RESTFUL SLEEP
Many Portland People Find It Hard to Get

Hard to sleep at night
With that awful ache, itching Piles,
With irritating Eczema,
With any itching of the skin.
Doan's Ointment relieves and cures.
Here's Portland testimony to prove it:
Jacob Heasong, farmer, living at the corner of East Twenty-eighth street and Keely avenue, Portland, Or., says: "In recommending Doan's Ointment to those who suffer from hemorrhoids I can only repeat the statement I made some three years ago. I had suffered from this trouble for some years and in hot weather it was a great worry to me. I could not sleep at night. Other preparations having given me little or no relief I finally began using Doan's Ointment and it required only a few applications to bring soothing and healing relief. The facts above stated are as I told them just after my first trial of the remedy. I think just as much of the preparation today."

IRVINGTON NOW IN RIGHT HANDS

Race Track Dispute Settled
Out of Court, Fair Association Securing It.

FUTURE OF ACREAGE IS STILL IN DOUBT

Consideration Involved in Transfer Was $150,000, as Originally Agreed Upon—Property Would Cut Into About 450 Building Lots.

The Irvington race track, comprising about 80 acres, was deeded to the Multnomah Fair association yesterday by the Irving Real Estate company and Elizabeth Ryan in consideration of $150,000. The Multnomah Fair association took a lease on the property about five years ago. The lease contained a clause giving the fair association the right to purchase the property at any time during the life of the lease for $150,000.

The Multnomah Fair association tendered the price to the owners, which was refused. Suit was then brought in the circuit court to compel specific performance of the contract. The proposition is that the owners of the property concluded that the suit could not be won and yesterday notified the fair association that they were ready to execute the deed of conveyance.

Christina, Aug. 2.—Christina was aglow with flags and bunting today and there was much popular rejoicing over the thirty-fifth anniversary of the birth of King Haakon. Addresses of congratulation were received from cities and towns throughout Norway, and to these were added the felicitations of all the sovereigns of Europe. The greetings of the latter were conveyed to the royal palace by the diplomatic representatives, who were received in person by the king.

naval career. To this end he was educated by his father until he was 14 years old, when he passed the examination for admission into the Danish naval academy. There he spent the regulation four years, faring just as his comrades of nonroyal blood fared, no better, no worse.
On leaving the academy he began his active career as a midshipman. That was in 1880. In the years that followed he slowly mounted to the grade of captain, attaining that rank only a year or so before he was called to the throne of Norway. When at sea he was a hard worker, and he demanded hard work from all under him. Yet he was well liked by his officers, and the common sailors were known to hold him in high regard.

As a child he was set apart for a...
The popular festivities in honor of the king's birthday affair but another proof of the strong hold he has secured on the affections of his subjects. The sincere regard of the Norwegians for their king and queen is all the more remarkable, since it is not yet two years that the young Danish prince and his English princess were invited to assume the sovereignty. In the modern history of Europe no parallel is to be found.
It is but natural that the strong characteristics of King Haakon should win the attachment of his people. And the winning personality of Queen Maud and the charm of the little Prince Olaf, heir to the throne, have further endeared the royal couple to the Norwegian people.

And as before stated, this love for the sea pleases the Norwegians immensely, for the kings who have made their history have been men of the sea, largely.
To this day his favorite associates are men of the navy, and much of his time is spent in the study of naval problems. On returning from a visit to Copenhagen or a sojourn in England, Queen Maud's home, his first task is to call in some of the high officials of the Norwegian navy and engage in long talks with them. Given his way, his line subject of conversation is always the sea and the things that pertain thereto.

GREEDY METHODS OF ICE TRUST
HARDSHIP ON SMALL GROCERS

Small grocers have more than one trouble. There are the troubles of competition, but they are nothing to the troubles produced by the ice trust. The high rates on ice have caused a shock among the small grocers in the residential districts from which a gift of the refreshing substance alone can revive them.
"Yes, we most of us go on taking ice just the same as usual," said one man over in East Portland, "but that is only because we have to. We take as little as we can get along with and treat it very carefully."

But some cannot see their way clear to take even a little, and housekeepers complain that their butter comes to them in a sad and down-hearted condition. The grocer's answer that he cannot spend all their earnings in buying ice to keep the butter hard. And the ice trust goes merrily on charging its rates and probably buying its butter from larger dealers who can afford to pave their stores with ice.

elements is by means of a lactometer, which may be bought at any drug store. The reading of the specific gravity of milk shows whether it has been diluted with water. The one objection to this is that the specific gravity, which should be about 1.03 or 1.04, will be lowered as readily by being too rich as by being watered because the fat globules of cream rise to the surface. Normal milk should yield about 10 per cent of cream. This if used in addition to the lactometer will signify whether the low specific gravity results from watering or from richness.
For impurity from germs in the milk the acid test is simple and the best. Most organisms coming in contact with milk produce acid, and high acidity is due to old milk which has given the bacteria a long period of growth or to insufficient or slow cooling which gives them rapid growth. The Farrington alkaline tablet, which is a combination of a standard alkali and phenolphthalein and may be bought easily, is used as a test. It is dissolved in clean soft water, one tablet for each ounce of water or eight tablets to an eight-ounce bottle of water.
Two measures of the solution to one ounce of milk are used and the mixture gently shaken. If the pink color of the solution remains even faintly there is not enough acid in the milk to neutralize it. If it disappears altogether, leaving the milk white in color, there is too much foreign acid in it. A brass cartridge shell is impure nevertheless, and so this test does not cover it, but the same testifies to that impurity."

