

BOURNE'S HANDS ROOST OF REPUBLICAN SMOKE

Senatorial Aspirants and Others Will Gather in "Love Feast" to Do Each Other in Graces of Oregon's Junior Senator Who Plans a Coup for Himself.

Republicans are polishing up their armor for the coming state campaign and it is expected that September 28 will see the first drill of the season when the Union Republican club meets in the Selling-Hirsch building with some 700 invited guests to cement the bonds of friendship and party loyalty through the medium of a smoker. Invitations are out for this event and according to Secretary Max Cohen the purpose of the celebration is to bring together the different factions and mold them all together into one solid mass as a nucleus for party success in June.

At this meeting it is expected that Senator Bourne will be present, as will Senator Fulton, Congressman Ellis and other prominent office-holders both past and present. The "love-seekers" will be well represented by Dr. H. W. Coo, W. S. U'Ren, T. T. Geer and a large circle of those who either have their eyes covetously upon the office of Senator Fulton or have had in the past.

Cooks Like a Bourne Coup.

Harmony will be the keynote and unity of effort the slogan of this assemblage and out of it a solid phalanx of Republican workers is expected to spring.

Some of the warhorses who have received the invitations are sniffing the air, however, and seem to scent the odor of a deep purpose in this early offering of incense by the Union Republican club. They hark back to the fact that the club was formed and say that some of the most active men behind the inception of the club were great friends of Senator Bourne and are yet to be believed, therefore that the smokers is a Bourne move inaugurated to assist in the ambition of the junior senator to lead the Oregon delegation to the Republican national convention.

Those politicians who are sitting on the fence and are not troubled with the burning of some issue or other breed of bee affirm they can see the outlines of a great map of ambition which is being drawn over the state by the master hand of Senator Bourne.

Wants to Hold Seat.

Senator Bourne, these prophets state, and most people concede the point, has a great desire to remain in the United States senate, and are yet to be believed, therefore that the smokers is a Bourne move inaugurated to assist in the ambition of the junior senator to lead the Oregon delegation to the Republican national convention.

Those politicians who are sitting on the fence and are not troubled with the burning of some issue or other breed of bee affirm they can see the outlines of a great map of ambition which is being drawn over the state by the master hand of Senator Bourne.

To secure this leadership with as little opposition as possible is the desire of the junior senator, according to the political sages, and therefore he is putting the senatorial candidates upon the back most impartially and telling each that he is on the right road to success and the toga. He is also making eyes at Senator C. W. Hodson and his side partner, A. A. Bailey, in order to calm these gentlemen and the wing of the party represented by them into quiet and peaceful acceptance of the Bourne leadership.

Each different and individual senatorial candidate believes that down under the surface he either has the friendship or the silent cooperation of Senator Bourne in his promised contest for the Republican nomination. In some quarters it is believed that different candidates have been steered into different channels by Mr. Bourne and having received the steer are confident that their helmsman through the entire voyage will be the junior senator.

Senator Fulton and H. M. Calk are the only two in the list who are apparently not filling the sails with Bourne's wind. But even these two seemingly have a belief that Senator Bourne will not throw obstacles in their path. Senator Fulton remembers the kind words of acknowledgment given by Mr. Bourne for the introductions given and attentions shown the latter by the former when he made his first appearance in Washington.

Mr. Calk remembers the efforts put forth in Mr. Bourne's behalf by both himself and his brother, W. M. Calk, during the contest resulting in Mr. Bourne's election. Both, therefore, have reason to believe that Senator Bourne will at least remain passive during the coming campaign.

All Confident of Bourne's Support.

It is different with the others. Mr. Mulkey is a firm supporter of statement No. 1 and has reason to believe that Senator Bourne will assist him. W. S. U'Ren was once in the long ago practically promised that Mr. Bourne would support him if he tried for the senatorship at the coming election. Dr. Coo thinks he is certain of Bourne's support because of his advocacy of the second elective term idea in harmony with Mr. Bourne's desire.

By those who are watching, therefore, it is argued that all candidates for the senatorship are confident of Mr. Bourne's support, either active or passive, and strong in this conviction, will fall readily to line to lend aid to Bourne's ambition to lead the Oregon delegation to the convention.

It is believed that Senator Bourne has decided to attempt the herculean task of making a straight and smooth path to his reelection, using in the process the materiel from all factions of the Republican party. He apparently is relying upon his old friends to stay with him even though he flirts with Mr. Hodson and his cohort and having won over the latter to smooth the present ruffled feelings of the former, and thus have the united support of the party with no opposition on any hand. The beginning of this program of pacification is scheduled to open September 28 in Selling-Hirsch hall.

