"A committee representing the discharged employes walted upon me this afternoon and I fully explained to them why it was absolutely impossible for the company to reinstate the operators, and they were further informed that if the remaining operators at San Francisco and West Oakland left their keys in sympathy with the discharged operators it would be in direct violation of the understanding with the commissioner of labor and the men must assume the responsibility for it.

"As to the alleged cases of discrimination, the operators against whom such discrimination has been practiced have the right to bring the matter up for consideration under the provision of the letter of June 29, 1907, exchanged between President Clowry and Commissioner Neill, but so far as I am aware, no employe of the West Oakland or San Francisco office has seen fit to avail himself of this right."

cipal features of the resolutions adopted.

Sanitary conditions at the Western Union, too, it is said, have been the worst that it is possible to compel operators to work under and a radical and immediate change is demanded. It was stated this morning that present conditions are such that it is a constant source of wonder that the telegraph men have escaped an epidemic of discose.

Western Union business during the past 34 hours has been more seriously crippled than at any time since the strike began. Out of a daily average of 8,000 to 12,000 messages received and sent out, the office has only been able to handle between 600 and 700.

Messaggers are no where to be secured and the business generally is demoralized. About 10 per cent of the usual amount is all that is being handled. Over the wires of the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph company, however, the Western Union is dispatching as much of its business as possible and the wires of the former are being kept busy.

Men Get Other John.

Men Get Other Jobs.

A large number of men who attended the local union meeting yesterday were not present this morning, having secured positions elsewhere, and announcement was made at the session today that new places had been offered to numerous other striking operators who will within a day or two be found at other occupations.

Resolutions were also adopted this morning thanking the Messenger Boys' Protective union for its sympathetic help in the strike and tendering the aid of the telegraphers in case it is needed. The resolutions were signed by the committee, consisting of G. L. Prag. F. B. Tracey, Clarence Gibbs, J. A. McDevitt and P. D. Morgan.

Manager Wm. Dumars of the Western Union states that the following message was sent out this afternoon by A. O. Sinks, local chairman of the O. R. At the last session we provided for the payment of the $54,000 deficiency warrants and $50,000 for further carrying on the prosecutions. All of this fund has been exhausted, and it is my understanding that the banks of Boise have refused to cash the deficiency warrants now issued because of the uncertainty of the next legislature making appropriations to meet their payment." A. O. Sinch, local director in the order, stated this morning that there had been no orders received from the secretary at St. Louis relative to the situation and that in all probability the same conditions would prevail as if there were no critical conditions.

"Our work is altogether separate from the commercial business," said Mr. Sinch, "and the Western Union business we handle is very small. The railroads must be safeguarded against a sudden paralyzing of the despatching service, and we are in honor bound to keep our contracts with the railroad companies. C. P. Snell Attempts to Aid Prosecution But Becomes Badly Tangled.

(Journal Special Service.) San Francisco, Aug. 14.—The governnent's case against Benson and Perrin, on trial charged with land swindles, was badly shaken yesterday afternoon when the defense cross-examined C. P. Snell. The witness answered the questions put to him by the government very readily, but fell down hard when he was probed by the lawyers for the defense. His story failed to hold water and he was badly tangled by the time he left the stand.

Lawyers for the defense claim that victory is theirs since hearing Snell's testimony. This man was supposed to bring out many vital points in his testimony and apparently did so when telling his story for the prosecution. When the cross-examination began, however, he was tangled on many of these and the case looked much brighter for the accused men.

The will was offered in the county court for probate, but it was learned that neither of the witnesses to the will had seen Fisk sign the document, nor had they signed it in the presence of Fisk, as required by law, and Judge Webster this morning made an order refusing to admit the will to probate.

Some ranges "when they are good they are very, very good, but when they are bad they are horrid." The "Eclipse" is the only range that never is anything but very, very good-and when it is good it is perfect. How can you sell a $60.00 machine for $25.00? We have to answer this question a number of times each day. The machines are made expressly for us and are shipped to us in carload lots direct from the factory, and these cars don't stop along the road to pick up agents. The small price constitutes but two elements-the exact factory cost and our small selling profit. Not only is the Gevurtz "Special" a $60.00 machine, but it is the very best of $60.00 machines. If it were not we would not give it the name of Gevurtz "Special." Come in and try one of these machines. Our lady is pleased to demonstrate their superiority.
