RULING BUTTER

Trade Expects a General . Drop in Price to 35c Early in the Coming Week.

Latest market features: All quote butter easier. Only one car grapes arrives. Alaska spud demand about filled. Onlon market is in fine shape. Watermelon business is good. Crawford peaches are disappearing.
Tomatoes drop to still lower price.
Hay market in fine shape.
Local wheat firm, but unchanged.
Some quote advance for eggs. Poultry in good demand. Dressed meats firmer again. Butter Is Quoted Easier.

In the local creamery butter market an easier tone is prevailing. Arrivals of butter fat show a heavier volume and the output of butter is therefore increasing. Several creameries here are still quoting their best product at 37½ a pound, but would like to drop to 35c if they could without seeming to give in to the others. However, there is no real weakness in the market—only a growing duliness on account of the unusual high figures for this time of year. According to a large local manufacturer there was recently a sharp advance in the price of butter at eastern points, but the local market is so far above the eastern quotation, even with freight added, that the outside fluctuation has practically no bearing upon the local situation. In any event, the general opinion of the trade is that butter prices should go to a lower point and will probably do so early in the coming week.

points, out the local market is above the eastern quotation, even with freight added, that the outside fluctuation has practically no bearing upon the local situation. Big Market is Very Firm.

So firm is the local egg situation that some dealers easily maintained samall advance in values yesterday. The general market for strictly freat stock is 26c, with only an occasional sale of a single case a fraction higher Fastern and cold storage eggs are being withdrawn and forced into competition with the local fresh product. This sall that is keeping the local fresh stuffers going to a much higher point.

Chesse market is easier again, with the trade not so anxious to buy on account of the high values. While prices are still being held very high at Tills mook county points, the tone is easier there because of the smaller business offered, but stocks are said to be too low to admit of any reduction in value at this time. Holders of eastern cheese will be end to so any count of the high values. While prices are still being held very high at Tills mook county points, the tone is easier there because of the smaller business offered, but stocks are said to be too low to admit of any reduction in value at this time. Holders of eastern cheese with receipts not so liberal and demand good.

Dressed veal is firmer again owing to the slack arrivals today. Price under 17½c, because under that figure there would be no profit.

Chicken market is in very fine shape, with receipts not so liberal and demand good.

EGGS ARE SCARCER

'Eggs are scarce and higher . and it looks as if receipts would . fall behind for awhile.

"Butter is coming in more . freely and we consider the conditions much weaker for all "Poultry is also weaker with a better demand for fancy hens than for spring chickens. The latter have been in very large supply of late and the demand for them has slacked off materially. Large spring ducks are in good demand and the . trade does not get all it needs of them. Large spring geese are also good sellers and the trade can use more of them. Fat hen turkeys are in demand and large spring turkeys are being inquired for. I do not look for chickens the coming week, although a good many will be . wanted, especially hens.

LOWER FRUIT RATE NAMED FOR CANNING

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Screm, Or., Aug. 30 .- The following elegram from R. B. Miller, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific, was received by the railway commission was received by the railway commission yesterday afternoon:

"We desire to publish effective 29th, rate 10 cents per hundred pounds green fruit for canning purposes only from 8 salem to East Portland to expire in 60 days. The reason given is that cannery at Salem will be unable to take care of all fruit offering and lack cold storage provision at Salem makes it imperative that business be shipped to East Portland to be taken care of. This rate has been made during former seasons for this particular reason. Have we your authority to publish tariff accordingly? Please answer quick.

The commission immediately wired the following message in reply:
"Answering your wire of August 28."

Condon Goes as No. 1.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Condon, Or., Aug. 30 .- Harvesting in this vicinity is progressing satisfactorily, but there is such an enormous crop ily, but there is such an enormous crop this year that farmers are having the time of their lives now. There are 20 combined harvesters and 16 threshing outfits running at full blast in this district. They expect to be through by October I, weather permitting.

A careful estimate places the amount of grain to be marketed at Condon this fail at 600,000 sacks of wheat and barley, or 1,200,000 bushels wheat and 400,000 bushels of barley. All wheat tested so far this season goes No. 1. Not one case of where any of the 1907 wheat tested less than 58 pounds, the average being 60½ pounds. Fifty-eight pounds is No. 1. A great many of the farmers have contracted their wheat at 70 cents. About 35,000 sacks sold at that figure today. The recent hail and rain storms The recent hall and rain storm did no damage here. Garfield, Wash., Aug. 30.—A heavy downpour of rain last night has com-pletely stopped all harvest work for this week, and the town is full of men this week, and the town is full of men from near-by machines who have come to attend the Jesse James show, which is to be here today. A general feeling of depression rules among the farmers. Only two days this week has it been possible for threshing machines to work. The rain was general all over the wheat that and the prospect for clearing is belt, and the prospect for clearing is not good. The outlook for the wheat is very discouraging, as not more than a third of the crop has been saved to date. Never since the big rains of 1891 Sept. have the farmers felt so downhearted oct. Nov. Chicago, Aug. 30.—The wheat market opened weak on a fractional decline in Liverpool cables, but the latter advance there caused sharp advances with con-siderable short covering. Foreign buy-ers took advantage of the recent weakness in American prices and bought hard winter wheat wherever it was ob-tainable. The fact that there is so much damp grain that must be moved at once has undoubtedly swelled the current receipts far above the nominal.

Page Buys Pears. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Garfield, Wash., Aug. 30 .- Mr. Oldenburg, representing Page & Son of Portland has been in the Palouse country this week and has succeeded in purchasing several good pear orchards. From J. F. Long, Dr. Divine and H. S. Hunt he purchased five cars of splendid Bartlett pears, and the growers will begin packing about September 1. J. E. Trimble has just sold the fruit from his 100-acre apple orchard east of Garfield. The price he received is not made public but it is learned the figures run up into the thousands of dollars. The Palouse country will have one of the largest crops of fruit in its history, as every orchard is full of all kinds of splendid fruit. There are old neglected orchards near Garfield that are so full of fruit that the trees are breaking down under the load. The 40-acre orchard near Garfield owned by the Burrell estate of Portland will have $4,000 worth of choice apples on it this fall. The varieties are Baldwins, Jonathans, Greenings and Rome Beauty. did Bartlett pears, and the growers will of the old season when the prospects Even the small number of growers for the incoming crop are good. Brew for the incoming crop are good. Brewers are making very few purchases and dealers are not inclined to take on much stock unless the prices named are particularly attractive. About the only transaction we hear of on the open market is a little over a carload of pretty good Particle. The price paid is said obtaining a sufficient number of harvesters. Not one of the large yards have more than half enough pickers to gather the crop in the usual time.

Every day adds to the number of growers who have decided not to pick their hops this season on account of the lack of encouragement in the price and offers of picking money. Yards are being abandoned on every side for this reason.

Few yards show any matured hops at this time, but all who can are hurrying the harvest with all possible speed to stop the destructive work of the elements. In some sections the quality could scarcely be better than shown this year, but in other places the stock is so poor that even in years of good prices it would scarcely pay to pick the crop.

Dealers have placed another 50,000 his generally the first week in September. It is estimated that the yield will be about 55,000 bales. Growers on the further muddle the growers.

A feature of the present year is that to date there has not been a single sale of hops. Not a single bale of figgles has changed hands. This is a most extraordinary eccurrence and shows the general lack of confidence in the market by the dealers.

Notes by an Eastern Journal.

The New York Producers' Price Current says of the situation:

Business on the local market is exceedingly dull as usual on the windup.
