FOR TWENTY OR TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS OR MORE

These elegant garments are shown here in an almost limitless variety. The styles, too, are diversified, the range including not alone the fads and fancies in vogue for the young man of extreme ideas, but the elegantly draped, yet less extravagantly fashioned, models for the more sedate business man, farther advanced in years.

SUITS, TOPCOATS, OVERCOATS AND RAINCOATS

Of rich imported and the best domestic weaves, warp and wool, with all the findings, the linings, the trimmings and every detail to conform to the elegance of the material. It is selling such high grades at such moderate prices that has endeared THE CHICAGO STORE to men of taste and refinement, no matter how economically inclined.

300 Men's and Young Men's New Fall Suits, Regular $12.50 and $15.00 Values $9.00

This reduction was not made with a view of selling old styles or odd lots, for we have none. This offer embraces all the very latest ideas in ready-for-service clothes worth $12.50 and $15.00. But the lines have become broken, and you know the best patterns always sell first, so take advantage of this offer at once. LADY SOCIALIST PROVOKES RIOT

Authorities Fear That Mob Contemplates Rescue of Woman From Police.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Spokane, Wash., Sept. 13.—Much excitement prevails here on account of the recent trouble with a lady Socialist orator named Mrs. Ida Hazlett, who obstructs the streets by haranguing on the thoroughfares. The woman was arrested and taken to jail, where some Socialist supporters paid her $25 bail and she went back to the stump. She is well educated and a ready speaker. About 2,000 people followed her to the station when she was arrested, and shouted and cheered and waved their hats. In court yesterday her case was set for September 19 and she was excused. She would not go, however, until she had attempted to stir up sedition. Bailiff Chester Edwards when he brought the woman in held her by the arm. She objected to this, saying "You have no right to touch me, you dog!" At the close she went up to the judge and said: "Judge, I would like to know whether they have a right to do that." Signs of disorder began to show themselves and the crowded courtroom became unmanageable. But the judge ended the matter with: "Now I want no disturbance here. You leave the courtroom. I will not tolerate any sensation here at all." All followed the woman outside with cheers. She made her way to a new stand and began addressing a crowd of 1,500 people while a prominent local Socialist kept the street clear. When the curfew hour realized there would be "nothing doing" they all left but about 150.

MUSICIANS WILL ASK FOR HIGHER SALARIES

At the last meeting of the Musicians' association it was decided to ask an advance of something like $11.50 a week on the scale now being paid by the theatre orchestras throughout the city. At present leaders receive $40 a week and other musicians $25. As yet, however, no request has been made by the musicians, though their demand has been formulated and is ready for presentation. According to the agreement it will be asked that the new scale go into effect the first of the coming month. Some managers have stated that they will not meet the demand and what would be the result in such a case can only be conjectured.

PEARS GROWN IN TUALATIN VALLEY ARE SMALL BUT VERY PROLIFIC

Raised on the Farm of C. S. Tigard.

A new variety of pear has come to town. It is grown by C. S. Tigard on his farm in the Tualatin valley near Portland and though a most luscious product it is as yet without a name so far as the owner knows. The pear resembles somewhat the Seckel pear so well known for its sweetness and flavor, though it has not the ruddy russet color of the old variety. The new pear is small in size, but makes up for this by clinging in close-packed clusters to the stem so that a tree full of pears appears almost as a solid pile of fruit heaped upon a few green leaves. Mr. Tigard is very proud of his new variety because of its fine flavor and great producing powers, and already has been the recipient of many inquiries for information and requests for scions from the new tree.

THE SHARK THEN CAME.

Hard Luck of Fisherman Who Had Caught Big Fish.

