

WALDO HALL, THE PRIDE OF O. A. C.

New Dormitory, to Be the School Home of Hundreds of Girl Students.

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)
Corvallis, Aug. 18.—"Waldo Hall," the handsome $80,000 girls' dormitory at the Oregon Agricultural college, is rapidly nearing outward completion. It is a magnificent structure and a credit not only to the city of Corvallis and to Benton county, but to the entire state. Its dimensions are 102x223 feet, and it contains a total of 397 rooms and closets.

There are 127 bedrooms of an average size of about 15x20 feet; these rooms have 12-foot ceilings and each is fitted with a lavatory and provided with hot and cold water. The building is furnished with steam heat throughout and each room is lighted with electricity. There are 14 bathrooms, each fitted with a $60-pound castiron, porcelain-lined tub and there are 15 wash toilets. The dining room is located in the basement and is 48x57 feet. There are two reception rooms, one 32x25 and another 25x20.

Small Oast of Living There.
The building is provided with cooking, sewing and laundry laboratories for work in domestic science. Pressed brick is used in this building, the main body being in buff with trimmings of chocolate bricks.

The O. A. C. will furnish the entire building for use of the girl students, except that each girl will furnish her own bedding. The board will cost $2.50 per week. The south half of the building will be completed by the end of September, when school opens, and students will then be admitted. By Christmas, Mr. Snook, the contractor, will have the handsome structure completed. The cost of the building will be between $75,000 and $80,000.

FISH BITE ON ELECTRIC BULB

Mysterious Chubs Caught in Crook County Lake in Novel Manner.

In a deep lake on Paulina mountain in southern Crook county is a species of pea green colored chub that is so timid no one has been able to snare them with a fly or spoon, and they will not touch bait of any kind on a hook. The record has just been broken in this regard by Judge J. W. Robinson of Olympia, who, by the use of an electric fly and tackle, caught a large basket of these rare fish.

so pliant that it could be handled on an ordinary copper reel. At the end of the line he fastened a small spoon about six inches above which he attached to the leader a miniature incandescent electric light bulb.

When he went to central Oregon he carried one of these outfits, unknown to his rival, Burrows. They heard about the wonderful pea green chubs of Paulina lake long after they arrived at the mountain, and both had secretly determined to take a few nice specimens from the depths of the lake. The better part of a day, morning and evening, was spent by both, but Mr. Burrows came away without having a nibble or a strike.

MURDERERS START "HAPPY FAMILY" IN CELL IN THE COUNTY JAIL

Murderer George L. Blodgett, who shot and killed Alice Minthorn, alias Gordon, a variety actress, at the Van Noy hotel in this city in March of last year, and whose execution is stayed pending decision on an appeal to the state supreme court, erstwhile author and would-be philanthropist, has added another occupation to his necessarily limited list at the Multnomah county jail. For months past Blodgett has divided his time alternately between writing, reading and training a canary. The bird in question has reached the height of its owner's ambitions and so Blodgett set about to find another pet.

In fact the mouse is not altogether owned by Blodgett, but equal possession is divided between Blodgett and Albert Olemann, the youthful slayer of his foster mother, Mrs. Ayers. Had it not been for the timely assistance of the latter, Blodgett admits that the mouse would still probably be at liberty.

PREPARING BIG HALL FOR PURE FOOD SHOW

New Entrance Way Being Cut to Prevent Crush at Turnstile.

Visitors to the pure food exhibition which the Grocers' association will give in the Exhibition hall need not fear a dangerous crush at the old entrance steps to the hall, which in the past have resulted in frequent minor accidents and some more serious ones. Carpenters are now at work cutting a large new entrance from the street into the hall in which the steps both outside and within the building are done away with altogether and a gradual incline substituted.
