The Yreka, Siskiyou county, California, News, comes to hand with the announcement that "rich rock has been discovered on the Flag claim, one of the Champion Group mining company," following the statement with hearty comment about the purchase of the large copper tract made by the company last Friday. The mines of this company are located in Siskiyou county, Oregon, and well over $100,000 have been spent in their development. Former owners, content with mining on a small scale with primitive machinery, had opened the mines and uncovered an immense body of very rich ore. The present company bought the mines last October and speedily discerned that operated as they had been it would require 100 years to mine the riches out of the mountain it had acquired. It is now proposed to take in a number of partners—as many as desired to participate in its profits—by selling 50-900 shares of stock and using the proceeds in adding new appliances, installing a cyanide plant, building an aerial tramway to convey the rock to the mill, tripling the capacity of the latter, etc., so that as much gold could be taken out in a month as before in two years and altogether "make money in a hurry" in a territory where the small as in former times. This is the policy the new owners are pursuing, and the expectation is that new being that the urgent necessities of the gold mines will be so speedily accomplished that stockholders may reasonably expect to take in a number of returns on their investments as early as next February or at least in March. The Champion Group people are not a sleepy outfit. They "do things." Their gold properties are rich. Their new copper acquisitions contain plethoric fortunes in themselves.

"For those who still think the people of Oregon are a little slow, sluggish, or not quite up to date some way, a visit to Mexico would be profitable," said L. Senokey, a merchant in the city, who has returned from a recent trip through Mexico. "I believe the only thoroughly modern streetcar line in Mexico was running from El Paso across the line into Texas, and that only extends as far as the plaza in the Mexican city. One would naturally think that contact with the United States would spur the people of our neighboring southern republic to vie with our people in social and civic progress. Their country is rich in minerals, has fertile plantations, but it remains for our capitalists to go down there and develop their latent resources."

Mayor Lane, City Engineer Taylor and Assistant City Engineer Hansen yesterday inspected the hard surface pavement laid on Grand avenue and found it to be good. In order to satisfy himself that the stone blocks between the streetcar rails were solidly imbedded in concrete, the mayor grabbed up a crowbar and attempted to loosen some of them. He failed in his efforts and came to the conclusion that the job had been done. Grand avenue rails are now down except at the intersection of Grand avenue and Morrison streets, where the work is being delayed pending the arrival of the new rails from the east. In order to permit of paving the full width of East Morrison street, the streetcar rails between the water board yesterday laid a quantity of 16-inch steel rails to those thoroughfares.

J. W. Vanderveiden, one of the prominent merchants of Ray, Washington county, Oregon, called at The Journal office today and denied that crops were poor this year throughout Washington county. "We are having a very good crop, the best if not really record yields all along the line," said the informant. "For instance, my father is raising 30 bushels of oats to the acre without fertilizer. Another farmer raises this year 35 bushels of wheat to the acre, and still another is raising 31 bushels to the acre. Another farmer raised 35 bushels of wheat and oats to the acre. So it goes all over the county and we do not consider such conditions falling off in the crop by any means."

The Fremont Zouaves, degree team of Fremont camp, Woodmen of the World, Los Angeles, California, gave an exhibition before the members of Prosperity camp, Woodmen of the World, last night. Captain Clouds Fremont Zouaves are considered one of the best drilled teams in the country, having captured one of the cash prizes at the ninth head camp session last month at Seattle. The Portland Woodmen are preparing to give a reception to the Zouaves at an early date.

School children's attention is called to the fact that if they drink milk which never is pure, they resemble calves. It is unnatural for big boys and girls to drink too much milk. You will be much stronger if you drink the 100 per cent Golden Gate brand milk. "Everybody is talking about it."

"Second in Command." In "The Second in Command" the Stockwell-MacGregor company at the Marquam has made a ten-strike. This brilliant Broadway comedy has been seen here once before, but never at Marquam prices nor in so satisfying a production. The play is one of the best of the season and is a high royalty piece.

A New Girl at the Lyric. "The Girl From Albany," which the Allen stock company is presenting this week at the Lyric, is a grand new play that has never before been seen on the Pacific coast and which proves to be a genuine novelty in the shape of farce comedy. A special price matinee will be given Sunday afternoon. Seats are now selling at theatre boxoffice for the entire engagement.