NOTED SCIENTIST
FROM NEW ZEALAND

Dr. James MacKintosh Bell, Director of Geological Survey, En Route to England to Lecture.

Dr. James MacKintosh Bell of New Zealand, director of the geological survey, who has been visiting friends in Portland, is on his way to England to lecture before the Royal Geographical society. He will lecture also at Harvard and before other eastern colleges.
Although still a young man, Dr. Bell has had a varied experience and has traveled extensively. He was the leader of the great Bear lake polar expedition and has led other exploring parties in northern Canada.
A Canadian by birth, Dr. Bell completed his collegiate course in Canada and then came to Harvard, where he took his Ph. D. degree. Two and a half years ago he succeeded Sir James Hector as head of the geological survey of New Zealand. He is much impressed with the wealth and resources which New Zealand possesses and as a geologist finds its phenomena of great interest.

TRIO OF SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Olympia, Wash., Aug. 3.—In decisions just rendered the supreme court holds as follows:
That the same general rules govern in a suit to annul a marriage, as in divorce, and the decision appointing to the point of the sufficiency of publication.
That it is proper to admit testimony showing an oral modification of a written contract, the case being one wherein the respondent was a subcontractor recovering a judgment for $1,542.90, and in which it was admitted that the work was not finished within the time limit, but the court allowed him to show an oral modification and he recovered practically the sum sued for.

That a railroad spur track can be assessed for street improvements, even though the entire street where the improvements are made is given up to the exclusive use of the tracks, and the improvements are of no benefit to the road company, the court holding that it can make no distinction in the matter of these assessments as to the particular use a street is put to.

MONTANA'S SHARE OF INCOME OF FORESTS
(Journal Special Service.)
Helena, Mont., Aug. 3.—Governor Toole has received a telegram from Acting Secretary of Agriculture Moore stating that Montana's 10 per cent net receipts from the government administration of the forest reserves in this state amounts to $20,655 and that it will be forwarded immediately. Under the federal statutes this sum goes to the public schools and public roads of the state.
The state treasurer's report for the month of July shows a cash balance August 1 of $808,431 and investment funds amount to $1,485,014. Receipts for the month were $155,000 and disbursements $218,000.

NOVEL CELEBRATION
FOR MEXICAN CITIES
(Journal Special Service.)
City of Mexico, Aug. 3.—The national committee appointed by President Diaz to arrange for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of Mexico's independence, has adopted a unique feature as a part of the general plan for observing the patriotic event. It is proposed that public improvements should be inaugurated on September 16, 1910, which is the date of the centennial independence anniversary, in more than 900 cities and towns of the republic. It is estimated that the average cost of each of these public improvements will not be less than $100,000. In the larger cities where large public buildings or public service improvements are contemplated the amount of money to be expended may run into the millions of dollars. If a general average of $100,000 is extended in each of the 900 and more towns and cities the total amount of money involved in the plan will be almost $100,000,000.

AT THE THEATRES

Two More Performances.
Only two more performances remain of "The Story of the Golden Fleece" at the Marquam. Nance O'Neil closes her engagement tomorrow night in this mythological play. It is one of the best roles the tragedienne has had and in the third act she is seen at her best.
Sunday the Last.
Tomorrow will be the last day for "A Royal Slave" at the Star. There will be a matinee and night performance. This play is a beautiful Mexican romance, which has toured the country for years with Frank DeCamp in the principal role. He is playing his original character.

BELDING ORDINANCE
WILL BE DISCUSSED
A special meeting of the judiciary committee of city council will be held at 2 o'clock next Thursday afternoon in city hall for the purpose of considering the Belding anti-trust ordinance. In view of the fact that the ordinance is occupying considerable attention, the judiciary committee is desirous of having the matter thoroughly discussed at this time.
Since the ordinance is so sweeping in its provisions and will probably affect a great many concerns in Portland, it is believed that the general public should have some say in the matter, and any who desire to be heard will be given the floor in the meeting.

Women, Attention!
"Taming a Husband," the comedy couplet which has made thousands laugh this week at the Grand is played by Beatrice Moreland and Stanley Johns and is one of the most comical and consistent sketches in vaudeville. Allen Shaw, coin manipulator, is well known as an expert.

"The Road to Frisco."
Everybody who has seen the show at the Lyric this week is enthusiastic over the splendid performances that the Allen stock company is giving of that thrilling western drama, "The Road to Frisco." Do not fail to see it tonight or tomorrow afternoon or night.
