

JAPANESE TARS DEFEAT FRENCH

Sailors Fight on Windjammer St. Louis Now in Harbor.

VICTORS WILL GO TO CANADA TO LIVE

Subjects of Mikado Find Life Unbearable on Sailing Vessel and Being Refused Landing Here Conclude to Go North.

In a miniature fight here last night Japan licked France to a finish, and so discouraged over the victory are those who won it that they are now preparing to go to Canada to meet John Bull's proteges there. The war was waged on the deck and in the forepeak of the French bark St. Louis about 9 o'clock and was participated in by two Japs and two Parisians. After putting the Frenchmen out of business the Japs donned their best Sunday clothes and walked ashore, emphatically refusing to wait longer on the windjammer, which is booked to leave for Europe soon.

The fight on the St. Louis is of more significance than an ordinary sailors' row, because it brings to action the laws of the country as relating to foreign subjects, and for that reason care is being taken to avoid international complications. This morning the two Japanese, Y. Kokihara and Y. Godo, called on the United States immigration inspector J. H. Harbour to obtain permission to land here and become residents of the states, but they were refused because, being sailors only, they come under the law requiring passports, and these they have not. Inspector Harbour advised the sailors to go to Canada, and they have about decided to do so, fearless of being ducked or deported by the customs here, because the little brown men out of the country.

Refused Permission to Land.

In refusing the Japs permission to remain here, Inspector Harbour said his decision on the new law which became effective in March, which says that no Japanese laborer may be admitted without being in possession of a passport. This practically means exclusion to the Japanese, because the mikado's government will not issue passports to its laborers. Canada and Mexico are open to the Japs, and as a result thousands of them are flooding into the latter to the north and south of the states. Eventually they seek the borders and cross into the states. Inspector Harbour says that hundreds of Japs are being caught here, and that men near the two lines and sent back whence they came.

Last night's fight on board the St. Louis was the culmination of a long quarrel dating back to the time when the vessel left Newcastle, Australia, for Portland about three months ago. The bark is at the Pacific coast coal bunkers discharging coal, and last night after the day's toll was over two of the Frenchmen went ashore to have a time. They returned in a couple of hours, considerably the worse for north and wine, and began to quarrel with the Japs. They had learned quite a few choice French expressions since they joined the vessel at Kobe nearly six months ago.

End Now Both Sailors.

Kokihara is a big Jap and a live one, and he saw no sense in standing abuse at the hands of drunken men. Accordingly he let loose and laid his adversary low with one terrific reef on the hand. Those who watched him do it say that it was a Ju-Jitsu trick, because the Frenchman went down and out like a candle in a gale. In the meantime the other Jap struggled with the second Frenchman, neither getting the upper hand. Kokihara put his partner's assistance after having put his own antagonist to sleep, and soon the other Frenchman was placed alongside, quiet and apparently perfectly subdued. Then the Japs retired and sleep soundly all night.

PORTLAND TOMATO VINE BEARS BIG CLUSTER OF RUDDY FRUIT

Nature's Wonderful Work in Building Fruit Bearing Plant.

Nature overdid herself in building a tomato vine which grows in the back yard of the residence of T. J. Jackson, 325 East First street north, where a plant which bears the ruddy fruit has grown to a height of over five feet.

On a single branch of this vine eight tomatoes have grown to maturity. They are not large ones, but are solid, and the number is about twice that which usually grows from a cluster of blossoms. It is seldom that more than three or four tomatoes are found in a cluster on the same branch.

Mr. Jackson has 18 tomato plants in the little garden in his back yard, and from this unlucky number he has raised a bushel of fruit without making any particular effort to get either large or extraordinary results.

compared with the rate of the United States, several other vessels were reported chartered this morning, among them being the French bark Eugene Schneider, which is now en route for this port with a cargo of coal from Newcastle, Australia. The Eugene Schneider was taken for 30 shillings, Portland loading with January cancelling date. The British bark Castle Rock was chartered to carry wheat from Puget sound to Europe at $13 3/4, December cancelling.

FINE WEATHER AT SEA.

Steamship President Flashes News Shortly Before Noon.

Fine weather is prevailing on the ocean off the Oregon coast today according to a wireless message received from the steamship President shortly before noon today. The message was received at the North Head station and promptly forwarded to the weather bureau here.

The President was off Crook's Point, about 230 miles south of the mouth of the Columbia river, when the message was flashed to the tower at North Head. The message stated that the sea was calm, the wind northwest with a force at 58, and the thermometer at 58.

This is the first message successfully transmitted to the North Head station in the daytime, and it is believed from the legible report received today that henceforth it will not be necessary to await night to communicate with ashore.

ROSY COMPLEXION WITHOUT COSMETIC

Home Prescription for the Skin Said to Work Wonders on the Complexion.

A good complexion is essential to facial beauty, and if it cannot be attained naturally, then artificial means must be resorted to.

But all ladies regret the necessity of using imitation beauty and would gladly possess the natural rosy glow with which some of their sisters are so beautifully favored.

Here is a prescription that comes across the ocean, from France, the home of so many beauty secrets, and it is said to be the most effective preparation known to science for rejuvenating the skin and restoring the bloom of youth as well as promoting the growth in undeveloped or shrunken parts.

Obtain from your druggist: Two ounces of Rose Water; one ounce Spirits of Cologne; four ounces crystallized Sartin (skin food).

Put the Sartin into a pint of hot water (not boiling) and after it is dissolved and cooled strain it through a fine cloth and all the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits. Put it in a bottle or fruit jar and keep well corked when not in use.

This wash is to be applied twice a day or oftener, and massaged well into the skin. It is an inexpensive mixture, the ingredients being obtainable at any good drug store and is well worth a trial.

PATRICK BRICE, DEAD; INDIAN WAR VETERAN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Butte, Mont., Sept. 10.—Patrick Brice, hero of several Indian wars and one of the argonauts of the early '50s, died yesterday at Anaconda of Bright's disease. Brice was awarded a medal for signal bravery during the Nez Perce war in 1877 in connection with the rescue of the 6-year-old daughter of an army officer named Manuel.

Brice had been taken captive by the Indians, but through the friendship of a Nez Perce chief he was given opportunity to escape. It was while he was stealthily making his way crawling through the brush to evade the hostile Nez Perces that he heard the cry of the child for "mamma" near the Indian camp. At great risk to himself, with the redskins within striking distance, he succeeded in gaining possession of the child, and after two days of great privation succeeded in reaching Captain Berry's command.

Brice was one of the best-known pioneers of Anaconda.

MARKING NEW CHANNEL

Lighthouse Tender Armeria in Harbor to Begin Work.

The lighthouse tender Armeria will begin placing spurs and buoys in the river soon to mark the channel according to the surveys made by the pilots and the government engineers, the latter being in progress now. The Armeria came up this morning and went to her usual berth at the Couch street dock.

The channel has been shifted considerably this season by the work of the dredges and the set of the currents and for that reason there will be a great deal of work for the Armeria in getting the channel properly marked.

RATES GO STILL HIGHER.

Spot Vessel Gets Good Price to Europe on Puget Sound.

The top-notch price for wheat freights for four years from a Pacific coast port to Europe was reached this morning when an exporting firm agreed to pay 32 1/2 c for the British bark Sardhana from Seattle to the United Kingdom. The Sardhana is now at Seattle ready for loading and she is a small vessel, 1,100 tons net register, which accounts for her getting a fancy price as
