TONIGHT'S AMUSEMENTS

No one ever heard of the failure of a gold mine. No one ever heard of a bank failing because of too much gold. desire to secure their gold that the multitudes to surround the gon Savings bank yesterday and last ht. If these disconsolate and hearthight. If these disconsolate and heart-broken depositors had owned stock in such properties as the Champion Group Mining company, operating in the fa-mous gold region of Siskiyou county, California, they would have provided a safe income for themselves that would not have been subject to the vasaries of human carelessness. This company not have been subject to the vararies of human carelessness. This company owns 12 gold and 21 copper properties near Yreka, the gold mines being already developed, so that there can be no mistake as to their value. They are "real" mines, and not prospects, and to equip them for large production—for immediate results of the largest kind possible—the company is selling a few thousand shares of its stock at less than half its real value. This sacrifice is but for a few days, however, and must be taken advantage of without delay. Robert F. Scott of the First National bank, this city, invested $150 of his wages in mining shares, and the other day sold out for $105,000, and is now making a tour of the world. These opportunities are still open. Mr. Scott did not give his money to others to make money out of it. He made the money himself. You can do so, too. Banks pay 4 per cent interest. It would be an insignificant gold mine that paid eless than 15 to 25 per cent. One hundred per cent is not extraordinary.

The 16,000 depositors in the Oregon Trust & Savings bank would have been much better off, no doubt, if they had bought inside Portland real estate. Remember Portland is growing and will continue to grow, and sensible people are investing their money in good corner lots in the city, and erecting buildings thereon, and drawing rents instead of putting money into such concerns as the Oregon Trust & Savings bank, to be loaned out on scaly bonds and various kinds of so-called securities. Seek the aid of a reliable, experienced and responsible real estate dealer and buy good property. Hold your own securities and draw your own rents. Remember Portland real estate will not burn up or run away, and will surely increase in value. We have had nearly 20 years' continuous business experience in the much better off, no doubt, if they had in value. We have had nearly 20 years' continuous business experience in the city of Portland. Have now some good bargains and will give you our best services and advice in the matter of making real estate investments. Out-of-town investors are requested to call or write us, and are referred to any of the banks or mercantile houses in the city as to our standing and business methods. Charles K. Henry & Son, 122 Third street, Portland, Or.

Old Home day for Harmony will be held August 24 on the pioneers' camping ground where the first settlers in western Oregon camped in the early forties. This spot is a mile and a half east of Milwaukie on the Harmony road, near the Sandy crossing of the Southern Pacific. The home-coming is to be under the direction of the Harmony Public Improvement society, it being the purpose to build a hall with the funds raised. There are to be two programs, one at 2 o'clock and another at 8, while lunch will be served at noon and a chicken pie dinner in the evening. Secretary C. H. Williamson of the State Horticultural society, Secretary G. H. Himes of the State Historical society, Judge Ryan of Oregon City and ciety, Judge Ryan of Oregon City and other prominent state citizens who first settled in Harmony and vicinity will be present at the home-coming.

Chances for the establishment of a naval station on the Columbia river as a result of the expected visit of Admir-als Cowles, Holliday and Capps to the Pacific coast are not very good, accord-ing to a letter received by the chamber of commerce from Senator Bourne. Sen-ator Bourne has been in touch with the naval department in the hopes of indepartment in the hopes of in-ducing them to locate a new station on the Columbia river, but has been in-formed that the present visit of the admirals is merely for the purpose of inspecting the present stations, and that there is no present intention of es-tablishing a new station on this coast.

Under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A tomorrow evening at the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds Miss Wilhelmine Joehnke, a former Oregonian, will liver an illustrated lecture from lantern dides. De Caprio's band will play for the last time this season, and ice cream will be served from 8 to 10:30 o'clock. A gala time is planned and a large crowd is expected. Everything will take place in front of the Forestry building. This will probably be the occasion of the last large public gathering this summer on the fair grounds.

PUZZLES COURT

Mother Says She Has No Command Over Wayward Son.

BOY IS NOW INMATE OF DETENTION HOME

Enjoys His Surroundings, Calls Superintendent Papa, But Occasionally Takes Indefinite Leave of Absence on His Own Authority.

Probation officers connected with juvenile court business are puzzled over what to do with 9-year-old William Zeyfer, at present an inmate of the Detention Home. Some time ago William's mother called upon Judge Frazer and complained that the little fellow persisted in running away from home and remaining absent days at a time.

remaining absent days at a time.

"You see," explained the mother to the court, "Willie acts as the spirit moves him. I can't say he is a viclous boy or morally bad. Somehow, I have no command over him."

It was finally decided to send William to the Detention Home, and apparently the lad liked his new surroundings. He took a great fancy to the head of the institution and refused to eat his meals unless he could occupy a seat beside the superintendent.

One afternoon William was missed about the place, and later in the day he returned with a bundle of clothing.

"Where have you been?" sternly demanded the superintendent.

"Home to see mother and get some clean clothing," came back the quick reply.

The lad's story proved true, and regu-

The lad's story proved true, and regularly since then William has made trips home and visited an hour or two with his mother. He likes his surroundings and does nothing else to violate his commitment. The attendants at the in-stitution like the youngster, but his mother still complains that the boy has a will of his own, and it hurts her to think that she has no command over think that she has him.

William is reported to be very small for his age and one of the brightest lads at the institution. He insists on calling the superintendent "papa," and tells his mother his happiness would be complete if she would only come to live at the big house where he stays every night.
