ADAMS OPPOSES VENUE CHANGE

Noted Miner Charges State With Campaigning Against Him.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Wallace, Ida, Sept. 6.—Affidavits in the Steve Adams case were filed yesterday by the defense, in which men who have been residents of Shoshone county for years say they are familiar with the attitude of the people, and that in their opinion a fair and impartial jury can be secured.

Steve Adams himself upon his oath deposes and says the application for a change of venue by the prosecuting attorney is not true. In this it is stated that a fair and impartial jury cannot be secured in Shoshone county.

The affiant further states that on a warrant charging him with the murder of Fred Tyler, he was taken overland across a great portion of Idaho by the roadmen of the Idaho penitentiary, the journey continuing several days.

Extensive notice was given in the newspapers of the crime with which defendant is charged. Interviews were given by public officials regarding the crime and his alleged connection therewith, statements were made by McFarland, the newspapers contained extensive accounts and extensive notice was given the case and the connection of the defendant therewith throughout the country, yet, notwithstanding this publicity, only three days was consumed in securing an eligible jury, for which duty members of the miners' federation were found eligible in small proportion.

He says comparatively little attention has been paid by the newspapers to the case since the trial in February and March, and that an impartial jury can readily be secured.

He further says the application for the change is not made in good faith, but for delay and for a continuance until the officers and other persons in charge of the case of the state against George A. Feltone can determine upon future procedure.

The affiant further says that the proceedings against him are at the instance of officers and attorneys engaged in the prosecution of Hayward, Meyer, Pattison and Simpkins, that compensation therefor is paid by the state and that Henry P. Knight, an attorney by the state to assist in the prosecution, or so the affiant is informed. He says no part of the compensation of Knight or that of Henry P. Knight is paid by the same is true of J. E. Gyde. The affiant says James H. Hawley, leading counsel for the state against Feltone, in his report of the expenditures of $104,000 included the foregoing and other items in connection with the former trial of this case.

JURY RIGHT DENIED.

Darrow Takes This as Text in Attacking Change of Venue Law.

(Journal Special Service.)
Wallace, Ida, Sept. 6.—Clarence Darrow, counsel for Steve Adams, commenced his argument against the change of venue asked for by the state, with the announcement that it was the intention of the defense to question the constitutionality of the act under which the change was applied for. He declared it was first an infringement of the rights of the defendant to trial by jury, and second, that it was an ex post facto act. His opening argument, yesterday afternoon, directly concerned the first. The latter was taken this morning.

"It has been guaranteed that every citizen of this state shall have the right to trial by jury and that this shall be inviolate," said Mr. Darrow. "The right that he cannot be deprived of by any legislature cannot be infringed. This argument depends to a large extent on what the right to trial by jury means. Trial by jury means that the defendant shall be tried in the county and district where the benefit of his good name and character, if preserved, he shall be tried in the county and district where the witnesses testifying can operate in his favor. The law was passed for the purpose of securing conviction, and this act passed in malice, heat and conviction, is valid then every man in the state as well as Adams is to be taken to a hostile community and convicted because the power of the state and its wealth are raised against him."

Mr. Darrow's arraignment of the legislature was criticized.

MOORE MYSTERY MOST PROFOUND

Suicide Theory Now Favored; Yet No Murder Motive Appears.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Sept. 6.—In the case of the alleged suicide of Mrs. George Moore at her home near Sidney, public opinion tends to the acceptance of the murder theory held by the dead woman's husband from the first as the correct one. On a careful examination of the wounds of yesterday Coroner A. M. Clough came to the conclusion that the wounds were made by a different weapon from the one found in the woman's throat. Other matters in the appearance of the body conflict with the suicide theory. The affair is a deep mystery and the coroner will not express any definite opinion.

The body was taken to Clough's undertaking establishment and preparations made for the burial tomorrow.

The report that a verdict of suicide was given by the coroner's jury has proved incorrect, as on account of the state of the evidence the calling of the jury was postponed. Sheriff Culver will thoroughly investigate.

Dr. J. N. Smith, who was called immediately after the body was found, and who then favored the suicide theory, on second view admits that the wound was of a kind almost impossible of self-infliction. Wounds in the throat made by suicides are usually slanting as the hand must be raised above the shoulder. This is straight across the throat and is very deep.

However, no motive of murder can be deduced. The money in the house, several hundred dollars, was not touched. No suspicion against the husband can be held, since, besides being of good character, he can establish a complete alibi.

The knife is now at the coroner's establishment.

