Poor old Rip Van Haltren was up against it for a pitcher yesterday afternoon for a time it looked as if George himself would have to climb the mountain and hand down some of those curves which long ago mystified the slingers of the National league.

The Beavers were there with the big stick and before the second spasm had ended Van had tried out three twirlers and found them all wanting.

"Deacon" Bill Wright, the Oaks' premier, was driven off the perch with the bases full and none out in the second. Harry Goodwin, a try-out youth, went into his ulcers and tried hard to make a reputation. He passed Casey, forcing in Lay. Then, in a wild effort to fan Burdette, he let the ball slip out of the wrong side of his hand and Porkorny and Uroon pranced across the platter.

That was all for Goodwin. Carnes followed, but he was as easy as anybody. There were no other pitchers in sight, however, and Carnes staid with the name until the end, though the Beavers batted out seven runs after he became the man behind the gun.

It was a slugging bee on both sides and Bobby Gibson covered the bases not because he was hit less, but because the delivery of his opponents was slugged and he was not hit.

Commuters and was touched for nine hits, but he covered himself with glory by landing safely on the base three times and thereby contributing much to the one-sidedness of the game.

The official record of the game follows:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Remember, week-day games begin at 2 o'clock hereafter.

Not all of the Beavers hit the ball yesterday. Of Portland's 12 hits, Baasey, Casey and Groom secured 9, each. Casey hit the fence with the first ball.

The heaviest hitting of the day was done by "Truck" Eagan. "Truck" tried hard to put one over the fence. Three times he drove the boards and twice the sphere missed going over only a few feet.

The Beavers had the Oaks buffaloed on the bases for a while yesterday and stole almost at will. Baasey sneaked three into his sack and Burdette stole two.

There's a bush league catcher down at San Diego whose name is Easterly.

GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE was the greatest general the world has ever known. Ballard's Snow Liniment is the greatest liniment. Quickly it relieves all pains. It is within the reach of all. T. H. Postner, Hempstead, Texas, writes: "This is to certify that Ballard's Snow Liniment has been used in my household for years and has been found to be an excellent liniment for rheumatic pains. I am never without it. Sold by all druggists."

BLIND POISON is the worst disease that ever afflicted man. It is caused by the use of cheap eye medicine. It is a disease that is incurable unless treated with Ballard's Snow Liniment. It is a disease that is incurable unless treated with Ballard's Snow Liniment. It is a disease that is incurable unless treated with Ballard's Snow Liniment.

Pearl Casey, Portland's star infielder, who started the Beavers' batting yesterday.

September 2. Hogan and Eager both being disabled, Easterly caught for Los Angeles and in the eleventh inning he won the game with a line drive against the outfield fence. The Los Angeles fans went wild over him and showered money at him from the grandstand, but he still belongs to San Diego. Easterly's batting record for a year at Pasadena is .425. The drafting time comes October 1. Here's a chance for McCredie. A word to the wise is sufficient.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 12.—50 professional ball players representing seven different leagues, competed in long hitting, accurate throwing and base running contests pulled off here yesterday at league park.

ENTIRELY NEW SET OF TENNIS CHAMPIONS FOR PACIFIC COAST

Men's singles—Maurice McLaughlin. Ladies' singles—Florence Sutton. Men's junior singles—Robert Strachan. Men's doubles—Maurice McLaughlin and George Jones. Ladies' doubles—Florence Sutton and Miss Bruce.

Mixed doubles—Florence Sutton and Simpson Sinsabaugh.

Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, the little lady who a few weeks ago showed Portland tennis devotees what a woman can accomplish in the mastery of the most difficult strokes of the racket, lost her title to the coast champion last Monday. Miss Hotchkiss was beaten at Del Monte by Miss Florence Sutton, second most expert among the famous Sutton sisters. Miss Sutton won the challenge match in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2.

Carelessness on the part of the Berkeley girl is given by the San Francisco Examiner as a reason for her losing the first set. After losing the first three games she won four straight and led at 4-3 and 40-15, but made two double faults and lost the game. Again at four all she led at 40-15, but lost on easy chances.

IS BRITT'S ARM REALLY BROKEN?

Question Is Still Agitating Minds of San Francisco Fight Followers.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Sept. 12.—The question of the hour among the fight fans still is whether Jimmy Britt quit in his battle with Joe Gans. In many quarters Britt is coming in for a fine panning because he refused to go on with the fight after the fifth round.

These people remember that Jimmy finished his fight with Young Corbett after claiming an injured right arm, winning from the Denverite. Nelson fought several fights with broken bones in each hand, and Gans stayed 14 rounds at Goldfield with a useless right hand. Here are a few things for which the Britts are being criticized by the disappointed.

First—For failing to show sufficient proof that there really was an injury to Jimmy's arm.

Second—For hurrying out of the ring without submitting to an examination on the spot.

Third—For hurrying the arm into a plaster cast and refusing to bring the necessary proof.

These same sports argue that if Jimmy had sustained a severe break, as he claims, he would have been parading the same as publicly as possible and not trying to hide it behind a wrist from the men who have a right to know just how and why they lost their money.

On the other hand, Jimmy Britt is greatly worried that his gameness has been questioned.

