PLANNING REMOVAL OF MILWAUKIE CLUB TO VANCOUVER

ASTORIA IS MECCA FOR GAMBLERS TO REOPEN

Seaport at River's Mouth Has No Rivals in One Respect—From $20,000 to $25,000 Tainted Coin for the City.

Orders Expected to Put the Lid on This Week—Crime Legitimized by Municipal Connivance—Fifty Games Running.

One of Club's Owners Arrives From Spokane and Immediately Strives to "Fix Things" With the Authorities.

Gambling a Felony in Washington, But Occasionally Permitted by Officials—Poolroom Followers Jubilant Over Prospects.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Astoria, Or., Aug. 6.—Astoria is today the only city in the northwest where open gambling is legitimized by municipal connivance. It is the only city in Oregon where it is tolerated in open defiance of state law. No effort has been made by District Attorney Hedges to enforce the statutes, but the closing down of the Milwaukee club has placed the gambling fraternity in a flutter of excitement, and it is expected that orders putting on the lid will be received before the week is finished.

Astoria has been a Mecca for gamblers since Tom Word drove the knights of the green cloth to the Rose City. Gambling has flourished like a green bay tree. Practically every saloon has a gambling attachment, and in addition there are gambling halls where one may buck the tiger and drop his coin at most any old game.

Twenty Thousand a Year. How many gambling dens are there in Astoria is hard to answer. Probably 75. Any sort of a resort offers an excuse. There are enough, at any rate, to pay from $20,000 to $25,000 annually into the city treasury. The money forms the greatest source of the city's income. The supply varies according to the season. At the present time there are about 50 games at the city's disposal. The supply varies according to the season. At the present time there are about 50 games at the city's disposal. Gambling Resorts. The Chinook bar, Delahamut & Ford, proprietors; Seaford's saloon; The Louvre, Charles Winkler, proprietor; Savoy, John Stevenson, proprietor; Anchor, Al Johnson, proprietor; Sunny-side, Gordon Bros., proprietors; Sam Harris' place, Star saloon, John Kinney, proprietor; La Tosca, Charles Kinney, proprietor; Big Swede, by the same proprietor; Delahamut, D. J. Cummings, proprietor; Delahamut, Carter, proprietors; Gold Star, L. Greenwood, proprietor; the Standard, Owl and numerous others.

Chinese gambling dens, and lotteries run wide open with the same watchful eye that is given to other places amount to a large part of the city's revenue. There are saloons and gambling resorts and no effort is made to prevent women from frequenting the resorts where drunkenness among the female attendants is of no uncommon occurrence.

May Put Lid On. It is believed that all the money collected from these resorts operated under the protection of the city authorities reaches its right channel in the city treasurer's office. The council of Astoria figures on the sum of a revenue upon which it can draw to tone down expenses in government.

Wife Servant in Her Own House. Beautiful Mrs. Nagle Sues for Divorce Because Another Supplanted Her.

(Journal Special Service.) Oakland, Cal., Aug. 6.—Elizabeth J. Nagle, the beautiful young wife of J. L. Nagle, manager of the Newcastle Fruit Growers' exchange of Placer county, member of the California Fruit Growers' exchange of Sacramento and prominent in the business world of the capital and San Francisco, has sued for divorce on the ground of cruelty. The winsome bride of a year charges that another woman has supplanted her in her husband's affections. The interpreter, according to the complaint, is Mrs. S. H. Quinby, a woman of queenly beauty, to whom the alleged youthful mistress was compelled to bow in the beautiful home in the foothills.

Driven from Milwaukee as a result of the agitation by newspapers and ministers, proprietors of the Country club, the huge gambling establishment that flourished un molested for three years, are endeavoring to arrange for the opening of their Monte Carlo at Vancouver, Washington.

E. H. Hildebrand arrived in Portland this morning, and registered at the Belvidere. With several others who are interested in the fate of the big gambling club, he went to the city across the Columbia. Mr. Hildebrand is northwestern representative of Colonel Applegate, one of the heaviest owners of the club.

