

NO MAINS, SAYS BOARD

City Water Committee Goes on Record as Opposed to Extending the Supply to Assist in the Sale of Real Estate.

Just as soon as the legality of the $1,000,000 water bond issue is affirmed by the courts and the sale of the bonds negotiated, the water board will begin laying the additional Bull Run water main and the extension of mains to take in the outlying suburbs.

The board at its meeting yesterday afternoon decided that it would begin work immediately, and, under the provisions of the charter the water assessment plan will be identical to the same as that carried out in sewer construction. This plan will enable the city to proceed much more rapidly than at present, it being possible now to lay water mains only to the extent of the funds appropriated each year by the council for this purpose. Heretofore this fund has always been exhausted before the year was half gone and during the last six months practically no work can be done in this department.

Under the new system of procedure provided in the water amendment to the charter the residents in any portion of the city may have their districts a network of water mains provided they take the initiative and pay for the laying of the mains.

The board went on record yesterday as opposed to extending water mains to assist in the sale of real estate in any portion of the city, when ex-Councilman John P. Sharkey asked the board to lay mains to the Vancouver addition. Mr. Sharkey was informed that a number of other real estate companies promoting additions had their own mains. Sharkey maintained that the laying of the mains would not only benefit Vancouver residents but that there were also districts beyond Vancouver which would be benefited.

Paving work on Grand avenue from East Everett to Belmont street will be held up temporarily until the water board can lay a large main on that thoroughfare. The contractor appeared before the board yesterday and asked that the pipe be furnished so that work could be prosecuted at once. The city has enough pipe on hand to complete a portion of the work and in the meantime will provide more. It is not expected that the work will be long delayed.

Two 20-inch mains will be laid to the north end warehouse district in order to give better fire protection. The pipes will be laid on Lovejoy street from Tenth to Fourteenth and on Fourteenth from Flanders to Thurman.

STRUCK COPPER AT GRASS ROOTS

Josephine County Mine Paid Expenses From 13-Foot Depth.

OWNED EXCLUSIVELY BY A. D. LE ROY

"Yellow Jacket" Is Name of Producer—Ore Runs $200 to the Ton as Against Total Charges for Mining, Etc., of $12.00.

If any evidence has been lacking to prove that Oregon is a great copper state final conviction comes from Josephine county, where A. D. LeRoy has developed a copper mine that paid its own expenses "from the grass roots." At a depth of 13 feet Mr. LeRoy struck rich copper ore and began shipping. His total cost of mining, wagon haul, sacks, freight rate from Merline to Tacoma and smelting there averaged $12.50 per ton and his ore has averaged gross better than $200 per ton.

The mine has been named the "Yellow Jacket." It is owned exclusively by Mr. LeRoy, who has no intention of incorporating it but will keep sole possession and operate it. He says: "I have been mining for many years in different states and countries, and I know of no state that has greater opportunities or richer resources for the mining man than he can find in southern Oregon. I am constantly wondering at the amount of advertising that other mining regions receive while Oregon gets practically no publicity along this line of industry. This state has some of the greatest gold and copper mines in the world and has only been scratched. It is time to develop and development to make southern Oregon one of the richest and most prosperous mining districts in the country."

The "Yellow Jacket" does not need money. It is able to support itself and pay its own way, including all development, plant work, machinery and operating, and furthermore, it has already reimbursed me for the purchase price of the land. Where can you find a country that will beat this record for a copper mine?

Mr. LeRoy's first purchase was 160 acres, three miles north of Merline and on the Southern Pacific railway, where for years people had been passing by afoot and with vehicles and seeing nothing but the scenery. Mr. LeRoy decided it was a good copper prospect, and he sank on it and struck pay ore at 13 feet depth. He then sank a working shaft and drifted into the hill. From the first strike his ore values ran 60 per cent copper, 11 in gold and 12 ounces of silver to the ton. The vein filling is about five feet wide, with 12 inches of the higher grade ore.

On the 40-foot level, at a point about 100 feet from the line of the shaft, which was blind on the surface. This vein is 30 feet wide and carries 4 per cent of copper. Beyond this vein the tunnel again encountered the rich vein struck at the beginning, showing that the two veins intersect on the hill at a depth between 50 and 100 feet. Indications are that the main lode has been struck.

The owner has purchased 320 acres in addition to the first 160 acres, and a drift has been driven 300 feet of tunnel, all out of the proceeds of the ore sales. His plan is to sink 500 feet on the rich vein, with levels every 40 feet, and put in hoists, pumps and all necessary plant for a first-class mine. He will build a smelter there to treat Galice and Pickett Creek ores, and it is his intention to make the smaller of sufficient capacity to handle the ore tonnage of the southern Oregon district. Properly developed the "Yellow Jacket" will prove to be one of the greatest copper producers in the country and if Mr. LeRoy's plans for development of the smelter industry at Merline are carried out the project will be one of the most important to southern Oregon mining interests.

YOU CANNOT KILL DEER NOR SHOOT CHASING DOGS

State Law Passed Because of the Ravages of Wild Animals Upon Domestic—Hounds Will Better Protect Deer Even Though They Chase Them.

Deputy state game wardens are prosecuting farmers in the Willamette valley for running deer with hounds, in ignorance of the fact that the last legislature so amended the game law that it is not a crime to run hounds anywhere in the state except in Coos and Curry counties. G. T. Kelly, a prominent ranchman of North Yamhill, visiting in Portland, this morning said that several of his neighbors had been heavily fined because their hounds had run deer.

Justices of the peace who imposed the fines also are in ignorance of the change made by the legislature. Under the law as it stood previously it was a misdemeanor to run deer with dogs, but this provision is now restricted to Coos and Curry counties in any other counties in the state hounds may be run at pleasure.

