

HEAVY LOSS TO SEAFARERS

Steamers From South Have a Hard Time on Voyage to Portland—Large Quantity of Ties Seen Floating Off Yaquina Bay.

Steamers arriving here from the south report having encountered severe storms off the coast during the past few days and it is feared that at least one steamer engaged in the lumber trade has come to grief. Officers of the steamer schooner Johan Poulsen state that last Sunday their vessel drifted through a field of railroad ties adrift upon the turbulent sea off Yaquina bay.

The Johan Poulsen arrived in the Portland harbor this morning and went to dock to discharge 180 tons of freight from the Bay City. Captain Merriam says it took his vessel 90 hours to complete the run usually made in 70 or less and he admits the trip was a hard one.

"It blew a living gale and the sea ran unusually high," said Captain Merriam this morning, "and we had a hard time of it. My second officer reported having seen a lot of railroad ties adrift off Yaquina bay last Sunday and I suppose a steamer lost her deckload in the storm or she might have foundered, although I would form the opinion that the deckload was swept overboard or intentionally cut adrift to save the vessel."

Captain Nelson of the steamer City of Panama also reports having poked into terrific seas on her way north. She arrived at Alsworth dock yesterday noon after a tedious run on account of the head wind and sea, and few of the passengers could say that they had not felt seasick. The old craft stood the strain well, however, and arrived here in better shape than on her initial voyage as a Portland-San Francisco liner. She brought a full load of passengers and a hold full of freight.

The George W. Elder, Captain Jensen, arrived up last night, and her officers report having encountered a trying time of it coming north. Neither they nor the officers of the City of Panama sighted any of the ties reported adrift by the officers of the Johan Poulsen, however.

LABOR PRESS IS SAID TO GRAFT

Federation of Labor Officials Make Serious Charges Against Newspaper.

Charges of misrepresentation and "grafting" are being made by members of the Federation of Labor Labor day committee against the Labor Press, which they claim has been securing advertisements from the banks and merchants of Portland for a special Labor day edition under the pretense of being the official paper of the committee.

It is claimed by the committee that when they went around this week to solicit advertisements for an official program for the Labor day celebration they were met with refusals on every hand because solicitors for the Labor Press had been ahead of them and had gathered the harvest a week or more before.

"It is nothing less than cheap grafting on the part of the Labor Press," said L. D. Reed of the special committee. "It had been our intention to help pay the expenses of the celebration by getting out an official program in which we would sell space to advertisers as has been our custom. When members of our committee went around to secure ads we found that solicitors for the special edition of the Labor Press had been in ahead of us and had secured money from all the sources we had counted upon."

"Everywhere we met with the same reply to the effect that the paper had already purchased space in the special edition of the Press. We have had to give up the program and will have to depend on other sources for money with which to meet our expenses."

Reed claims that while P. McDonald, editor of the Press, may not himself be responsible for the stratagem which the committee finds itself in at least he solicited representations from the advertisers. He asserts that they claimed the Press and its special edition were the official paper for the Labor day celebration, whereas no official paper has been selected or will be.

The committee is still hard at work arranging for special features for the day. So far their greatest difficulty has been in securing a pig for roasting. The committee will venture forth into the rural districts tomorrow in their quest for a porker of proper and suitable size.

HAD TO GET HIS MEALS AND WASH DISHES

Fred Everts Asks Divorce From Wife Who He Says Threatened His Life.

Fred Everts filed a bill for divorce from Goldie Everts in circuit court today. Cruelty and neglect are the most serious allegations. Everts contends that his better half made it a regular practice as long as he stood it, in the presence of neighbors and friends, to call him vile names, to treat him as to absolutely prohibit their reproduction as part of the complaint.

Plaintiff claims that on frequent occasions Mrs. Everts threatened to kill him. It is a regular thing, he said, for his wife to remain away from home one, two or three days at a time. When he remonstrated he claims his life was endangered. Everts says he washes the dishes and cooks the meals. He asserts that his wife is the consort of numerous men.

SCOPE OF INSURANCE COMPANY ENLARGED

State, Or., Aug. 21.—Permission has been granted the Horticultural Fire Insurance company to do a general fire insurance business within the state. The company has required $200,000 in policies subscribed and complies with the law in other ways.

CAMERON'S DISMISSAL OF BECKER CAUSES PROTESTATIONS

"It was the most outrageous decision I have ever heard of," declared Adjutant John T. Foulkes of the Volunteers of America this morning in dismissing Judge Cameron's action in dismissing the case against Gustave Becker, the north end bartender who brutally murdered Little Louis Hawley, the pretty Volunteer "ladies" when she came into his saloon at 28 North Second street last Friday afternoon. Becker after it was clearly shown that he was guilty of battery and the use of insulting language is discharged. It was only last night that one of the north end saloonkeepers said to me, "I thought Becker would find $10, but as he was turned loose the next time any of those women come in here I'll show them out."