MEDFORD SCHOOLS BIGGER AND BETTER

Five New Rooms—Added Equipment for Advanced Work—The Corps.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Medford, Or., Sept. 6.—The Medford city schools will open for work September 9 with the promise of the largest enrollment in their history. Five new rooms have been completed and in all probability these will not accommodate the largely increased numbers. The high school will offer six complete courses, mathematics, history, English, Latin-German, science and commercial. Vocal music will also be taught. Some attention will be given to athletics, heretofore neglected owing to the fact that there was no one to coach.

A contract has been let to install a steam heating plant in the high school building, displacing the hot air system formerly in use. About $400 worth of physical and chemical apparatus has been added to an already liberal supply and with a competent man at the head of the department the best work may be done. The business department will be equipped with standard single and double keyboard typewriters and the department will be in charge of a specialist. The Medford schools, under Superintendent M. E. Signs, may be expected to rank with the best in the state.

RELIGIOUS LIBERALS TO MEET IN BOSTON

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—Arrangements are rapidly nearing completion for the entertainment of the fourth international congress of religious liberals, which will assemble in this city the last week of this month. The international congress seeks to unite the historic liberal churches, and, in fact, all organizations and persons who desire to develop religious freedom and enlightenment into a great twentieth century movement against intolerance and ecclesiastical tyranny.

The congress was organized in Boston in 1900, and has since held biennial sessions in London, Amsterdam and Geneva, attended by from 500 to 1,000 delegates.

The approaching congress will bring together many eminent liberals from across the Atlantic, conspicuous among whom will be Professor J. E. Carpenter of Oxford, Professor Otto Pfeifferer, D. D., of Berlin, Rev. John Hunter of Glasgow and strong groups from Holland, Switzerland and France, Hungary, Austria, Sweden, Australia, India, Japan and other countries will also be represented on the platform of the congress. The most of the sessions of the congress will be held in Tremont temple, with religious services in King's chapel.

PIGEONS WILL FLY HOME FROM FAIR

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Sept. 6.—H. C. Schellhaus of Portland, who has charge of the Poultry Department, will today complete the pigeon aviary of the state fair. One of the new features of the pigeon exhibit will be the release of homers from the aviary of their owners at Portland. Portland fanciers have promised to supply birds for the purpose. The fair aviary is being built in the form of a pyramid and will be equipped to accommodate the large numbers of entries that have been promised. The poultry department will this year be for the first time one of the most important parts of the fair.

LEWISTON INVENTS NEW SORT OF DAY

That Is Grape Day—It Will Occur in Course of Interstate Fair—Free Fruit for All.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Lewiston, Ida., Sept. 6.—Roses, daisies, melon days and peach days are matters of annual occurrence, but it has remained to Lewiston and the rich vineyard country surrounding to outline plans for the initial grape day in the history of the country. Wednesday of fair week, October 7 to 12, has been set apart by the board of directors of the Lewiston-Clarkston Interstate Fair association for this purpose, and on that day grapes—great, juicy clusters of them, such as are raised in no other portion of the country—will be given to all comers free.

The details of the plan have not as yet been completed, but it is probable that boys and girls nattily dressed will walk about the streets carrying wide baskets loaded with the luscious fruit. Those who desire may take a cluster. There will be no charge. Funds to meet the expenses of the day have been subscribed by private parties.

Many of the varieties of grapes that will be given out are famous throughout the world. The Hamburg, New York society's favorite which retails in that metropolis for from $5 to $6 a pound in winter, will be found in baskets. There will also be the Sweetwater, or Chasselas, the famous table grape of Paris. For years it was thought it could be grown successfully only in the south of Europe.

Persons with large appetites will find their need met in the large bunches of Flame Tokays, grapes averaging from four to seven pounds to the cluster. The Malaga, until recent years shipped into this country in cork dust from southern France and Spain, will also be found in the collection, as will many other equally well known varieties, all raised in the Lewiston valley.

CIVIL WAR CLAIMS CASE IN NOVEMBER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Sept. 6.—Attorney-General Crawford yesterday received word from the attorneys of the state at Washington, District of Columbia, that the hearing of the case of the state of Oregon against the national government for reimbursement for expenses incurred during the civil war will be held some time in November. This involves $390,000, which was spent by the state and has been subject of dispute ever since. The claim was put in after the close of the war and was disallowed by the federal government. The matter has been brought up from time to time by the authorities in this state. In 1904 the United States senate passed a resolution referring the matter to the court of claims. The case has been delayed to give attorneys on both sides time to collect evidence.