"Surely the fans have no reason to doubt my gameness," said Jimmy yesterday. "When seen at his home he sat at a table with his injured arm encased in a plaster cast, resting on the arm of the chair."

"I've certainly demonstrated again and again that I won't lie down for a little punishment, and I have surely been punished many times more than I was yesterday. I fought a round and a half with my left hand, and my body knows that I do all my work with my left and that I was as helpless as a baby without it. Still I went in and tried to finish the fight with right swings. I suffered excruciating pain in the injured arm, and after a round and a half of backing away a swing with my right I saw that it was hopeless for me to continue."

"Of course, I could have gone on and allowed myself to be minced to meat, but no fair-minded man would care to see me do that when I was incapacitated."

Britt said that the doctor ordered him to keep his hand in bandages, and stated that he could not train for at least six weeks. He still believes that he could have beaten Gans if his hand had not been injured, and says he will try to get another match with the clever negro.

MANY FAST HORSES ALREADY AT SALEM

Barns at Fair Grounds Rapidly Filling in Preparation for Races.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Or., Sept. 12.—Horses are pouring in to the fair grounds every day and it is safe to say that there are now 200 horses in the barns to take part in one or another of the events during the fair week.

Horsemen here are generally of the opinion that if good track and the right kind of weather this meet will be one of the greatest in the history of the Pacific northwest. Many top horses are already here and daily trials are made. For the $5,000 trotting stake the favorite among horsemen here is undoubtedly R. Ambush, belonging to J. E. Bonnell of Redlands, California, sired by Zolock and with a record of 2:13 1/2.

Sat. Royal, belonging to N. K. West of La Grande, who won the $5,000 stake last year is here and has shown more speed in his trials than any horse on the grounds. Crylla Jones is receiving his finishing touches in charge of John Pender, who is willing to bet $100 against $10 that he will win the stake. Several other horses are here practicing for the $5,000 Lewis & Clark stake, among which are, of course, the Salem horses.

For the 2:09 pace, Greater Salem stake, Luke Lindsay, the 84-year-old boy, has entered. Lord Lovelace and has also horses finishing for lesser stakes. Cope de Ora, who is entered both for the Greater Salem stake and the Merchant's 2:25 pace, $1,000 stake, is also attracting notice.

A fine array of horses for the 2:20 classes are on the grounds. Delmont, a fast green mare belonging to Dr. Young, is doing good trial work, as is also Nique, belonging to C. A. Harri son. This is also a green mare and the owner does not expect her to accomplish much at this meet, as she has not been up against any fast work.

Horses to take part in the running races are arriving fast.

WHITMAN COLLEGE OPENS AUSPICIOUSLY. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash., Sept. 12.—Convocation exercises, marking the opening of the forty-second year of the institution, were held in the college chapel Tuesday evening.

The principal feature of the evening was an address by Harry E. Taah, a graduate of the class of '01, who for six years has been a teacher in the government service in the Philippines. Mr. Taah's subject was "Experience in the Philippines."

Roy A. Williams, new instructor in the violin department, and Miss Gene Branscombe, new instructor in piano made her first appearance. The convocation was formal, the council, faculty and trustees, attending in full academic costume.

Registration and classification has been proceeding all week and the total enrollment will be considerably larger than ever before. In the college proper the enrollment will be especially large and it is expected that the freshman class will number about 75, as against 50 last year.

The first chapel exercises were held yesterday morning with a large attendance and regular class work commences today.

SPORTING NOTES

Local and Otherwise.

Winged M Chat for September is out. It is as chatty as ever.

A man named J. A. McGuire believes he can beat both Carl Nelson and Major Field in a broadsword contest. He has issued a challenge to both, offering to fight both in one day, one right after the other. The winner will be either mounted or on foot and would like to have the contest pulled off within the next two weeks.

The next San Francisco fight of note is to be between Jack (Twin) Sullivan and Bill Squires, the Australian champion. The two have signed articles for a 25-round go—September 28. Billy Roche will referee the bout.

Homer Tilley, the middleweight wrestler who gained the decision over Edgar Frank in a bout here last summer, will wrestle for the Spokane Athletic club the coming season. Tilley was formerly with Seattle. The Spokane clubmen in character and what he mounted or on foot and would like to have the contest pulled off within the next two weeks.

Tom O'Rourke has undertaken quite the biggest thing he ever tackled, and he has tackled some big propositions, too. This latest undertaking will be international in character and will be watched by the sporting world with the keenest interest.

O'Rourke, with his protegee, Joe Rogers, better known in the wrestling world as the "American Apollo," is going to invade England, where George Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion," champion wrestler of the world, now lives. Rogers is to meet the champion in a match, the champion's favorite Greco-Roman style.

It is a long time before college oarsmen will again hold the center of the stage, but it is worthy of note that the Annapolis already is preparing for the Fourkeeps regatta next year. The Fourkeeps regatta is a regatta in which the freshmen crews of the colleges are permitted a fourth class crew to go to Foughkeeps in this year to row against the freshmen crews of the colleges. Coach Glenn will soon take charge of the fall crew work in person. He is particularly anxious to get a line on the material in the new class, for the midshipmen will have lost several good men by graduation, including Captain Ingram, who stroked last year's first crew.
