NEAR PORTLAND

Western Cooperaage Company Desired to Locate Buildings Here If Possible.

SUITABLE SITE IS DIFFICULT TO GET

Concern Recently Purchased 16,000 Acres of Timber Land in Clatsop County Which It May Sell If Plans Do Not Materialize.

The Western Cooperaage company, a large concern operating at different points in California, Oregon and Washington, has been considering seriously the construction of a plant near Portland, but on account of a difficulty in obtaining a site from the Port of Portland, that is acceptable, the plant may not be built here.

Recently this company purchased 16,000 acres of timber land in Clatsop county, adjacent to Young's bay below Astoria. It was thought the time this timber was purchased that a plant would be built either at Astoria or Portland, but on account of the difficulty mentioned above, these plans have been delayed and it is very uncertain if a plant will be built in Oregon at all.

The Port of Portland offered a 26-year lease on a strip adjoining the dry dock near St. Johns. This commission has refused. The cooperaage company has stipulated that the channel must be maintained by the company and responsible safeguards against fire provided. The cooperaage company is willing to comply with most of these stipulations, but wishes to have the privilege of buying the property if it is desired at any time within the 25 years.

The company is a large one. They make barrels, staves, heads, tubs, wooden pails and kindred commodities. They are backed by plenty of capital. Watson Eastman, of this city, is president; William Sullivan, Los Angeles, vice-president; and Gustavus F. Aberdeen, secretary and treasurer. These officers own the entire stock of the firm.

"I intend going east next week," said Watson Eastman, in speaking of the future plans of the company, in the offices at Sixth and Morrison streets yesterday. "I have secured suitable terms from the Port of Portland. It may be that we shall decide to sell out our timber holdings in Clatsop county if we change our plans. It will not decrease the value of our land, but we might choose to deliberate whatever the decision may be. Oregon timber is as good as ready money."

CLIFFS ON NORTH BANK Specially Announced Division Point For The Portland and Seattle.

At least half a dozen different towns on the Portland and Seattle railway claimed they were the division point, but it is now officially announced that Cliffs is where the district terminals are going in, the railroad company having bought a section of land at this point before there was any right-of-way purchased along the line.

Cliffs is beautifully situated. The business part of town lays along the river and is as level as a floor, while the residence part has an elevation of 100 feet, overlooking the river. It is surrounded by the choicest fruit lands in the country. Cliffs is the gateway to and from the Kluckwau valley, where lumber, wheat and stock will find its way to market.

Track-laying will reach Cliffs the latter part of August and here the track-laying crew will be held for many weeks, as some of the heaviest rock work on the line is a few miles west of Cliffs, and the track-laying crew will lay many miles of storage tracks at Cliffs and the grounds ready for roundhouse, shops, and the necessary instrumental needs at this point.

After the grounds have been prepared it will take a year to complete the building.

Just as We Thought!

Our acceptance of the "challenge" of other local dealers for a thorough comparative test of player pianos has been allowed to stand an entire week, without a single response. Their silence, and failure to acknowledge our reply, proves that they have not the faith in their instruments, that their "challenge" implied. It was just as we expected, however.

Hereafter, when other dealers make claims of "equal" or "superior" to the genuine Pianola—the standard of the world—the public will know just how much weight to give them.

All that we ask, and that which we desire, is a comparison of the Pianola with any other instrument on the market—bar none—knowing that
