighting, 17; carrying concealed weapons, 6; robbery, 2; vagrancy, 35; violating city ordinance, 5; threatening to kill, 5; begging, 5; delirium tremens, 5; and insane, 3. The others arrested were brought in for various petty offenses.

During the month, 34 sidewalk cases were reported for repair, 35 street obstructions were ordered removed, 40 cases of water running to waste reported to the water board, 15 injured persons assisted, 7 lost children picked up, 12 disturbances suppressed and 11 stray teams taken to stables. There were 29 alarms of fire during the month and 4 incipient blazes extinguished without the aid of the firemen.

The receipts in the municipal court from fines and forfeitures aggregated $1,663 as compared with $1,521 for the month of June.