MOTHERHOOD

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth. Note what Mrs. James Chester, of 497 W. 35th St., New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now."

MRS. JAMES CHESTER

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women. It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women
Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

AT THE THEATRES

Louis James at Hellig Tonight.

The attraction at the Hellig theatre, Fourteenth and Washington streets, tonight and tomorrow night will be the eminent actor, Louis James and his excellent company in Shakespeare's comedy, "The Merry Wives of Windsor." A special price matinee tomorrow at 2:15 o'clock. Seats selling at box office.

Seats Selling for Sunday Night.

Seats are now selling at box office the Hellig theatre, Fourteenth and Washington streets, for the funny farce comedy, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," which comes next Sunday night, September 16. This will be found to be one of the most brilliant and laughable plays Portland has had in years. Popular prices will prevail.

"The Geisha."

Next Monday evening the Californians will sing "The Geisha." This is an English opera written on Japan. The opera had a run of two years in London, and a year in New York and was a complete success when on the road. Every English-speaking country has heard "The Geisha" and it has never failed to please.

"Bohemian Girl" Matinee.

Do not forget that there will be a matinee of "The Bohemian Girl" at the Marquam tomorrow afternoon. The Californians are giving a rarely beautiful performance of this charming and most popular of operas. The principals and chorus are little short of great. The chorus has attracted especial attention.

"The Woman in the Case."

The great play, "The Woman in the Case," at the Baker this week has brought to the front Robert Homans, new to the company. Mr. Homans, in the important part of "Thompson," the lawyer, is winning his way to strong favor.

"Salomy Jane" Next Week.

Next Wednesday to Saturday nights, inclusive, with a special matinee Saturday Liebler & Co. will present Miss Jessie Izett and an exceptionally good company in "Salomy Jane" at the Hellig theatre. Seat sale opens next Monday.

"The Love Route" Opens Sunday.

Starting Sunday matinee the third week of the Baker Stock company will be Guy Standing and Odette Tyler's noted play "The Love Route." It is from the pen of Edward Pepples, author of "The Prince Chap" recently produced at the Hellig theatre.

"A Texas Ranger" at the Empire.

Tomorrow afternoon the children should all have a chance to see "A Texas Ranger" at the Empire. There is much to amuse and please them in this thrilling play. It appeals to the imagination, being a picture of Western life during the Indian times.

"Chic" Perkins Next Week.

The well known little actress, "Chic" Perkins will open a week's run at the Empire on Sunday matinee next. In her new play "The Little Prospector" she has found a fitting medium for the expression of her dramatic powers.

"All for Gold" Next Week.

During the second week of the engagement of the Lyric stock company which opens Monday night that brilliant organization will be seen in one of the latest and most interesting of recent semi-military melodramas. It has been a great success in London and has met with all kinds of favor in America.

"Forty-Nine" a Big Hit.

The new Lyric stock company could not have asked for a better opening bill than "Forty-Nine" if it was to appear to the best advantage on the occasion of its introduction to Portland. It is a play that never fails to thrill and holds an audience and when the principal parts are as well played as they are this week there is nothing left for the audience to desire.

"Queen of the Highway."

Commencing Sunday afternoon the French Stock company at the Star theatre will present "The Queen of the Highway." This is a romance of the west, a play with something new in it. There are stage coaches, Indians, miners, cowboys, soldiers and bandits. The situations are novel and the scenic effects will be elaborate.

Hear Al Jolson.

Patrons of the Grand this week are almost tickled to death by the fun of Al Jolson, the monologist and minstrel comedian. He is in a class of his own and is the greatest hit the Grand ever presented. There is a strong demand for him to remain next week, but this is impossible.

Star Matinee Tomorrow.

At the Star theatre tomorrow afternoon the R. E. French Stock company will give a matinee performance of "The City of New York." One of the many sensational situations in this drama is the attempted hold-up of a pay train. The battle between the train crew and the bandit is one of the most exciting climaxes that ever occurred on a local stage.

Potter Schedule for Remainder of Season.

Steamer Potter will sail from Ash-street dock Saturday, September 21, 2 a. m. Tickets at city ticket office, Third and Washington streets.

EXPENSES INCURRED BY LONDON POLICE

Governor Receives Itemized Account of Expenditures Made by English Officers.