"The question of whether or not Lieutenant Hawley had a right to enter the saloon does not enter into the case at all. The only question was whether Becker was guilty of battery and the use of abusive language. It was evident to everyone in the court room, with the possible exception of Judge Cameron, that the prosecution absolutely proved

Becker guilty of both offenses, yet he was turned loose. "It is true that no physical injury was done to the lieutenant, but she is deeply wounded by being called 'indecent' and 'insulting' and the saloon last night and will continue to do so. If any further insults are offered to our workers I intend vigorously to prosecute the offenders, but the cases will be commenced in a court other than that presided over by Judge Cameron."

A public nuisance in the neighborhood, including Tonopah and Goldfield, Nev., but this is the first time any of our women solicitors have been insulted. They are as much entitled to the same respect as the men. The work will make an investigation they will find that we are maintaining a home at 28 East Sixth street North for homeless girls. In addition to other charitable work."

Adjutant Foulkes declares that he intends to bring the case before the Ministerial association at the next meeting. The police magistrate is being criticized on all sides for his action and it is the consensus of opinion that Becker's dismissal will furnish an incentive to the liquor dealers to forcibly eject religious workers from their saloons.

DEPUTY SHERIFF RUMPLES CLOTHES IN MAKING ARREST

Deputy Sheriff Harry Bulger had a battle royal with Charles Stickelman at Lents last evening, and it was only after assistance was rendered by neighbors that the man was finally subdued and eventually landed behind the bars in Multnomah county jail.

Stickelman has been rooming at a house on Elfrith avenue, Lents, for several months. He is a teamster and for several days he has been drinking to excess, and yesterday he demolished the household furniture of Mrs. Sue Minard, who drove the woman from the house after threatening to kill her, and finally the sheriff's office was communicated with by the neighbors. Deputy Bulger responded and had a half hour's tussle with the fellow before he finally subdued him. Mrs. Minard informed Deputy District Attorney Gus H. Moser today that this was the second time Stickelman had threatened her life. He choked her yesterday, she asserts, before she ran from the house.

Neighbors reported that the man was a public nuisance in the neighborhood, and an information was lodged against him charging destruction of personal property.

Deputy Sheriff Bulger was obliged to purchase a new coat today as a result of his encounter with the prisoner. The latter complains that his face is sore a today.

WHEAT PRICES ADVANCED BY UNFAVORABLE WEATHER CONDITIONS

Chicago, Aug. 21.—The unfavorable weather conditions throughout the world caused an advance of 3-1/4c a bushel today in the Chicago wheat market.

For several days climatic conditions in almost every wheat-producing country in the world have been trying time of it and has been under way for some time and has been suspended so often that fears are entertained for the crop in many sections.

The Liverpool market caused the first advance to be recorded in wheat values here, the advance there being for about 2c a bushel.

BOISE MAY GET TWO TRUNK LINES

Boise, Ida., Aug. 21.—Work has been commenced on the grade for the main line of the Short Line into Boise, and it will be built from Mora, a station 14 miles east of Nampa, instead of Orchard, as generally expected. The teams and grading outfit unloaded at Mora made two circuits. It is said the Mora survey is the only one ever approved by the officials, who found it would save in mileage and grade over the Orchard route. The Orchard route has been abandoned altogether. A. L. Throop of Nampa is in charge of the construction work on the cut-off.

A number of the big railway companies of the country have their eyes on the Salmon river valley country. The Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy companies have several surveys of the valley in that section and it begins to look as if they mean business. Idaho's chances for getting a railroad through that direction are apparently better now than ever before.

BETTER FACILITIES PROMISED SALEM

Salem, Or., Aug. 21.—The state railroad commission has received the answer of the Southern Pacific through its attorneys, W. D. Fenton and R. D. Letter, to charges made by different transfer companies of Salem concerning conditions at the depot.

It denies that the accommodations are inadequate for business under ordinary conditions, but admits that the excess of business at the present time is not fully provided for. It agrees to order the depot enlarged and to temporarily open a hop warehouse in the vicinity, the depot to be used as a general storage room for the depot.

NICOLA'S FRIENDS OF SAME OPINION

Sunnyside, Wash., Aug. 21.—The friends of H. E. Nicola, who was brought back to his home here August 17, by his son-in-law, John Heffron, from a ranch near Seattle, are not fully satisfied even with Nicola's own explanation of his strange disappearance on the evening of June 22.