"Is Marriage a Failure?" It is not surprising that the question, "Is Marriage a Failure?" should be introduced on a vaudeville stage. It is the title of a comedy sketch offered by Mr. and Mrs. J. Murray Smith at the Grand this week. The headline act is being held at the Lyric, presented by Alice Wortlock, assisted by Walter Harmon.

Star Matinee. Tomorrow the stock company at the Star theatre will present "The Tie That Binds" at the matinee. The play is a Reid play, one of his latest and best. The play abounds with sentiment and there is a touching and pathetic love story. The heavier scenes are lightened by means of broad comedy. Matinees Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

HOURLERS FIND NEW QUARTERS

Will Move to Place Where the Wicked Will Cease From Troubling.

John Glasco and his fellow members of "The Tongues of Fire," who have been holding camp meetings in the vacant block on Division street between Tenth and East Eleventh, have decided to move. Residents in the vicinity of the camp meetings have won their fight to compel the enthusiasts to leave, but whether those in the vicinity of the new home will allow a change is doubtful.

Yesterday Glasco and Judge Cameron, who lives opposite the camp meeting site, and who has been one of those who threatened to have the police remove the members of the apostolic faith since May, got together and as a result Glasco has agreed to close his camp meetings at 9:30 and to secure a new site for the settlement as soon as one can be procured.

He and some of the brethren are going out to look at one this afternoon. Glasco says it is in East Portland and will give them more room than they have at present.

"I've been pledged God to give us many converts here, and I have thought how it would please him to give us a larger place, nice and shady, where the wicked will cease from troubling," said Glasco this morning.

He was filling the lamps in the main tent and stood kerosene can in hand while he described the indignities that had been heaped upon him by residents of East Portland.

"We have new place, but we are not leaving here because of those hoodlums who tried to get us out. They have tried to get everything they could out of us, and we are not going to let them do that," he said. "But we need a larger place anyway, and so we are going to move."

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM ENDS CONCERT SEASON

Fund Exhausted and Street Car Company Refuses to Contribute More.

The last park band concert for the season will be given Friday night. This was definitely decided upon today when the streetcar company refused to subscribe to the city's music fund, which will be exhausted this week. It was hoped that the company, which benefits largely from the traffic incident to the very busy business district, would contribute at least $1,000, but hope was in vain. It is understood that the company refused support on the ground that the park band concerts drew business from the Oaks amusement resort.

The park band concerts have been very successful this season, and it is said that the park commissioners are already planning to secure enough money for next summer to give the citizens free music every evening. Visiting musicians who have heard the band under Sig. De Caprio this season say that Portland can be heard claim the best band on the Pacific coast. The band numbers 22 pieces, exclusive of the director.

Last night's concert at Holladay park was attended by several thousand people. Tonight's concert will be given at the Plaza, and it will be the last time the band will be heard this season. The program for tonight follows: March, "Ben Bey"; Jodelogus Overture, "The Mill on the Cliff"; "La Papiote"; "Friedrich"; Gruenwald Selection, "Friedrich"; "The Mill in the Forest"; Eilenberg; Fantasia, "Musical Scenes From 'The Sorcerer'"; "The Merry Wanderers"; "Jolly Fellows"; Vollstadt; Baritone solo, "Salute Polka"; Liberator (Sig. A. Rose, Caprio); Intermezzo, "Salute to St. Louis"; Ascher March, "Salute to St. Louis"; De Caprio A. De Caprio, director.

PARTY PHONE RATES NO LONGER IN USE

Subscribers Unable to Make Contracts Formerly Issued by Pacific States.

Complaints are coming in to the Pacific States Telephone company from would-be subscribers who allege there is an unjust discrimination in the rate charges for telephones throughout the city. It is said two prices are charged for telephones in the houses of next-door neighbors.

Rich Gold Deposit. When the investing public come to the realization of the merits of the wonderfully rich gold deposits of southern Utah, there will not be enough shares in the great companies operating there to satisfy the one hundredth part of the willing purchasers. This new produce has been acquired and is being gotten ready for development in a quiet manner. The public will within a few short months begin to realize the fact that nowhere on earth is the gold so uniformly deposited, and above all so easily extracted from the deposits. It is estimated that there has been hundreds of times more wealth washed down into the Gulf of California by the San Juan and Colorado rivers than has been taken from the stores of the west.
