

SECOND ESCAPE OF NOTORIOUS CONVICT

Herman Wendt, Counterfeiter, Again at Large on McNeill's Island, With a Cordon of Deputies About Him—Flees Despite Former Experience.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 10.—For the second time in the course of a few months Herman Wendt, a convict at the McNeill's island federal penitentiary, has escaped, and since noon yesterday, when he was first missed, a man hunt has been vigorously pressed over the island. Wendt was employed by the prison authorities on the new wing of the penitentiary which is under construction. When the prisoners filed into the big dining-room of the penitentiary yesterday for the noonday meal, Wendt was missing. The alarm was immediately given and word was sent to the United States marshal's office here. Chief Deputy Marshal Frank Crosby left at once for McNeill's island, where he put a large force of special deputy marshals and all of the available prison guards searching for the runaway.

Cordon About the Island.
All the roads leading across the island have been patrolled since yesterday, a close watch has been kept along the beaches of the island and in addition men have been beating the forests in an attempt to uncover the hiding places of the criminal.

To prevent the possibility of Wendt escaping should he manage to pass the cordon of guards and deputies watching the beach and secure a rowboat, a water patrol was also started around the entire island. To make assurance doubly sure all the rowboats belonging to ranchmen and campers on the island were taken in charge by the deputy marshals and placed under guard at the penitentiary.

Bloodhounds at Work.
Bloodhounds are being used today. They were taken to the island last night by Deputy Marshal Laibe from Black Diamond. The hounds were set to work last night as soon as they arrived on the island on the theory that they would do more effective work while the trail was fresh.

Marshal Hopkins went to the island last night and took personal charge of the man hunt. He is determined to press it with more vigor than any hunt for criminals yet made on the island.

Wendt is regarded by the authorities as a desperate man, and also a very slippery criminal. He was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for stealing in the manner that astonished all who saw him. It is vouched for that he ate three loaves of bread, several pounds of meat besides other delicacies, and to cap the climax, drank 14 cups of hot, strong coffee. After which he lay down and slept nearly 24 hours. He was punished for sleeping by having his good time taken from him, being confined for a time in a dungeon and compelled to wear a ball and chain two months.

NORTH BEACH HERO. SPOKANE TALKS REFORM

Moore Tells Chicagoans How He Cleaned Up City and Bounced Gamblers.

(Journal Special Service.)
Chicago, Aug. 10.—A man who is believed to be capable of giving the police here an object lesson in municipal administration of the gambling vice and crime in Chicago. He is C. Herbert Moore, mayor of Spokane, whose "Red alert" is known to every crook and gambler in the city. Moore came to Chicago three weeks ago the last gambler in Spokane left for other fields. The war against gambling and vice in that city had been brief but determined.

"It is an easy matter to suppress gambling, provided officials are in earnest," said Moore. "There is no trick to it at all. In Spokane, for instance, there was a state law against gambling in any form, but for years the poolroom business thrived.

"When we decided to stamp this out it was deemed advisable to do away with the wine rooms in saloons and restaurants, to order disorderly women from the streets and the men with whom they were associated to leave town. It was easier than we thought and the police soon did the trick."

WILL BE SHORT. TAKE GREAT CARE TO PROTECT CARDINAL

President Small Says Strike Will Not Last Long.

(Journal Special Service.)
Oakland, Cal., Aug. 10.—Samuel J. Small, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, does not believe that the present strike of operators will continue more than two or three days. Last night he stated that Colonel Oliver, president of the Western Union, would be in possession of all facts concerning the strike today and that he could settle it if he so desired within a few hours.

He stated further that Oakland operators had expressed the desire to go out on a strike, but that the officers of the union were holding them back.

President Clowry has issued a statement, which was received here last night, in which he claims that the whole trouble in Los Angeles and elsewhere is due to the discharge of an employee who deliberately delayed messages. The Western Union official says the Los Angeles operator was discharged after several days' investigation of his work.

He maintains that the Chicago operators have no grievances and that the strike is the work of a few individuals who seek the control of the company out of their own heads.
