Unknown Man Afflicted With Smallpox Rushes About Oregonian Building and Escapes Authorities—Many Exposed to Dread Disease.

With head and hands matted of running smallpox a man ran into Dr. J. D. Fenton's office in the Oregonian building yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock for treatment. While Dr. Fenton was trying to secure the proper officials the man became alarmed at the visions of the pesthouse and ran through the corridors and down the stairs to the ground floor where he dashed out of the building and ran west on Alder street, exposing many persons to the disease.

The man admitted to Dr. Fenton that he had been exposed to the disease three weeks before, but was not sure that he was afflicted with the contagion. He did not give his name nor address and is still at large. Dr. Fenton said this morning that the man came into his office about 1 o'clock and asked to be treated. Dr. Fenton at once recognized the fact that the man had an advanced case of smallpox and ordered him into the hall. Dr. Fenton then called in Dr. E. F. Geary, county health officer, who agreed in Dr. Fenton's diagnosis. An effort was made to get Dr. Esther T. Pohl, city health officer, to take care of the man, but he had been removed to the pesthouse.

Dr. Fenton then left the man in charge of Dr. Geary. While the latter was trying to secure Dr. Pohl the man ran away. Some time elapsed before Dr. Pohl's assistant, Dr. M. P. Stollard, arrived at the Oregonian building and in the meantime the man escaped.

Dr. Stollard fumigated all the places exposed by the man and Dr. Fenton closed his office for the rest of the day in order to thoroughly disinfect the place to prevent any chance of the disease germs lurking about.

All effort to locate the man has been without success. He is described by Dr. Fenton as being about 30 years of age, dark of complexion and weighing about 150 pounds.

Dr. Fenton was quite indignant when he returned and found the man had run away. He hopes that he will be caught and made an example of. Hundreds of persons were exposed to the dread scourge, which could have been prevented had the man remained and allowed himself to be placed in the pesthouse where he could have been properly cared for at the city's expense.

Neither Dr. Fenton or Dr. Geary allowed themselves to come in contact with the man, but examined him while standing several feet away.

Great excitement prevailed in the building for some time after it was learned that the man had been running about. Visitors to the building hurried up and down the corridors badly frightened lest they might catch the disease.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—John D. Rockefeller, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, is having troubles. He has been trying for more than a month to collect $73,945 in witness fees and miles from Uncle Sam, but he has not been able to convince the reluctant collector that $73,945 is really due for telling Judge Landis that he did not know anything about the business of the oil octopus.

MOORE GIVES SHIPMENTS

ors as to the probable amounts they will receive back from this source. It would surprise no one familiar in a general way with the bank's condition if it should pay out dollar for dollar to depositors without the necessity of a check from the bank. The president of the institution, and of H. A. Moore, who was a director of the bank, is honest at heart and evinces the utmost anxiety to deal fairly and honestly with those who may be likely to suffer financial loss through his seeming negligence, under such circumstances there ought to be a corresponding disposition on the part of the depositors and the public generally to encourage him, instead of hounding him with threats of criminal prosecution and bankruptcy proceedings.

Moore's Friends Support Him.

The Journal today received the following communication: Portland, Or., Aug. 25.—We, the undersigned, citizens of Clatsop county, and depositors in the Oregon Trust & Savings bank, feel it to be our duty, and deem it a pleasure as well, to come forward at this time and say a few words in behalf of W. H. Moore, president of the institution, and of H. A. Moore, who was a director of the bank.

Clean Record of Honesty.

"We have known W. H. Moore and his brother, H. A. Moore, for many years, we have banked with them in Sherman county; we have had extensive business relations with them, and during all those years our observation of their business methods has conclusively satisfied us that they are honest men, upright and conscientious in every respect.

Confidence in Men Bold.

"We believe that under a careful and prudent administration of its affairs, the bank will pay its depositors in full. But if the public mind is inflamed and prejudiced, by all means, we respectfully urge that patience and moderation be exhibited by all until the true condition of affairs has been ascertained. The receiver and President Moore be afforded a full and fair opportunity to relieve the unfortunate situation as far as possible.

Walla Walla's Expansion.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Walla Walla, Wash., Aug. 25.—Olson & Co., local real estate firm, yesterday bought a tract of 150 acres known as the Slickles farm, located four miles west of Walla Walla on the Miller electric line. The tract was bought for $20,000. The two tracts will be platted into average tracts and placed on the market.

Military Tooters Agree To Blow Their Tin, But Question Arises.

ARRANGEMENT OF PARADE STILL IN AIR

Labor Day Committee Is At Sea Whether to Allow Third Regiment Band to Head Procession As All Are Not Union Men.

Whether the offer of the Third Infantry band to head the parade of the union men on Labor Day should be accepted or not is worrying the Labor Day committee of the Federated Trades and labor unions.

Unionism the Question.

This morning a letter was received from the Third regiment band, one of the best in the state of Oregon, offering to take part in the parade in their dress uniforms unless the committee had objections. The trouble is that the members of the band, being a military organization, is not unionized. However, three of its members are members of the musicians' union and three more are employers friendly to union labor.

Some members of the committee declare that to have a nonunion band participate in a Labor day parade would be contrary to all precedent and is certain to create a riot. The other members of the committee are anxious to leave the matter of the acceptance of the invitation to the musicians' union for settlement.

Secure Many Attractions.

In addition to these the committee has arranged for a white-picking contest between two members of the able-bodied union, a pole-climbing contest between the members of the line men's union, and exhibitions by the trick horse Prince Karl and three high-diving dogs. The grandstand contest has been assured, Secretary Thomas Leach of the barbers' union having agreed to have the animal so that he will be in prime condition for the contest. The committee men say they will pay no attention to the charges made by the humane society that the turkey-dropping contest will be unusual, but there is nothing cruel about it, as a turkey is simply killed and its wings to insure its safe descent to earth.

TIRED AND SICK YET MUST WORK

"Man may work from sun to sun but woman's work is never done." In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo and often suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, comes as a blessing. When the spirits are depressed, the head and back aches, there are dragging-down pains, nervousness, sleeplessness, and reluctance to go anywhere, which unless heeded, are soon followed by the worst forms of Female Complaints.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound keeps the feminine organism in a strong and healthy condition. It cures inflammation, ulceration, displacements, and organic troubles. In preparing for child-birth and to carry women safely through the Change of Life it is most efficient.

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"For a long time I suffered from female troubles and had all kinds of aches and pains in the lower part of back and sides. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and following the advice which you gave me I feel like a new woman and I cannot praise your medicine too highly."

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women
Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of her vast volume of experience she probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.
