

ALTON PARKER LEADS LAWYERS

Distinguished Company Is Gathered at Meeting of Bar Association.

(Journal Special Service.)

Portland, Me., Aug. 25.—A distinguished company gathered this morning in the city hall to attend the thirtieth annual meeting of the American bar association. Included among those present were many noted jurists and men who have served their state and nation in the highest official positions.

When 10 o'clock arrived, the hour appointed for the opening session, several hundred members, representing the pick and flower of the legal profession and every section of the country sat before the platform at President Alton B. Parker, of New York, erect, dignified and kindly-featured, appeared. He invited to the rostrum Ambassador Bryce, who is to deliver the annual address, and several others of the most famous members of the association.

After expressing appreciation of the cordial welcome extended to the association by Portland, President Parker delivered his annual address, which was masterly in its logical construction and its perspicuous diction, and which was followed with the closest attention. His survey of the recent enactments of congress and of the legislative bodies of the several states interested his listeners extremely. His keen railway attorney's keenness of vision and his professional brethren as judicial and comprehensive. It was a long paper, but the scholarly character of the address, and the bright humorous flashes which relieved the long review of state legislation served to induce patience and promote good nature among the listening lawyers.

Following President Parker's address came reports from Secretary John Hinkley of Baltimore, Treasurer Frederick E. Wadhams of New York and of the executive committee, which were of interest only to the members of the association. No general session of the association was held this afternoon, but there were meetings of the Association of American Law Schools and of several of the sections.

Two interesting features have been provided for tonight's session of the association. Charles F. Amidson, United States district judge for the district of North Dakota, will present a paper on "The Nation and the Constitution," and Charles Proctor of Vermont, member of the interstate commerce commission, will be heard on the subject, "A Department of Railways: Its Legal Necessity."

DOCUMENT CLERK HAD WONDERFUL MEMORY

Death of Amzi Smith Great Loss to Senate Chamber of United States.

(Journal Special Service.)

Washington, Aug. 25.—Amzi Smith, superintendent of the senate document room for 40 years, who died at his home in Washington Saturday night, was personally known to every public man of a generation. He was gifted with a memory almost marvelous, which made him nearly indispensable. He systematized the office until he could in five minutes' notice recall any act of past legislation. He could supply any senator with information and frequently did so in the midst of running debates in which scurrying senate pages carried ammunition for both sides. He was a Union soldier in the civil war. He was so highly esteemed by congress that he was mentioned by name each year in the legislative, executive, and judicial bill which carried the appropriation for his salary.

LIGHTNING HIT A SALEM HOUSE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Aug. 25.—The residence of George W. Gosser of West Salem, was damaged by lightning during the heavy thunder storm Saturday morning. A strip of about two feet on one side of the roof was torn in places. A rafter was shattered and the shingles and molding were torn off. At the eaves the lightning took the telephone wire and passed along it to the ground. The wire was burned in two but probably saved the house. No one was injured.

Wells, Fargo & Co. and the Pacific Express company move today to their new office in Wells, Fargo building, corner Sixth and Oak streets, and will be ready for business in their new quarters Monday morning.

LAND OFFICE BOOM OPENED AT NINE

Line at Roseburg Admitted
After Patient Wait
Since Thursday.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Roseburg, Or., Aug. 25.—The second rush for timber land at the United States land office here took place at 9 o'clock this morning, when the line of 16 weary applicants, some of whom had been in waiting since Thursday, were admitted to the office to file on the government land just thrown open for entry. To leave the line or go away without someone to hold one's place meant to lose it, and by this means several boys made good pocket money by holding places for some who went for meals at hotels. Others had their meals brought to them. Some came prepared with blankets, camp stools and chairs, and made themselves as comfortable as possible in the long wait of four or five days and nights.

The land office is in the upper story of the Carr block, and the stairway admitting people to the entrance is closed with folding doors, which has forced the timber seekers to camp outside on the sidewalk. They are lined up on Jackson street down to the corner of Washington.

Critters Say It's No Good.

Conspicuous in the line is S. J. Jones, commonly known around town as "Money Lender" Jones, who was relieving someone on Sunday, whether for pay or from the sympathetic feeling he had toward some poor suffering man who had so long to wait is not known. The weather has been cool and a bonfire at night has been kept going to keep the land seekers warm.

But no matter if they have been so long in waiting they stand a chance of being rejected at the last moment, and some who have just come in may get the desired claim.

Most of the land lies in Jackson county, and but small parcels in Douglas and Lane counties. There are many seekers after claims, the critters who know the land say there are only one or two good timber claims in the whole lot. But whether there is a million feet or but enough to build a cabin the land is taken up for timber, such is the demand.

WHEN EQUALIZATION
BOARD SHALL MEET

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Aug. 25.—An opinion has been given from the attorney-general's office in answer to an inquiry from E. S. OUR NEW STORE WILL BE READY ABOUT SEPTEMBER 3d

This is the promise made by the contractors who are putting the finishing touches on the front, the interior and wherever they are necessary.

THE FLOOR SPACE WILL BE THREE TIMES LARGER than in our present quarters, and the stock of merchandise will be increased in like proportion, while the sales force will be sufficient to enable us to wait on all of our customers promptly.

DO YOU APPRECIATE THE EFFORT it would have required to move the stock carried in our present location at Grand avenue and East Alder street, and at the same time properly place the new goods which daily arrived in the past 30 days, in spite of the delay caused by the contractors in the construction work on the new building?

Do You Wonder, Therefore, Why we Inaugurated the Big Removal Sale

And why this sale has attracted prudent, economical buyers from every part of the city? We would have had to pay large sums for moving the stock from the old store to the new. We would have had to pay still more money for storage on new merchandise which arrived before we could place it upon the shelves in our new store. To save all this extra expenditure we decided to cut prices regardless of cost, so as to move the stock from our shelves in the present store direct to the homes of those who appreciate

THREE WASHINGTON
CONVICTS PAROLED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Washington, Aug. 26.—Governor Mead has approved the paroles of James Howard, John Kane and William W. Rowen.

Howard was convicted of burglary and sentenced from Franklin county for nine years. Recommendations were based in part on the affidavit of his two accomplices, sentenced at the same time, who swore that he did not actively participate in the burglary.

Kane's parole is in consideration of former good character and his youth. He is 25 years old. Rowen was sentenced for three years from Clallam county for embezzlement. Considerations in his favor were his good prison record and his age, 53 years, and the fact that he has dependent upon him a wife and two children who have been reduced to very hard circumstances.

HOMEBUILDER WHO GOT NO HOME SUES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 26.—The Washington Home company and its manager, E. E. Martin, have been sued by Charles Hill, of Alinta, Washington, for not keeping promises. Martin promised Hill, alleges, that he would mature a home contract for him in 20 months. Hill paid in $7,840 and waited four years and still he had no home. He got suspicious and has asked that a receiver be appointed for the company.

Martin is also accused of misappropriating $10,000 of the company's money.

The Washington Home, it is said, is run on the same principle as the Home Cooperative company of Kansas City and the Fraternal Home Builders of Portland, Oregon, both of which were broken up. Some of the men who were in the Portland company were at one time in the Washington Home. Martin held contracts in the Portland concern. The Washington Home has contracts to the extent of $267,000.