Hildebrand lives in Spokane and has been expected in Portland for several days. He plans, it is said, if possible to open the club here. He conducted a poolroom in Spokane similar to the Milwaukee club of this city, but it was recently closed. The laws of Washington make gambling a felony and Hildebrand made no attempt to reopen in Spokane. However, he is said to be planning the opening of a big resort a few miles away in Coeur d'Alene in Idaho, just across the boundary line from Washington. It is also hoped by promoters of the club that officials of the towns and counties may be more willing "to listen to reason" than those of Oregon and Washington counties.

Hildebrand's trip to Vancouver was guarded with great secrecy. He was accompanied by his intentions was made by poolroom followers, who are jubilant in the belief that his mission will be successful.

FIFTY CARS RUN AWAY LEAP TRACK AND BURN

(Journal Special Service.) San Bernardino, Aug. 6.—A Santa Fe freight train of fifty loaded cars burned up last night near Hesperia, on the desert side of the San Bernardino mountains, after leaping from the track at the end of a twelve-mile dash down the mountain side. As the train piled in a heap, it carried with it all the telegraph lines, completely paralyzing communication with the city. The cars had cut loose for water, when the brakes gave way, releasing the train. A number of trainmen were badly injured.

FUEL AS A REGULAR CROP

Farmer Will Ultimately Control Great Problem, Declares Secretary Wilson—Supply of Heat, Light and Power From Alcohol Producing Plants.

"Ultimately the farmer will control his own fuel problem by producing fuel as a regular crop on his farm," declared James Wilson, secretary of agriculture at the Portland hotel today. "He will estimate each year just how much fuel he will need and plant one or two acres of potatoes or other alcohol-producing plants. The fuel of the future will be alcohol. The process of making it is as simple as the old fashioned farmer's method of making starch. From alcohol will be secured the household supply of heat, light and power."

Secretary Wilson's service as a congressman from Iowa. Secretary Wilson is suffering somewhat from the effects of a trip into the forest reserve on Mount Rainier. He was threatened with lung fever on his trip to Portland, and when he reached here he was advised by his physicians to remain in absolute quiet until the fever passed away. Owing to this incident, he lost the two days that he had planned to spend investigating the forest reserve in Oregon with a view to inaugurating measures for reforestation.

The people of the eastern states are up against high lumber prices that amount to a wood famine. The woods that you have here are the finest woods we know anything about. The government made the mistake of not protecting or reproducing the trees of Wisconsin, Michigan and other states, and it will not do to make the same mistake over again. The hills that have been burned over among the forest.

Keeps His Prisoners From the Rockpile. Though sentenced to the rock pile, several county prisoners are having an easy time idling in cells at the county jail because Sheriff Stevens declines to send them to the rock pile. He says he will wait until the supreme court has passed on the referendum on the prison feeding bill, and he learns whether he is to receive 12½ cents a meal for feeding the prisoners.

BOMBARD TOWN IN MOROCCO

French and Spanish Warships Raze Casa Blanca When Moorish Troops Fire on Soldiers Who Were Landing.

Five Officers and Six Sailors Fall During Skirmish—Situation Grows More Serious—Moorish Leader Is Ordered to Surrender.

Tangiers, Aug. 6.—(Bulletin.)—More than 160 were killed outright and scores were wounded during the bombardment. A number of villages were fired, many being incinerated. The destruction of the land batteries is complete. One of the Moorish shells struck one of the battleships, but no fatalities are reported.

(Journal Special Service.) Tangier, Aug. 6.—French warships have bombarded Casa Blanca as a result of the Moorish tribesmen firing on troops which were landing to protect the French consulate. Many casualties are reported and the situation is the gravest since the beginning of the trouble.

It is said the Moorish consul leader has been ordered to surrender to the French consul under threat of the town being razed by French guns. Later advices show that five French officers and six sailors were injured. Spanish warships have joined the French vessels in bombarding the villages surrounding Casa Blanca.

The bombardment was started by the Gallies from the harbor. When the shells began breaking over the town the Moorish troops fell back allowing the French sailors to carry away the wounded. The French cruiser Dachu-laga and the Spanish cruiser Don Alvarado Vazan have joined the Gallies.

Many dwellings have been shattered and large reinforcements of tribesmen from the outlying districts were rushed to the town. The Moors sought the pardon of the French admiral for firing at the sailors, but this was refused. The French want absolute surrender of the Moorish commander.

SULTAN DESPOTIC RULER. Ruler of Nine Million People Leads an Isolated Life.

