WHY LET RAILROADS FIX RATES?

THE proposed advance in lumber rates from the northwest states may, if put in effect, be more far reaching in its consequences than either carriers or shippers anticipate.

ANOTHER PORTLAND ATTRACTION.

THE required amount of stock in the livestock show and country club having been subscribed, the success of the enterprise seems assured.

WHO IS HE?

PORTLAND contemporary is publishing a series of articles attacking the public schools of this city, and finding fault of many kinds with the teachers from the city superintendent down.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Not a Reputable Method. Portland, Aug. 29.—To the Editor of The Journal—Permit me space to deny a statement made by one Hamilton, representing himself to be a first-class life insurance solicitor.

REPUBLICANS AND THE TARIFF.

WHETHER Mr. Fairbanks, Mr. Cannon, and other statesmen who are "friends" of the tariff know it or not, we think that there is a growing demand that will become insistent and make itself heard in the next national convention, among Republicans, for a revision of the tariff.

then be "revised by its friends," without any definite specifications as to how its "friends" will revise it.

In the first place, such a promise is not to be trusted, because it has been made, by inference at least, before, and not kept. Nor, if the "friends of the tariff," Cannon, Payne, Dalzell, Aldrich, Knox, and other leaders, are to revise it, will the revision be what the people want at all?

Nor do we think that Mr. Taft's cautious and tentative advocacy of tariff revision will suit these Republicans. They want the tariff revised next year, when there is plenty of time and a good opportunity to do it.

Small Change

Don't let the food cranks spoil your appetite. Portland should show up large at the Astoria regatta.
