He was well and favor-ably known in Portland business circles.

Dr. Andrew C. Smith, who with his wife, has been on a visit to a ranch in Crook county, returned to Portland Saturday night and is now at St. Vincent's hospital, suffering from a dislocated ankle. At the time of the accident, he and Mrs. Smith were getting ready to start for a horseback ride. Just as the doctor started to mount and had placed his foot in the stirrup, the horse jumped and threw him heavily to the ground. The dislocation was set by A. L. Macintosh, his host, but Dr. Smith decided to come to Portland, where he could get better surgical treatment.

NOTED SALVATION ARMY LEADER IS SPENDING DAY IN PORTLAND

Mrs. Ballington Booth, commander of the Volunteers of America, active, alert, full of energy, is in Portland, accompanied by her son, Charles B. Booth, on a tour of prison inspection in the United States. She arrived last night. She wanted to leave for New York last night, and would have done so had she been able to get away, but instead missed her train. She will leave tonight instead.

Mrs. Booth and her son have visited eight large penitentiaries since leaving New York several weeks ago, and have been at Salem the past few days visiting the Oregon prison, where a branch of the famous organization of which Mrs. Booth is the head is maintained.

When seen this morning Mrs. Booth was in a hurry, which is said to be not

Owners of Plants Running in Violation of Laws Will Be Prosecuted.

Commissioner J. W. Bailey of the Oregon dairy and food commission is attending the state fair at Tillamook. After the event is concluded he will visit all the dairies in that vicinity and if any are not operated according to state laws prosecutions will follow. It is expected at the office of Commissioner Bailey that he will be in Port-land, at the latest, Wednesday of this week, as a number of important matters await his arrival. One or two cases against local dairymen are on his books, and it is also unofficially reported that a number of Portland bakers are still using coloring matter in products in violation of state laws.

The next month will be a very busy one with Commissioner Bailey, as he has one with Commissioner Balley, as he has the entire state to cover in connection with several important dairy institutes which will be held. Mr. Balley has been

"I am rejoiced to find on my return that my store, the Eastern Outfitting Co., has done as the boys say in this country, 'A land office business,' said Mr. Shemanski this morning. "I found no grumbling anywhere in the productive lines of work. All the factories were busy and those engaged in the industries of the country appear to have more than they can do. The same is true in Portland today. In some of the far eastern cities a few men engaged in speculation and that alone have been obliged to call a halt.