Abdul Aziz is only 25 years of age. He has, strange to say, European blood in his veins, for his grandmother, on the side of his father, the Sultan Muley Hassan, was an Irish woman. She was the wife of a sergeant named Dennis McCarthy, who, after a liaison with an officer, ran away from Gibraltar, where her husband's regiment was stationed, and reached Tangier. A girl was one of the imperial harem at Fez, where she became the mother of Muley Hassan, the late Sultan.

When he was 14 Muley Hassan died and the boy Abdul became the almost despotic ruler of 300,000 miles of territory, and probably 9,000,000 of turbulent Berbers, Moors, Arabs, and negroes. As soon as he was proclaimed sultan, (Continued on Page Two.)

GOOD POSITIONS GO-A-BEGGING

Labor Question Is Very Serious One With City Government.

With over 100 vacancies in the various departments of the city government and few applications to take the examinations prescribed by the civil service commission, the labor question has come to be a serious one with the municipality. Good positions are going a-begging for lack of applicants and the officials are at their wits' ends to provide help.

Streets Need Repairing. There are miles and miles of street improvements to be surveyed, thousands of feet of water mains to be laid, hundreds of blocks to be patrolled and protected from fire. This work requires more men than are at present available through eligibility.

Good wages are paid, as good about as private interests are willing to give, but even this does not seem to attract the men. Once passing an examination the applicant for a position is sure of it so long as he conducts himself properly and there are no "fresh straw-bosses" to keep nagging the employes.

Secretary Stephens states this morning that although 50 laborers are wanted in the water department to lay water mains at $2.50 a day for eight hours work and due notice had been given through the press, only two men appeared at the rooms of the commission this morning to make applications. This despite the fact that it was announced there would be no examinations of any kind connected with the offer.

Other Vacancies Open. In addition to the 50 vacancies in the water department, 15 men are wanted in the police department at salaries of $90 per month. Men from (Continued on Page Two.)

CITIZENS OF MILWAUKIE OPPOSED TO GAMBLING

Solid Citizens and Taxpayers Go on Record Against Notorious Club and Declare That Its Presence Has Been a Positive Detriment to Their City.

During the day a large number of the property owners signed the document, and it is expected that fully 75 per cent of the total freeholding class of the city will affix their signatures before the day is over. Prominent people of Milwaukee are rejoiced over the closure of the Milwaukee club, and take exception to the publication in a morning paper of statements to the contrary. It is denied that the club has been a benefactor to the city or that it has been responsible for low taxes, civic improvement or lawfulness.

"No taxpayer in Milwaukee ever derived any benefit from the money furnished the city by the Milwaukee club," (Continued on Page Two.)

Residents of Milwaukee, those who own property and pay the taxes there, are going on record as having been and still being opposed to the operation or maintenance of the notorious Milwaukee club. Today a resolution in the hands of J. W. Graale and others of the city is being circulated for the signatures of substantial citizens of the little community.

The resolution was authorized at a meeting of citizens held last night and is short and to the point. It relates that whereas the public has been led to believe through the publication of a petition signed by those not property owners that Milwaukee was in favor of the maintenance of the club that therefor the persons signing place themselves as unalterably opposed to the operation or maintenance of the club.

THREE YEARS FOR DECEIVING MAID

Soldier Sentenced to Prison for Lying to Sweetheart Nurse.

(Journal Special Service.) Leavenworth, Kas., Aug. 6.—Private James M. Pyne of the Sixteenth artillery, was tried by court-martial and sentenced to three years in the military penitentiary for breaching his promise to marry and defrauding a girl of money. The girl is an army nurse, whose name military authorities refuse to divulge.

Pyne became engaged to the girl, who lives away from home, and represented that he had passed an examination for promotion to officer, and then he borrowed money from her to fit her out in uniform. He borrowed it a second time, and shortly before the date set for marriage said he would lose the fortune left by his father if he married in five years.

WHITE WOMAN IS CHINAMAN'S MATE

Oriental Restaurant Owner Will Marry Pretty Widow in Washington.

(Journal Special Service.) Healdsburg, Cal., Aug. 6.—This city is greatly excited over the proposed marriage of Tum Chun, an Americanized Chinese, and Mrs. Gertrude Higginson, a comely widow of 30 years. They left here today for Washington, where there is no law to prevent them from marrying.