The new law prohibits the killing of any deer being chased by dogs and to kill a dog that is running a deer is under the new law a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $50 to $200. The provision of the new law which is part of section 2010, found on page 142 of the 1907 session laws follows: "Any person killing any deer being pursued by dogs, at any time, or having in possession any deer or carcass or part of a deer during the season when it is unlawful to take or kill such deer, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $50 nor more than $200, and any person killing, maiming, or injuring dogs in pursuit of any deer shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $50 nor more than $200; provided, that in the counties of Coos and Curry it shall be unlawful at any time, to hunt any wild deer or deer with intent to kill or injure such deer."

This section prohibits the running of deer with dogs only in Coos and Curry counties, but it prohibits the killing at any time of the year of deer being run by dogs. The new law also protects the dogs that run the deer.

This law was passed, said Kelly, because of the ravages of the wild animals upon their domestic animals, entailing a loss to the farmers of the Willamette valley of at least $1,000,000 a year. The hounds run these wild and wild animals, saving the farmers' stock. But under the old law if hounds were set after wild animals they invariably ended by running some deer, subjecting their owners to fine and rendering the dogs liable to be killed. The result was that the dogs would not be used and the wild animals had things nearly their own way.

In the past put out of the sheep and goat business under the old law because I could not turn my hounds loose," said Kelly. "The hounds would keep away coyotes, coyotes, wild cat, lynx, foxes and wolves, but I couldn't let them go because they might run deer. When I quit I had less than half as many sheep and goats as when I began."

The running of hounds and forbidding men to kill the deer they run, is a better protection to the deer than the old law was. Hounds will rarely run a deer down and kill it, and unless some hunter shoots it the deer will escape. But while hounds are loose they will clear the woods of the animals that prey on the deer, in the spring a wild cat will kill nine or ten fawns to feed its kittens and the number of wild cats is so great that they destroy more deer than the hunters would do.

"But the game wardens and justices of the peace do not seem to know about this new law, and the farmers do not want to be fined for violating a law that has been repealed. And they want to run their hounds to protect their stock."

WILL DISCUSS FREIGHT RATES

Lumber Manufacturers' Association Plans Talks at Banquet.

At a banquet to be given at the Portland Commercial club tomorrow evening by the Oregon and Washington Lumber Manufacturers' association, the question of a proposed raise of freight rates by the transcontinental rail lines will be discussed. Loggers and millmen generally have been invited.

The association claims to have 200 members, and a mill capacity of 1,500,000,000 feet of lumber per annum. The committee in charge of the rate controversy has prepared a table showing the present rate charged on lumber hauled from Oregon to the middle west states. The present rates are 50 cents per 100 pounds to Missouri river, Mississippi river and Chicago common points, 52 1/2 cents to St. Louis common points and 40 cents to St. Paul common points. Measured by a comparison with 1,000 feet of lumber the increase alleged by the committee will be $1.50 per 1,000 feet to Missouri river, $3 per 1,000 feet to Mississippi river, $3 to Chicago, $2.25 to St. Louis and $1 to St. Paul common points.

The railroads claim that they have been hauling lumber east at rates much below the rates charged on other products of the country, and that the present rates are below cost of operation when the empty car movement is against them. They assert that the lumber mills have multiplied many times and their output has so largely increased that the lumber millmen attempt to monopolize all cars available for eastbound shipments.

M'INTOSH NAMED AS NEW SECRETARY

Former Deputy Sheriff Selected to Succeed McPherson by Civil Service Commission.

W. W. McIntosh, formerly deputy sheriff and later employed in the county assessor's office, was yesterday selected by the civil service commission to succeed Otho L. McPherson as secretary of the commission and assumed his new duties today. Mr. McPherson, who resigned to take a position with the Oregon Packing company, will remain at the office a few days in order to acquaint Mr. McIntosh with the details of the commission work.

Mr. McIntosh is a firm believer in civil service reform and announces that he will maintain the free merit system brought to such a high standard by Secretary McPherson.

The new secretary resigned from the sheriff's office some time ago because he was not satisfied with the conduct of the office affairs by Sheriff Stevens. His resignation caused much attention, since he hinted at a scandal in his letter of resignation.

DAVID PETERS DIES AT HOME IN POLK

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Dallas, Or., Aug. 16.—David Peters, an old and highly respected citizen of Polk county, died at his farm home, some nine miles north of Dallas, last night aged about 70 years. Mr. Peters was a wealthy and influential German and left much property in this county. He was a widower and leaves two children, D. D. Peters of Dallas and Mrs. Richard Remple of Ferrisdale.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC IS WASTING GOOD TIMBER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Eugene, Aug. 16.—The Southern Pacific sawmills at Marcola on the McKenzie river are wasting slabwood and timber which could be cut up into lath and various kinds of lumber, to the amount of $50,000, because as a corporation they can not sell timber or lumber. While they have a great deal of demand for timbers and lumber, the supply must fit these demands exactly, and whenever a piece of timber cannot be made into anything for which they have use, it goes to the burner.

One man a short time ago offered the company $100 a day for their waste, but they could not give it to him. On that basis the Southern Pacific is losing $30,000 a year at least on three sawmills.

C. H. Cooper's Third Stroke. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Astoria, Or., Aug. 16.—C. H. Cooper, for over thirty years prominent dry goods and clothing merchant of this city, has been taken to the hospital suffering with a paralytic stroke, and his life is despaired of. This is the third attack during the last six months. Mr. Cooper retired from business about three months ago on account of ill health.
