IN EGGS AGAIN

Market Better With Smaller Receipts and Much Better Home Quality.

Front street features:
Further egg improvement.
Chicken market doing better.
Tomato market is better.
Crab apples sell rather low.
Butter market on an edge.
Cabbage market fractionally lower.
Potatoes gaining firmness.
Infected fruits are oiled.
Peach market doing better.
Watermelons are of fine quality.
Hard to get good cantaloupes.

There is a further improvement in the tone of the egg market along Front street. Prices are slowly advancing and local values are at last taking the place that shtfully belongs to them. Eastwitten the place of the stock than usual. The only eggs coming from local points that are not first-class at this time are those received by dealers who would not take the price ruling along the street and held their stocks so long they deteriorated in quality. These kind of eggs are selling today along Front street at 21½ and 22c a dozen, while the market for first-class local stock is really 23 and 23½c. A large bunch of old stock was reported sold this morning at 21½c a dozen. Receipts of local eggs are not so liberal and the trade experiences no difficulty in selling all that come at the price listed by The Journal. Further Egg Improvement.

The butter market is in a mixed condition and may advance at any time. The situation is very firm locally but the fact that this market is 2½c a pound higher than Spokane and the sound causes the local trade to go very slow with new price-making. It is very seldom that the Portland butter market is higher than the sound. Eastern butter, too, is in such a position that it is to easy to advance local values at the present time. Several cars of eastern butter are now en route to the coast and this is holding the market in check somewhat. Some small arrivals of eastern butter have already been received but the volume of outside received but the volume of outside received the state of the same than the same check the same than the same check the same than the same contents the sam Butter May Advance Again, Cheese handlers report a duller tone in the local market owing to the enormous supplies purchased by jobbers during the previous week.

Chicken Market Doing Better. Chicken Market Doing Better.

In some quarters a fractional advance is quoted in the price of chickens by the local trade. Receipts are quite fair with supplies and demand about equal at current values. Old stock is moving at 12% and 13c for mixed and 13 and 13%c for straight coops of hens. There is a growing demand for young hen turkeys but the call is not very heavy, as yet. Young geese are in good shape; will find a fair call.

Infected Fruits Are Oiled.

Late yesterday afternoon Fruit Inspector Deich paid a visit to Front street and as a reminder of his visit poured coal oil over several dozen boxes of apples which he condemned. The fruit, according to the inspector, was badly infected. Regular inspections of fruit will now begin along the wholesale district and shippers of wormy or infected fruits had better keep them at home and save express charges.

ROUGH "TOMS" ARE STILL RATHER LOW

"Tomato market is cleaning up somewhat better, but there is still quite an amount of "rough" stock on hand, which is selling at low prices in order to keep moving. During the past day or so most of the tomatoes have been arriving in a green condition, while a short time ago they . were too ripe. For fancy stock . the market is fractionally higher."-Levy & Spiegl.

COMING TO AN END TELEGRAPHERS STRIKE HURTS

tirely in Hands of Bears, Who Make Prices.

New York, Aug. 10.—There was considerable apprehension displayed in view of possible results should the telegraphers strike spread, as it would undoubtedly serve to aggravate an already threatening situation. The stock market was very weak today with buying confined to the demands of the bears, who continued to be aggressive.

The bank statement was not as good as expected. The banking interests have not shown any disposition to protect the market to any extent, which has served to encourage the bears in their attacks.

CHICAGO WHEAT VALUES.

Albany, Or. Aug. 10.—Crop conditions in Linn county are much better than expected. Each day brings in reports of good yields and of the excellent quality of the product. Much of the grain is weighing in very heavy and goes from 61 to 61½ pounds per bushel. The recent rains have done no damage to the crops as far as can be judged at present and many pronounce it a blessing as it will give the late potatoes just the impetus needed to make a first class crop. The oat crop is a good one and the quality of the grain is excellent.

The harvest season is now at its height and with the return of good weather will again become active and the crops of the county soon gathered and harvested. There seems to be a general feeling that the season as a whole is much better than anticipated and that the Linn county farmer will have no reason for complaint is generally conceded.

Harvest Is Resumed.

Harrisburg, Or., Aug. 10.—The heavy rain of Wednesday put a stop to the threshing in this locality for a few days. One machine resumed operations today but the most of them will not resume work until the first of next week. Most of the grain north of this place has been averaging about 30 bushels. They came to represent an invested capital of more than $1,000,000. In-stead of streetcar accidents and auto-mobile collisions, people in those days read of stage drivers striking against the rule compelling them to wear tall hats or of stage coach races between rival drivers down Broadway.