It is said the couple never met until a few weeks ago. He has conducted a restaurant in this city for 10 years or more and has accumulated considerable money. While en route to the coast on a hunting trip recently Tum met his fate when he stopped at the widow's cottage for a drink and a wedding.

She invited him in and gave him tea instead of water and as a result Tum returned home and began making arrangements for the wedding. Mrs. Higginson is an attractive woman, with more than ordinary intelligence. She came here from Goldfield, Nevada, where, she says, she has relatives. She made considerable money in stocks. She wears a fine diamond engagement ring and fancy ivory bracelet.

Their home has been fitted up and on the return from the north Mr. and Mrs. Tum Chun will go to housekeeping. (Continued on Page Two.)

MISTAKES WIFE FOR BURGLAR, KILLING HER

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 6.—Mistaking his wife for a burglar, H. N. Krumholz this morning shot and killed her in his own home.

With the finding of the badly decomposed body of Jack Leu, the missing Swiss dairyman, dangling from a tree on the McArthur farm, a mile east of New Era, Oregon, Sunday morning, the mystery surrounding the murder of Alexander Huber on the Cornell road on the night of July 16 is only intensified.

Instead of clearing up the assassination of Huber the suicide of Leu only serves to further complicate matters. The news of Leu's end, although occasioning considerable surprise to the Detectives Baty and Hellyer, who have been assiduously working on the murder case, has furnished them another mystery for solution as deep and inexplicable as Huber's tragic death.

Suicide Proved Alibi. Although suspicion naturally fell upon Leu as the slayer of Huber, in view of the fact that the man had been engaged in a desperate fight in Gruetti's saloon, Front and Yamhill streets, three days before Huber's murder, yet an alibi so convincing and complete was proved by the suspect that the detectives were performed compelled to admit that it would have been a physical impossibility for Leu to have been anywhere near the scene of the crime on the fatal night. Baffled by this development in a case, which at first sight appeared to be exceptionally easy of solution, the detectives had to formulate new theories, that so far have not led to the slightest clue, tending to throw any light on the crime.

Leu dropped from sight a day after Huber was found lying dead on the Cornell road with two bullet holes in his body. The disappearance was shrouded in mystery as deep as that surrounding the murder of Huber and despite a careful investigation no trace of Leu was found until his unrecognizable corpse was found swaying in the breeze on an improvised gibbet. The discovery of the body and the absolute evidence of suicide makes the (Continued on Page Two.)

FIND SERUM TO CURE MENINGITIS

Experiments Prove That Remedy Is Discovered for Dread Disease.

(Journal Special Service.) Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 6.—According to private advices received from New York from Castalia, Ohio, the news of John D. Rockefeller, has made possible the cure of meningitis. Dr. Simon Flexner of New York, has discovered a serum which will cure the dread disease. Experiments made at Castalia have demonstrated the efficiency of the serum.

"It is a most remarkable discovery," said Dr. S. Gorschak of Castalia, today. "Not one of the patients could have possibly been cured, and the first of the first attacked, and was almost dead when the serum was applied. No one thought any would recover. Yet now she is getting well."

"We doctors have said nothing about the matter, because of the fact that the cases were of an experimental nature. However, we have kept through Dr. Flexner, in constant touch with the progress of new cases, and for the first time, we have demonstrated absolutely that the serum will cure meningitis. One of the worst diseases in the human calendar has been conquered without doubt."

Physicians say the serum is one of the discoveries of the age, and is saving thousands of lives. The percentage of deaths in meningitis is over 90. The disease is almost fatal.

SICK CHILD DENIED MEDICAL ATTENTION

Much concern has been aroused in Sellwood because of the refusal of J. D. Hummaston, said to be a worshiper at the shrine of the Tangled Tongues, to call a physician to attend his 16-year-old daughter, who is ill with typhoid fever.

Hummaston is obstinate in his refusal to call a physician, say the neighbors, and will do nothing but pray for the girl's recovery. The home, 117 Linn street, Sellwood, was quarantined some time ago when the typhoid was first reported. A report was made to City Health Officer Pohl yesterday of the fact that Hummaston had refused to give his daughter medical attendance and Mrs. Lois R. Baldwin visited the Hummaston home in an effort to persuade the girl's parents that earthly skill is sometimes beneficial in contagious diseases.