It is a dazed condition and the obscurity of his mental faculties, it is suspected by some, is due, primarily, to the blow which Nicola himself either does not yet remember, or, possibly practically never felt owing to its stunning effect having been so great.

It is further stated that Nicola was doped and spirited out of the country while totally unconscious.

SIX HUNDRED MOORS KILLED AT TANGIER

Tangier, Aug. 21.—Six hundred Moors were killed in disturbances here today. The Jews, fearing an attack, are barricading themselves in their shops.

Judge Gantenbein Holds They Were Illegally Forced to Vacate

Lee Wan, Lee Chung and Lee Sing, the three Chinamen arrested at the investigation of the city building inspection department for refusing to vacate an alleged unsafe building at 147 Second street, were given their freedom in circuit court this morning under habeas corpus proceedings. Judge Gantenbein held that the city charter did not authorize the city to deliver the opinion, the court said.

"Defendants before the bar are liberated as prayed for, first, because the city charter does not authorize the building in question to be unsafe, but considered the judgment of the building inspector to be final, although section 33 of the city charter specially provides that council shall decree by resolution that buildings are dangerous, secondly, if such action is passed under the same section, it is imperative that notice should be given to owners or their agents and in this case there is nothing to show that the men arrested were either but in fact were merely tenants of the building."

In other words Judge Gantenbein contended defendants were wrongfully ejected and arrested in connection with the tearing down of the Burkhardt building and it is not proper that they be held in custody in question proposed coming into court later on setting up claim that the building company leading on the building and that it was obligatory on the Burkhardt estate to make any and all repairs and do any and all reconstruction of a building which should not in any way interfere with their rights.

According to present plans a damage suit for several thousand dollars will shortly be filed.

THREE MEN MEET WITH ACCIDENTS

Two men were brought to the Good Samaritan hospital last night and one this afternoon suffering from serious accidents. Nic Lindberg, head cement mixer at the Board of Trade building, was caught in the cement machine and had his right arm broken, and he was otherwise badly battered up.

A. D. Smith, employed by the Tualatin National Bank, was struck in the chest by a chain which slipped from a pulley. His arm was broken and he was injured internally. His condition is serious.

Frank Morehead, employed by the Oregon & Washington Lumber company, was struck in the head by a quantity of make the air sulphurously from a chute and had his kneecap broken.

WAVES REVOLVER AND IS ARRESTED

C. A. Beaver, who was arrested at the Union depot yesterday afternoon for disorderly conduct and carrying a concealed weapon, was fined $25 by Judge Gantenbein this morning in circuit court. Beaver, who was considered under the influence of liquor, wended and proceeded to make the air sulphurously with vile language. To punctuate his remarks Beaver drew a revolver, but before he could draw the trigger Patrolman Hirsch had him in custody.

MOURNED DESERTING HUSBAND AS DEAD

Portland, Wash., Aug. 21.—Emily J. Fleming of Forest Grove yesterday filed suit for divorce in circuit court against James A. Fleming. The complaint alleges that the parties were married in this state August 18, 1897, and that two years ago the husband willfully deserted his spouse and that he has since been living with a few months ago. There are no children.

TEKOA SAID TO BE WEARY OF THE LID

Tekoa, Aug. 21.—The lid is still on but badly punctured and rumors are afloat that those who put down the lid are almost ready to throw up their hands.

When Sunday closing went into effect the saloonkeepers forced all places of business to close. Not even a dish of ice cream could be bought or refreshments of any kind. Nothing but restaurants, hotels and boarding houses were left open. Nothing tangible can be learned but it comes from good authority that Sunday opening will be allowed shortly in a quiet way.

The city election will take place in December, when three councilmen will be elected. It is expected that the town men will be elected if the town is kept closed.

HELLYER LOSES REWARD HE DID NOT REPORT TO HIS CHIEF

Had Detective Clifford R. Hellyer informed Chief of Police Gritzmacher and the police commission that he received a reward of $125 from the Iman-Poulsen Lumber company, instead of trying to conceal it, he would probably now be the owner of the money instead of being liable to dismissal, suspension, fine or reprimand.

It is a violation of the police code to keep money given for services unless a special dispensation is made by the police authorities, and can be done under the charter, and all rewards must be turned into the fire and police fund. The $125 was given Hellyer as a reward for the part he took in quelling a riot aboard the steam schooner Johan Poulsen, during a millworkers' strike a few days ago.

Chiefman Greene of the police commission stated this morning that he would not tell what would be done in Hellyer's case until a meeting of the police commission could be held next week. Inasmuch as Hellyer has turned the reward into the fire and police fund it is not thought that any charges will be severely pressed against him.

