with plans for developing his ining and other properties, Senator Stewart allowed his eightleth birthday today to pass almost unnoticed. He was reminded of the anniversary, however, by the receipt of several messages of congratulation from some of his former associates in public life, men whom he has met but seldom in recent years but who still remember the lavish hospitality which the Nevada senator was wont to dispense during his many years of residence in the national capital. Few men, even among the money kings of bonanza days, have had a more varied and wonderful experience than William M. Stewart. The accum-ulation and loss of two immense for-tunes and the winning of a third at an age when the great majority of men are relegated to the retired ilst seem but minor incidents in his wonderful career. Among the roles he has filled in his time and the most of them with marked success, have been those of senator, law-yer, editor, orator, Yale college man, In-dian fighter, prospector, speculator and solentific farmer. umphs to again wrest fortune from the rocks.

When he returned to Nevada the last time it was known among his friends that he was almost "down and out" financially. But he went to work with his old-time courage and with his knowledge of mines and mining things soon began to come his way again. He made several lucky strikes and in-vestments and almost before a year had elapsed he had made a good start to-ward retrieving his fortunes. It is be-lieved that he is now worth at least a quarter of a militon and possibly much more. He has shelved his social and political ambitions and declares that this fortune—his third—will not go like the others. When he returned to Nevada the last others.