Weakfish have been plentiful of late in the waters hereabouts and fishermen have had fine sport catching them, but had luck come the other day to one angler in Gravesend bay after he had caught 33. He was fishing from a small boat, and as fast as he drew the weakfish in he would string them through the gills on a line which he kept hanging over the side of the boat down in about six feet of water, where the water was cool and the fish would keep well. It was certainly good fishing, but just after he had let the thirty-third weakfish slide down to the bunch and made the line fast inboard and started fishing again he felt the boat settle on that side over which the bunch was hanging. Some thing in the water was pulling on the bunch of weakfish down below. The fisherman grabbed the line and began hauling in promptly, but what with the weight of the fish and that strong added pull on the other end the line parted in his hands, and the next moment he got a glimpse of a five-foot shark making off with his bunch of weakfish. The shark had seized upon one of the lower fishes in the bunch and now as it began to rise the line broke, to move away, weakfish began to appear in the shark's wake, fishes that worked loose as the shark swam, and slipped up and off the free end of the line. As with the bunch decreasing and so much less weight in it to haul, the shark made faster progress, the fishes came up further and further apart, but still you could trace the shark's course out to sea, with one of the fisherman's weak-fish in its teeth, by that irregular line of weakfish slipping off the cord and coming to the surface as it fled.

By Two-Mule Power.

E. J. Dean of Kansas City and a party of friends went over an embankment in an automobile a while ago. Nobody was hurt, and the immediate problem was how to get the machine back. A farmer driving a pair of sleek mules came along. "How much power have you?" asked Dean. "Forty horsepower," said the runabout owner proudly. "Hitch on and pull this machine up to the road." The runabout was hitched on and started full speed ahead. It did not budge the bigger machine in the ditch. A farmer driving a pair of sleek mules came along. He watched the efforts of the little machine. "Huh," he said, "you fellows need mules." And he hitched on and pulled the machine up in two minutes.

GROWING ACHES AND PAINS.

Mrs. Josie Sumner, Bremont, Texas, writes, April 15, 1905: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family for three years. I would not be without it in the house. I have used it on my little girl for growing pains and aches in her knees. It cured her right away. I have also used it for frost bitten feet, with good success. It is the best liniment I ever used." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by all druggists.

BY ORDER OF THE ASSIGNEE The Doors of the Golden Eagle Swing Open Saturday at 8 A. M.

FOR IMMEDIATE AND PEREMPTORY DISPOSAL OF THE ENTIRE STOCK OF WINES AND LIQUORS

Now contained in the Family Liquor Department. It is a well known fact to thousands that only the purest, high-grade liquors and wines were carried by this house. It is also a fact that the value of liquor grows greater with age, yet this sacrifice has been determined on that other goods may be brought from the basement to occupy the room now taken up by the liquor department. The space is needed to display basement stock for quick sale later, and the goods must be sold at once for whatever they'll bring. Supply your wants on Saturday for months—say, years ahead—for good liquors, such as these grow in value with the months. Examples of Saturday's slaughter pricings:

FROM MANSFIELD'S LAST NEWSPAPER INTERVIEW

From the New York Herald. "We are altogether too prone to think evil of our neighbors and try to do them evil. We scowl too much; we smile too little."

"We have now the 'production play,' which is all scenery, costumes, mechanics, humbug and cheap literature." "Well bred people nowadays dine at home before they go to a dinner party, and then rush off after dinner to an unloving game of bridge." "When hate and indifference have killed love this earth will become as cold as the moon, and there will be nothing living but a few big, cold, slimy, bloodless slugs."

"When you have climbed to the top of the hill, if you keep on going you must go down the other side or else turn around and go down the side you have climbed up, or else sit down on top and freeze." "It is very difficult to keep on striking twelve every day. The ball keeps squaring out after a while."

AN OPPORTUNITY For a Man Who Can Sell

Not all good salesmen have good positions. Not all the men who have it in them to sell have yet found the right opportunity to develop this ability, or the position where their ability will be rewarded when shown. If either of the above applies to you, if you are all right as to character, capable as a salesman, and persistent as a worker, this advertisement is pointed right your way. The business referred to is the sale of life insurance; something that is certain to be more in demand every year. The Company referred to is the strongest in the world—best for policy holder, best for agent. A contract will be offered that will result in building up an increasing income each year. No previous experience is necessary; a course of professional instruction will be given free, but the position calls for work—it will never pay a quitter. If you are interested, drop a line at once to the undersigned, give your references, and tell him something about yourself. Don't simply send your address—that alone will not fill the bill. All letters treated in strict confidence.
