

MUSIC REALM OPENED TO AMBITIOUS WORKERS

Conservatory at Portland Has Students at Every Post-office in Oregon—Winners in Journal's Contest May Have Choice of Any One of Five Courses.

Portland is the Pacific coast headquarters of the International Conservatory of Music.

This conservatory has students in every county of the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast states. In Oregon, Washington and northern California it has students in every town. The conservatory is splendidly housed at Portland at 222 West Park street.

Education by correspondence is not a new method. It has been used for a great many years and hundreds of thousands of successful business and professional men are graduates of correspondence courses. Music has been successfully taught by this method for over 50 years in England and for some 14 years in America.

High Standard of Excellence.

President Harper of Chicago university has said recently: "It is safe to say that the standard of work done by correspondence is fully equal to that of the class room. Indeed, I may say, that there is a larger proportion of high-grade work done by correspondence than under the personal teaching method."

The watchwords of the International conservatory are "simplicity" and "thoroughness." These are impressed in various ways upon the student.

The International Conservatory of Music teaches the following instruments:

The piano and organ. This course consists of 48 lessons and in addition to all the instruction papers, special helps and the wonderful tone re-veler, the conservatory gives free 100 copies of graded sheet music. Figure out for yourself what this number of selections would cost you. These include the simple pieces for the beginners and at the last some of the choice classical selections written by famous composers.

Year's Violin Course.

The violin course consists of 48 weeks' work. Each pupil enrolling in this course is furnished a complete outfit. This instrument is made in Germany and imported into this country especially for I. C. M. students. If you were to purchase the outfit at a music store in the ordinary way it would cost you not less than $22. The violin is shipped as soon as the student's enrollment is received. In addition there is given with this course 40 copies of graded sheet music.

The guitar course consists of 30 weeks' work.

The guitar course consists of 30 weeks' work, and in addition to all the instruction papers, lessons, etc., the conservatory gives absolutely free a special I. C. M. guitar, worth at least $20. Forty copies of graded sheet music are given with this course.

Thirty Weeks on Mandolin.

The mandolin course consists of 30 weeks' work and in every way is just as complete as any of the other courses. Included in this course is a handsome mandolin, one that would cost at least $15. Added to the instrument and all instructions are 40 choice selections. This is an age of showing. People want to see things. Why should there not be advancement in the teaching of music as well as in any other line?

Fine mandolin goes with The Journal scholarship in International Conservatory of Music as award in the subscription contest.

Each student who enrolls in any of the courses taught by the International Conservatory of Music is given the following guarantee: "At the completion of the course the pupil will be able to read and play by note and will understand the fundamental laws of music."

Education Really Obtained.

Is there a person living that does not enjoy music? Go into the mansion or the hotel and you will find lovers of music. What is there that makes a home more like home than music? What is there more enjoyable than to gather the family and friends together and have an evening of music?

A schooling is necessary. Every young lady and gentleman should get all the schooling possible, but no education is complete without a knowledge of music. Few can afford the expense of a conservatory course. In fact there are few that can afford to take lessons of the very best teachers. Then there are thousands that live in the rural districts where it is impossible for them to get competent teachers.

Journal Gives Away Three.

The International Conservatory of Music places a conservatory education within the reach of all. Few indeed are they who cannot buy the instruction which it offers.

The Journal has purchased three scholarships from the International Conservatory of Music for its contestants. The winners are to have their choice of any of the five different courses taught by this conservatory, namely, piano, organ, violin, mandolin and guitar. Scholarships include sheet music, all instructions and the stringed instrument, if stringed instrument courses are selected.

BILLS FOR HORSE BOOTS STAGGER CITY DADS

Bills for horse-shoeing are staggering the ways and means committee of the council and several members of that body yesterday expressed themselves as favoring a municipal blacksmith shop at the city barn, believing that the city can save money by shoeing its own horses. It is likely that an ordinance will be drafted in the near future providing a blacksmith shop.

FIRE CAPTAINS ASK FOR SALARY INCREASE

Council Committee Recommends Raise of Blaze Squelchers to $115.

Fire captains in the city fire department will receive salaries of $115 per month after September 1, being an advance of $5 a month over the pay received by engineers and an advance of $15 a month over what they are now receiving, if the recommendation of the ways and means committee is adopted by the council. Yesterday the members of the committee went on record as favoring higher wages in the department.

The fire captains are at present receiving $100 a month, which is $10 a month less than the salary of the engineers. Inasmuch as the captains have charge of the engine houses and dictate orders to the engineers they thought that they should have greater pay than the engineers.

Considerable discussion arose when the matter was brought up. Cottell said that if any salaries were to be raised he thought the fire department should receive the benefit of it. Cottell even contended cutting down salaries in the police department to increase those of the fire department. However, little attention was paid to this suggestion by the other members of the council.

The committee entertained a proposition from the transit men in the city engineer's office, in which they asked for an increase in salary from $90 to $120 a month. The transit men assert that they are able to secure higher wages in the federal service or in the employ of the railroads. The matter was referred to City Engineer Taylor for recommendation.

MUST SUBMIT NEW BIDS FOR DETENTION HOME

Architects Hand in Estimates by Mistake to County Clerk Fields.

Bids for the new detention home of the juvenile court were opened by the county clerk at noon on the day named, and it was found that there was but one bid in the hands of County Clerk Fields.

About two hours afterward the architects who had drawn the plans appeared at the court house with a large number of bids that had been sent to them by the contractors through mistake.

The county judge and commissioners held that as the advertisement for the bids had directed them to be sent to the county clerk, and the architect was not a county clerk, they could not consider the bids that were sent to the wrong place.

It was decided to advertise again for bids, and the officials express the hope that the contractors will send their bids to the county clerk this time instead of sending them to the architects. The one bid that was regularly submitted offered to construct the detention home for $14,000, which the officials regarded as too high. The architects to whom the bids were misdirected were Bennes, Hendricks & Tobey.