The reward was given to Hellyer with Hellyer at the time the riot was quelled, also participated in the reward, but Vaughn has left the service, and is not amenable to the rules of the department.

Humane Society Charges S. S. Mohler With Cruelty to Animals.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Oregon City, Aug. 21.—S. S. Mohler, a guide for the Mazamas, the club of mountain climbers of Portland, was arrested yesterday by Humane Officer Bradley on a charge of cruelty to animals, and brought before Judge Dimick last evening. He entered a plea of not guilty.

It is alleged that Mohler used nine range horses as pack animals at Mount Hood, and by careless packing their backs became terribly chafed and galled, the skin being rubbed off in different places. One of the horses was carrying a stove on its back weighing 150 pounds, which naturally irritated the animal, its back being unprotected.

Mohler is said to have been in the party, whom he was guiding. The case will be tried tomorrow.

Members of the Mazama club, the organization of mountain-climbers which each season makes trips to various mountains in the northwest, are up in arms over a controversy that has arisen over the arrest of S. S. Mohler, packer for the club on its recent climbing expedition to Mount Jefferson.

The club is divided into two warring elements over the Mohler incident, those who assert that Mohler was guilty of cruelty to animals and the pack horses who allege that Mohler was not to blame for the trouble, but that responsibility lies entirely with those in charge of the arrangements for the Jefferson trip, who, it is claimed, were novices in mountain climbing and totally incapable of engineering such a party.

It is claimed that when the party returned to Portland the pack animals were in a pitiable condition, their backs being sore and bleeding from the weights which they had been forced to carry on the journey.

"I haven't taken sides in the controversy," said Fred Kiser, one of those who accompanied the club on its expedition, "but I do feel that the pack animals were treated in a pitiable condition, and that the pack animals were treated in a pitiable condition, and that the pack animals were treated in a pitiable condition."

"It is possible that Mohler was not as experienced a packer as he might be, but he is not a cruel man. He is a good condition in the first place, and then those in charge of the party should have arranged to have the supplies and baggage brought up by pack animals. It is not fair to blame Mohler for the trouble, but it is fair to blame those in charge of the party for the trouble."

The head of the party was G. P. Shoenberger, who is a member of the club and who is not a packer. He should be held responsible for the alleged cruelty to the pack animals.

OREGON STOCK GOES TO HAWAIIAN ISLE

Thoroughbreds to Go From Corvallis—May Establish a Regular Trade Soon.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Corvallis, Aug. 21.—Shipping thoroughbred stock from Benton county to Honolulu is a new stunt for local stockmen, and one that is certain to result in the establishing of a regular trade between Oregon and the island, say those who are in charge of the project.

One Hereford and two Shorthorns leave the L. B. Greer stock farm Friday for Honolulu, and will be shipped from the ship to the island. The animals were purchased for a big stock of horses for the purpose of building up the depleted herds of the big stock ranches of Honolulu. Another carload of animals will be shipped from Red Bluff, California.

Mr. Carter informed Mr. Geer that he would return later, as he felt confident that the 100 or so horses would be required to supply the demand for his company yet this fall. Thus does the fame of Oregon spread abroad.

FIERCE BASEBALL AT HILLSBORO SUNDAY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Hillsboro, Or., Aug. 21.—Baseball in this locality is just beginning to get exciting and there is a lively struggle on between the Banks and Hillsboro teams. Hillsboro has twice defeated the Banks team, the last game being played last Sunday at Banks. Hillsboro's victory was a 10-0 win in two out of three games.

Managers Morton and Grage of the Hillsboro team are celebrating a challenge from the Banks managers for another game to be played here next Sunday. The challenge has been accepted and a special train will be run over the P. & N. railroad from Buxton, a distance of 16 miles, to bring the Hillsboro team to Hillsboro Sunday afternoon. The men were eligible to be the most exciting "game of ball" in this county this season.

WASHINGTON VALUES UP FIVE MILLIONS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Hillsboro, Or., Aug. 21.—County Assessor George H. Wilcox expects to complete the rolls for the 1907 assessment within the next 30 days. His estimate of the assessed valuation of the county property is $17,000,000, an increase of $5,000,000 over last year. The timber in Washington county was valued by men employed by the county at $4,818,000.25 and has been assessed at $4,000,000. The milk condensers at Forest Grove and in this city have been assessed at $50,000. Railroads are this year assessed at $15,000 per mile and $1,000 per mile for stock, an increase of $5,000 per mile.

