many who are more than pleased with Gregon conditions and resources. He has written a letter to the advertising department of the O. R. & N. company, asking that packages of Portland and Oregon literature be sent to him for use among friends in Germany.

"A number of young German farmers with whom I became acquainted three years ago while abroad have written me lately expressing a wish to come to the state to live," he said. "They have asked my advice about where it might be most profitable to live. Being a resident of Wisconsia I naturally advised them to come to my state. Within the last two weeks, however, I have yisted the Canadian Pacific district, and also Washington and Oregon. Nowhere was I so favorably impressed with the prolific nature of soil and nowhere did I find so promising a future as in the vicinity of Portland, Oregon. I now wish to advise these young farmers to look into the matter of locating in the west. For this purpose I kindly ask you to send me at Milwaukee eight of ten parceis of literature, ready for mailing, and I will gladly pay the postage to Germany.

"Especially fascinating and convincing to any one who has not personally been at Portland is the new booklet just out. I think they will bear good fruit."

Benedict of Hoquiam has violated a state law by taking a minor with him when making his rounds of the saloons last Sunday. There is a penalty of $1,000 or 100 days in the county jail or both. It is further rumored that Mr. Benedict will be obliged to face a trial on the charge. About 100 of the most prominent business men of Hoquiam have organized the Hoquiam Business Men's Proized the Hoquiam Business Men's Protective association. The object is stated as a desire to secure a square deal, and those present at the meeting expressly stated that they were not in sympathy with nor intended to be violators of the clesing law. They will seek to have the constitutionality of the law determined and will ask for a repeal of the city ordinance covering Sunday closing. Railroad of- Park Superintendent Monteith disficials and commercial bodies are re- charged him and as a result of which charges were later filed against Montelth on the ground that he padded city payrolls and kept a horse at city expense. dered his discharge from the city's service.

Monteith was the first witness called in his own defense and gave in detail an explanation of all of the charges that had been brought against him. He entered vigorous denials of many of the statements made against his conduct by the former employes. Monteith was under crossfire for nearly an hour.

Relative to the charge of padding the payroll Monteith explained that Frank McClain, who Passig alleges was benefited, worked during the entire month of June as the payroll shows. He stated that he drew McClain's monthly pay in order to accommodate the latter and signed it with power of attorney after being properly witnessed. He testified that he had used his private buggy and horse in the service of the city and presented receipts to show that he had purchased feed for the maintenance of the horse.

The board admonished Superintendent Montieth not to do any work for any person on the city's time in the future. Aside from that no further action was taken by the board.

the efficiency of the enginemen on the Harriman system is offered by the statement from an authoritative source that out of 1,196 "surprise tests," in only 16 instances did the engineers fail to observe the signals set in the use of safety appliances. In these days of unprecedented wreckage of trains and dire losses of life, this assertion takes on added significance, and, inasmuch as it is indorsed by the management of the Harriman roads, should be filed away by the roads' employes as valuable evi-dence in future possible differences be-tween employer and employe.

Suppress Safety Inventions. The statement was doubtless elicited because of the meeting here of the commission appointed to investigate the safety appliance situation in the United States. Claims have been made that rallroad managers have actually suppressed valuable inventions for insuring the safety of passengers, buying the the safety of passengers, buying the patents and thus procuring control for non-use of devices which would render traveling much safer.

It is asserted that the roads have done this because they followed the short-sighted policy of straining to pay dividends instead of improving their systems, notwithstanding often damages systems, notwithstanding often damages for injuries to passengers and employes cost more than the safety device would have cost to prevent the accident.

It may not be generally known that congress several years ago passed a law requiring the use of certain safety appliances, which the roads up to date have ignored, contenting themselves with adopting the appliances in a leisurely manner, a few miles a year being added to the proportion of their systems on which the plain law was being obeyed.

Disregard Federal Laws.

Disregard Federal Laws.

No one appears to know whether or not to expect anything substantial from the safety device commission now working under the orders of the interstate commerce commission here, but to the extent that hoping may have televathic influence on the members of the commission, everyone here is "a-hopin."

To be fair, the Harriman system's authorized statement on the subject should be appended, notwithstanding it contains the admission that the federal law relating to safety appliances has been disregarded for the greater part, only a percentage of their miles having been supplied with the things the law commands.

Geological Survey Will Investigate Mineral Deposits in Forest Reserves.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, Aug. 8 .- In Oregon and all national forest states, the geological survey has undertaken the thorough investigation of the mineral deposits in the forest areas thus set aside. It has been the consistent aim of the officers of the forest service to foster the fullest possible development of mining within the areas included in the national forests. Many fraudulent entries have, however, been discovered which cover non-mineral lands or deposits that by no possibility could be developed into paying mines, and it is clearly to the benefit of legitimate mining enterprises that the "wild cat" mining companies be prevented from ob-ing companies be prevented from ob-taining title to the land claimed. With these aims in view the geolo-gists of the survey are to investigate the lands of the national forests.