(Special Despatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Sept. 13.—Governor Chamberlain yesterday received a letter from Acting Secretary of State A. Adee presenting a bill for $74, expenses incurred by the police of London, England in connection with the extradition of John T. Thompson, wanted in Portland for larceny and now serving a four-year term in the Oregon state penitentiary.

Enclosed was the bill of the English authorities for 15s 9d as presented to the American ambassador, Whitelaw Reid, an itemized account of the manner in which the expenses were incurred and other correspondence on the matter.

MAKE TEST CASE OF BOND ISSUE

Suit to Determine Validity of Recent Act to Be Filed Soon.

The test suit planned by Seneca Smith to prove the validity of the recent bond issues voted by the people at the municipal election will be filed with the circuit court either today or Monday. Mr. Smith has been working on the complaint for some time and now has it practically ready to submit.

The suit is brought by Mr. Smith as a friendly one and is brought entirely for the purpose of testing the legality of the bonds, some question having arisen as to whether or not they were voted with due observance of the law. Francis I. McKenna will be the complaining witness in the suit.

The water bond issue was selected by Mr. Smith as the particular point of attack as practically all the points raised by the objectors to the issues can be directed against this block of bonds.

The principal point to be made by the plaintiff will be that the city council had no power to initiate such legislation, but that it should have originated directly from the people. He will contend, therefore, that the people had no authority to vote on the bonds since they were illegally presented to them and that therefore the issue is void.

Another point will be that the charter specifies the manner of voting bonds and that this manner was ignored. Another point is that the notice required by law was not legally posted and yet another is that the issue was not approved by two thirds of the voters of the city.

Upon the decision in regard to the suit will rest the fate of the $5,000,000 bond issue voted at the recent election. If the courts hold that the issue was made regularly the city will proceed with the sale of the bonds in the open market. If the reverse decision is rendered it will make it necessary to vote the issues over again at the next election.

Oaks Gates Open.

In courtesy to the women and children of Portland the Oaks has thrown open the gates of the big resort to them and issues a cordial invitation for them to visit the park. Beginning today the admission to the Oaks will be absolutely free until 6:30 o'clock to women and children every day excepting Sunday.

At the opening of the season it was announced by the management that special efforts would be made to attract women and children to the park. Accordingly many special events and interesting programs were arranged for their special benefit. They also showed their appreciation by large attendances and the management has decided to show still further courtesies to them. For a time they were admitted free on certain days, then on every day except Saturday and Sunday. Beginning today and continuing throughout the season there will be no admission price to them on any day except Sunday.

TRACY'S UNCLE IS MURDERED

Mystery Surrounds Slaying of James Kinney by Unknowns Near Helena.

(Special Despatch to The Journal.)
Helena, Mont., Sept. 13.—James Kinney, formerly of California and a cousin or uncle of Harry Tracy, the noted Oregon-Washington outlaw, has been murdered by unknown persons near Toston, 20 miles east from Helena, while in the employ of the Riverside Land & Livestock company of this city. There is no clue to the identity of the murderer or murderers.

The affair is steeped in mystery. The coroner's jury has just returned a verdict that death was due to blows from a blunt instrument in the hands of unknown persons. Because of the telephone strike, as well as that of the telephone operators, news of the affair has only today reached the city.

The scene of the crime indicates that the murder had been planned deliberately and was most effectively carried out. Kinney had charge of a band of sheep belonging to the Riverside company and was camped in a little grassy park, miles from the railroad. Kinney was unquestionably killed while lying asleep beside his flock.

The skull was crushed from behind and only a pile of ashes and a few shreds were left of his tent and belongings. The gold watch he carried was missing, and there was no money about, although he was known to carry considerable funds. Kinney had two splendid dogs with him, and it is not believed they would let any one enter the tent. As they are missing, the suspicion is that they were killed also.

Different motives are advanced as to the cause of the murder—robbery, the ransoming of the war and the satisfaction of an old grudge. Each has its exponents, and the latter is given the preference by the officials. His singular character, his bearing and general demeanor indicate this. Kinney was nearly 40 years old, and had the demeanor of a gentleman and would never be mistaken for a sheep herder. He had education and refinement and his own affairs strictly, did his work well and asked only to be let alone. He never drank nor caroused.

He was but little known. Last winter he appeared at the ranch and applied for work. He remained two months and then left quite suddenly for California, his former home, he said. Nothing more was heard from him until August, when he again applied for and was given work. He took his band of sheep to the hills and there met his end. He has a sister in California, and his most intimate friend at the ranch says he was a cousin or uncle of Harry Tracy, the outlaw. He has been buried at Toston.