WILL ARREST PERSON WHO ROBBED MAILS

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, Aug. 21.—It is expected that before tonight an arrest will be made in Chicago in connection with the theft of $250,000 from three mail bags, which were en route from Denver to Chicago on the Burlington road. A package directed to a certain person in Chicago, which is supposed to contain the booty, has been traced through the postoffice department. The arrest, it is rumored, will cause a sensation in prominent circles.

HELLYER LOSES REWARD HE DID NOT REPORT TO HIS CHIEF

Thimble Holder Belonged in Another House Lents Had Robbed.

A little silver thimble holder, purchasable in any of the jewelry stores for a couple of dollars, has connected Harry Lents, the Beau Brummel burglar arrested yesterday morning at First and Washington streets by Detective Hellyer for the burglary of the residence of H. H. Levy, 781 Lovejoy street, with the looting of the home of M. Baruh, 809 Lovejoy street, last Tuesday.

Among the articles of silverware found in the cardboard box carried by Lents at the time of his arrest, the majority of which were identified by Mrs. Levy as her property, was the thimble holder for which no owner could be found. Mr. Baruh upon calling at the station yesterday positively declared that the article was stolen from his house at the time of his burglary, and that the matter was an additional charge of larceny in a dwelling can be filed against the prisoner.

Lents, who has been kept in solitary confinement since his arrest, has been "sweated" several times by Detective Hellyer and is already showing signs of weakness. He is claiming that he cannot escape conviction for the Levy job. Lents is sparing for immunity from prosecution on other charges that may be lodged against him and with the cunning of an old-time criminal refuses to reveal the location of his room, unless promised protection.

The sterling silver articles found in the possession of the burglar which have not yet been identified are as follows: a spoon marked "L. F. C.", a silver backing to a child's brush bearing the name "Pety" and "12-5-5", a silver candlestick marked "L. F. C.", five solid silver souvenir spoons from Portland and vicinity, a gold lined silver berry spoon, six silver teaspoons and a gold lined silver sugar spoon. The police are doing their best to identify the stolen property and their property to call at headquarters.

Other Burglaries Discovers. Although making no incriminating statements Lents apparently is fearful of being identified as having been implicated in some crime committed in Corvallis. He is claiming that he cannot escape conviction for the Levy job. Lents is sparing for immunity from prosecution on other charges that may be lodged against him and with the cunning of an old-time criminal refuses to reveal the location of his room, unless promised protection.

From a list furnished this morning it has come to light that the crime scene was taken from the Baruh residence represented only a portion of the plunder secured by the housebreaker. A number of rings and other valuable jewelry were carried away and the list will be much greater than at first anticipated. Detective Hellyer is firmly convinced that Lents had an accomplice in the burglary and that the latter, yet has not secured a clue to the identity of the other thief.

STEVENS SAYS MERRILL MAY NOT SELL LIQUOR

Proprietor of Twelve-Mile House Has Had No License Since July 1.

Sheriff Stevens said today that so far as he or his deputies were concerned no complaints had been made that Fred T. Merrill was dispensing liquor at his Twelve-Mile house on the Base Line road extension. Discussing the matter the sheriff said:

"I find that Merrill's license expired last night and he has not been renewed. I did not know that liquor was being sold there. In the past I have had Merrill in court and he was fined. That was an offense against the State law, however. In case he is violating the law without license it is a serious matter and he cannot do any while I am sheriff of Multnomah county."

Judge Webster stated that no license had been granted Merrill. He knew nothing about the new arrangement.

Merrill in his own behalf claims that his place is closed and that he is not selling any liquor. He states that he was under the impression that he was eligible to sign his petition and how many names were necessary. He says he already had 180 signatures requesting a license. He says he would have in a day or two. Merrill denies that he was selling liquor at the Twelve-Mile house. He declares that everyone he has asked has signed his petition for a license.

STOCK DROPS TWENTY-NINE POINTS AFTER PRESIDENT DELIVERS SPEECH

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Aug. 21.—Following the publication of the speech delivered yesterday by President Roosevelt at Princeton, American Tobacco company's stock dropped 29 points. This trust is on the list scheduled for prosecution.

Wall street bulls and bears are suitably antithetical to the president for the stand he has taken on the trust question. It was firmly believed on the street that the president's speech would lead to the prosecution of the trust prosecutions were at an end. An alleged copy of the president's speech had been secured on Wall street. The stand taken yesterday was like a blow in the face to the men on the street.

CONDENSERY SITE AT ALBANY CHOSEN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Albany, Or., Aug. 21.—A site has been selected for the condensed milk factory. The committee decided on the grounds formerly occupied by the Alhambra mill on the river bank in the east end of the city. The selection is a good one and covers an entire block of land. The walls of the wrecked building are in fairly good condition and can
