Charles Cardinell, one of Portland's best-known pioneers, died at his home in this city last night at the age of 85 years, after a long illness. Mr. Cardi-nell was born in Ontario, Canada, in 1822 and came to California during the gold excitement in the early '50. He made his home in California until 1865, when he came north to Portland and has since resided here. Deceased was a great grandson of Sylvester Richmond, on whose land Richmond, Virginia, was on whose land Richmond, Virginia, was built, and after whom the city was named. During his long residence in Portland Mr. Cardinell has been an active factor in building up the city, owning considerable real estate in Portland. He is survived by a son, Charles B. Cardinell, and Mrs. C. A. Dolph, both of Portland. His wife died several years

Expansion at Fraley's.

Fraley's on the corner of Third and Salmon, has undergone such a com-plete metamorphosis the last few weeks salmon, has undergone such a complete metamorphosis the last few weeks as to be hardly recognizable by its patrons, many of whom have bought their hats at this corner almost ever since Portland began its life as a city. The adjoining store room has been added, thus doubling the floor space, which with the splendid light from the full glass front, makes one of the handsomest and most spacious show rooms in town. The walls and ceiling are freshly finished in restful green tints, the new shelving and show cases, now filled with the first arrival of a large fall stock of hats are tastefully arranged, and altogether the entire tone of the place is that of good taste and modern enterprise. Every appointment gives evidence of concentrated attention to the comfort and convenience of the largest number of shoppers.

desirous of having the street improved regardless of cost. Yesterday they petitioned the executive board through the street committee to award the contract to the single bidder for the work, whose figures were about $75 in excess of the engineer's estimate. However, no immediate action will be taken inasmuch as the bid, that of Beehill Brothers, was rejected for being informal. business in New York was to close up an arrangement that we had on for a loan from the Fourth National bank of New York. Some weeks ago it was seen that we would need additional funds to enable us to carry our bond purchases along until the market improved. We wrote the Fourth National asking for a loan and were virtually told that we could have it. We bundled up $60,000 of commercial paper and ahout $150,000 Home telephone bonds and shipped them by express to New York. In a letter written by Mr. Morris he stated that he expected to be in is he stated that he expected to be in New York before long.

Money Market Tightened. Money Market Tightened.

'The money market, it seems, had begun tightening and the Fourth National, instead of forwarding the $150,000 that we asked for, replied that it would delay the loan until our representative came to New York. We allowed matters to go along and for a while thought we would not be obliged to go any further toward getting the loan. Then a week or ten days ago Mr. Morris got uneasy and said he would go to New York and arrange for the money at once. He took along by express $150,000 more of the Home bonds, expecting he might need more securities.

"About the time he arrived there the money market grew worse, and he found himself unable to do anything. He wired us under date of August 21 that he had expressed the securities back to Portland by Wells-Fargo and that he was leaving that night for home."

Mr. Morris was at Chicago yesterday and wired Mrs. Morris in Portland that he would leave last night for home. He is expected to arrive here the first of "About the time he arrived there the is expected to arrive here the first of next week. It is said that he can be of great assistance to Receiver Devlin and President Moore in winding up the bank's affairs to the best advantage and in securing the best realization of the securities. Receiver Thomas C. Devlin said today:

Pay Dollar for Dollar. "The bank's affairs look better today and we have hopes of making it pay dollar for dollar. That is the watch-word here, and we shall do our best to realize every dollar that can be secured realize every dollar that can be secured for depositors. I do not see how it is possible for the bank's assets to shrink as much as a quarter of a million dollars, and since President Moore has come to the front with the statement that he will stand behind the bank with his private fortune I believe the depositors will get all their money. We ositors will get all their money. We will have a list of all the bank's assets, the liabilities, the collections made, cash on hand and a complete statement of the bank's condition at the earliest possible date, and will give it out to the press so that the people may know the facts."

Mr. Friede said that he would prepare statement in several days clearly de-ning his course of action, which he aid would leave nothing undone that would reflect upon his name. He said that he does not owe the bank a dollar or that any of the directors did any-thing or resorted to any connivance that had for its purpose the diverting of one cent from its proper channels.

BOVILL CENTER OF RAILWAY ACTIVITY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Moscow, Ida., Aug. 23.—Robert B.
Swadener, a civil engineer, who has been finishing up the work on the Washington, Idaho & Montana railroad beyond Deary, says tracklaying on this line is about completed to Bovill, which will be the terminus until the Weyer-haeusers decide to extend it farther into their timber holdings. The company is running logging spurs up every draw and at every point where logs can be brought to the main line of the road to advantage.

There is great activity in tht vicinity

Milwaukee surveyors appear to be making a permanent selection of a line on the north slope of the St. Maries divide and seem to be cross-sectioning. This indicates they are going to build to Bovill, beyond a doubt, and that they are somewhat in a hurry to get things started. They will probably have this branch line ready for business by the time the main line is open for traffic. Whether the Potlatch will build another mill I cannot state."

INDEPENDENT PHONE MAN AT CHEHALIS

Chehalis, Wash., Aug. 23.—B. E. Clement has filed a franchise ordinance with the Chehalis city council. At its last meeting he stated that if his request were granted he would accept it within 10 days and that inside another 90 days he would have in operation here a complete independent service. Mr. Clement is closely associated with the new Northwestern Long Distance company.

The July report of the Pacific States company states that since January 1, this year Chehalls shows the greatest increase percentage in the number of phones in use of any city on the coast, 79 per cent. There are over 350 telephones in use in the city and an extensive suburban and rural service which extends to all parts of the county.

The crowd was waiting for the doors of the Boston store to swing open. David Lion, sales manager of the Pacific Coast Salvage company, has been in possesion of this store since the tenth, and his contract is to clear the store entirely of the present stock in 30 days. Judging from the enthusiasm shown by the crowds who have filled the store for the past week he will have no trouble completing his will have no trouble completing his end of the bargain.
