The game was not a bad one at all. Both Cates and Hartman twirled in good form. Cates was either very lucky or very effective in a pinch, for numerous times he was in a bad hole, but pulled himself out. A movement having this end in view was started last gon grill. night at a farewell dinner given at the Oregon grill to Major W. A. Bethel, U. S. Major Bethel will leave for San Francisco tomorrow, where he will be stationed for an indefinite time. For the past three years he has been stationed at Manila. Previous to that his post was at Vancouver, Washington. During his stay at Vancouver Major Bethel won numerous tennis tournaments in the northwest; twice he captured the championship of Oregon in singles. As he stated last night, the farewell is not truly a farewell for him, for he expects to be back to compete in the northwest tourneys next summer and finally to make his home here when he leaves the army.

Broached by Major Bethel. The proposition to encourage tennis in The proposition to encourage tennis in the Portland schools was first made by Major Bethel himself, during one of several pleasing responses which he was called upon to make. He suggested that an annual tournament for grammar school pupils be held and that worthy prizes be provided for the winners. The igea was received with enthusiasm at once and Brandt Wickersham announced that he would like the honor of donating a cup for the initial tourney. Walter ing a cup for the initial tourney. Walter A. Goss said that he would be glad to donate a cup for the second year and F. J. Raley announced that he wished ternoon. The sphere hit the turf squarely between left and center field and traveled with a hop, skip and a jump to the center fence, allowing Smith and Van Haltren to come across for the only two runs of the game.

It happened in the fifth inning, after each side had come within an ace of scoring several times, but had failed. Eli Cates, first up, dropped a safe one

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Week day games will start hereaf-er at 3 o'clock. The change goes into effect today.

A prediction—that Oakland will be second in the pennant race before the end of the week. Yesterday's attendance was almost a record breaker for smallness. It's about time the chickens were coming home to

"Porky' Pokorny was at first base again yesterday while Atherton stood on the side lines and coached. The grandpa first baseman showed that he grandpa first baseman showed that he Totals 3 0 1 0 4 0 | grandpa first baseman showed that he function City, to the extent that Parkinson has become the doctor's father-into the outfield in the third inning.

AB. R. H. PO. A. E. Hartman could have scored easily, but thereton did not send him in. Perhaps old Charles was judging Hartman's leg lassey, 1f 3 0 1 3 0 0 possibilities by his own tortoise-like lassey, 1f 3 0 1 3 0 0 possibilities by his own tortoise-like lassey.

Attertion did not sent and a certain amount of old Charles was judging Hartman's leg possibilities by his own tortoise-like limitations.

By the bye, Atherton is planning to leave the game within a few days and go back into the music business. It's about time. He worked a plain bunko game when he induced McCredie to bring him out here. And Mac showed his contempt for his home fans when he allowed the depreclated goods to stay on his shelves. A horse cannot he blamed for becoming string-halted, but he should be blamed when he presentends that he is young and frisky.

Pokerny marked his second debut with a dump-head play that is seldom equaled in professional bail anywhere. Jimmy Smith knocked him a hot drive in the third, which he neatly gathered in the third, which he neatly gathered in the third, which he neatly gathered in the hird, which he neatly gathered in the hird, which he neatly gathered in the stood and waited, apparently imagining that his work was done. "Porky" could have crawled backwards and beat Smith to the bag, but he didn't start until Smith was almost there. Perhaps he thought Hartman would cover first, but as the player performed his pick-up so close to the bag, that is returned from their ride about $9$ Friday, $10 to 10 p. m.; boxing and port a wife in the way his daughter wrestling, Monday and Friday, $20 to 10 p. m.; swimming, 40 to 20 p. m.; swimming, 40 to 40 p. m.; swimmin formed his pick-up so close to the bag, Hartman very properly stayed in his place. The result was that Smith was safe and was credited with a safe hit.

Mott could have had a base hit in the second inning if he had run for it. He bunted to Cates and did not try to run until the pitcher juggled the ball. Even then he almost beat it out. Mott has done that same trick before. It is a thing that should not be allowed to pass without punishment in the shape of a fine. But McCredle would probably not fine any of his better players for anything. Discipline in the Portland club has become that bad.

When there's "three and two" on Bassey he almost invariably strikes out. Did you ever notice it? Bassey did it twice yesterday and either time a long single would have meant two runs for Portland.

INDOOR SEASON

Begins Monday Night With Assembling of Seniors and the Night Juniors.

Sixteen of the foremost tennis enthusiasts of Portland were present at the dinner, which was given at the Oregon grill. The meeting was marked by the greatest of good fellowship and continued, for nearly four hours. A. B. McAlpin, as toastmaster, proved a grand success. All present were called upon for speeches and Major Bathel reupon for speeches and Major Bethel re-sponded several times in his happiest yein, CORPS OF INSTRUCTORS WILL BE THE SAME The great racquet game in its various aspects was the subject for discussion and, while there was much light banter, there were also said many serious things upon the well-being of the game.

The fact was pointed out by several that tennis is about the only outdoor sport that has absolutely no taint of professionalism about it. Players were urread to continually transcent All Departments Have Been Thoroughly Renovated - Season's Schedule in Boxing and Wrestling Will Soon Be Arranged.

professionalism about it. Players were urged to continually try to increase their variety of strokes; to practice for practices' sake and to go into tournaments to win. The hope was expressed that next year will see a larger representation at the Northwest and international tournaments.

President McMillan and T. Morris Dunne of the Multnomah club spoke of the increase in the popularity of the club and predicted that next year would see a larger number of courts there. F. J. Raley announced that arrangements had been made with the owners of the eight lots adjoining the Irvington club to hold the property, so that when the club is able to do so it may purchase the property and add to the six fine courts it now has.

Program of Toasts. The indoor athletic season will begin at the Multnomah club next Monday evening, when the club seniors and the night juniors will line up in the gymnasium for the first time. The work of the day juniors will begin Wednesday and of the women's annex Tuesday. A considerable sum of money has been spent during the past few months in renovating the gymnasium and all indoor departments and the club expects to have one of the most active winters in its history The program of toasts at the dinner was as follows:

The program of toasts at the dinner on behalf of the Irvington club, President Jay Hamilton offered the Irvington courts for preliminary rounds to be played among the east side schools and on behalf of the Multnomah club, President Memilian offered the club courts for purposes of the tournament.

In basketball the season will be started In basketball the season will be started with a club league, the men making the best showing to be placed upon the club first team to go against outside clubs and colleges in the big games. Handball, always a highly popular game at Multnomah, will contribute its full share of interest. The one handicap in this sport at the club is the fact that the club has but one court, which is not nearly sufficient to accommodate all who would play. A new modate all who would play. A new floor of narrow boards will be laid in the court and the interior will be freshly painted. Tournaments will be-gin in October, The bowling alleys are all ready for business.
