Up on the west side, where the best cent of the crop on the average. This conclusion is reached after a personal conclusion is reached after a personal trip all through the east side yesterday up as far as independence.

Mold and lice are shown on every side, but generally speaking growers are not picking this class of product the present year, the pick in most instances being the best in years.

Up a the Krebs yards at Independence the bale of hops this year will be of the best quality ever sent forth from that place. According to the pickers, the management of the yards was overcareful this year that nothing but the best pick should be baled. No leaves larger than a 10-cent piece were allowed to enter the bale, and stems were strictly excluded. On this account it is stated that Krebs paid the pickers $1.20 per 100 pounds and according to the pickers, they earned it. Never were pickers so closely watchad as this year in the big yards at Independence. For that reason few of them returned with any money, and many were leaving the yards at the rate of 50 a day. The opening of school today made a further decrease in the army of pickers Saturday and yesterday.

Moret Bros. Pick.

At Independence it is stated that in the yards of Horst Bros. the picking was very similar to that of the Krebs. There were reports that $1.35 was being paid by Horst, because he had most of his hops sold. It is likewise stated that in the yards of Horst Bros. The picking was very similar to that of the Krebs. Arches has sold all his brown as pound, and they must be strictly up to contract or the contractors will not accept delivery, because of the much lower market at this time.

Along the sest side many of the yards were deserted altogether because of the swift ravages of the vermin and mold. Mold is appearing very fast in all sections of the big yards at Independence, and with the continuance of rainy weather picking operations will be brought to a standstill for the rest of the season within a day or so. While a few days of rain does not generally stop hop harvesting altegether, the fact that down rather than pick hops of poor grade for which they are not likely to receive a sufficient price to pay them for gathering the crop.

Picking Practically Over.

Up all through the east side hoppicking is practically suspended for the season. In only a few instances do the yards show a production greater than a year ago, while many yards were left unpicked in their entirety, and in others the pick was from 25 to 75 per cont. Very few of the growers picked more than 50 per cent of the crop, and the verage will not be more than this figure.

This ust half of last year's bale in Orre-Washington is credited with 30, to 35,000 bales this season, as against 55,000 a year ago. California will likely have 70,000 bales, against 110,000 bales last year. In New York the production will mot likely reach more than 50,000 bales, compared with 75,000 bales a year ago.

Undergo another Saturday. His foot is leectin a very bad condition now and he may suffer the loss of his leg, as the doctor is now fighting blood poison.

FEWER LOCAL EGGS ON SALE THAN EVER AT TIME OF YEAR

Practically 99 per cent of the eggs, Front street has any local eggs on hand, used in Portland today come from the and the few arrivals are very eagerly east.

This is a most remarkable situation in Oregon for this time of season and indicates how small has been the increase in production of eggs, while the demand has doubled within the last two years.

Sought and therefore sell at higher prices than usual at this time of year. Generally at this period of the year the arrivals of local eggs are fully equal to demand and cold storage and eastern stock is not put on sale until late in the fall. This year cold storage and two years. At this time scarcely a dealer along because of the local scarcity.

Continuation of buying by foreigners will be an important feature in sustaining prices at current levels or making new and higher ones. The foreign buying has been potent during the last week. Insofar as trade reports and president of the foreign deling has been potent during the last week. Insofar as trade reports and predictions can be relied upon, there is evidence in plenty that the foreign demand is healthy and likely to continue so. Carrying charges are steadily shrinking under the steadiness of the foreign buying. From a difference of a little over 5 cents between September and December a week ago and 6 cents two weeks ago, the carrying charges are down to 4½ @ ½ c at the close of last week. The trade and public are familiar with the chief factors in the price-making proposition as regards wheat this year. The belief that the Canadian northwest has a very poor crop and will be more or less out of competition this year is in a measure verified by prices current at Canadian centers as compared with American points. Then the trade has reports of very small crop for Germany, their to-points. Then the trade has reports of very small crop for Germany, their total being very light.

The first killing frosts have occurred in seven of the last 20 years. In five of these years the frosts came on or before September 20. This would indicate that the corn crop has about three out of four chances of escaping a killing frost the present week.

28,000 Bentley who shot and killed a man in a your New York saloon last Saturday following the refusal of the victim to give Bentley another drink, is the same Bentley who is wanted here for stealing $500 from Fred Bowne, proprietor of the Maple Leaf saloon. The police received word some time ago that Bentley had gone to New York.

Bentley was known here as a daredevil sort of fellow. He joined the army and served with the Eighth battery, being discharged at Vancouver barracks. Shortly afterward he married and the wife and a child now reside here. It is understood they are perniless.

The Parts guide, who is according to my blue and golden friend, soon to become obsolete, was certainly a terror to the visitor to Paris. He was a nuisance, have been too. There must be thousands of visitors who VANCOUVER THINKS

IT KNOWS BENTLEY

There must be thousands of readers who remember their first experience of him. You arrive in Parts, go to your hotel, bathe, change, and saunter out on the boulevards. You have not been on the boulevards three minutes before an evilly dressed person, with a regulsh twinkle in his eye, has lurched crabwise at you, remarking: "Want a guide sit?" You do not want a guide sit?" You do not want a guide sit? You do not want a guide and you tell the man so quite good-humoredly, and go your way.

Two minutes later you are shaking off another of the tribe, and before long are using rather strong language to a third. This third one, with a mixture of each and the properties of all the languages which you have of all the languages which you have of all the languages which you have the properties of the guides supplied by the association of guides, interpreters and couriers of Paris, which has its headquarters in the Rue de la Micho-dire, was registered last month at the prefecture of police with the object of furnishing travelers with reliable guides. It has already almost done well. Moose Attacks a Horse.

Three young men from Milltown, near Calais, went out into the country districts recently to spend the day and left their old horse standing while they communed with nature some little distance away. They were startled by the neighing and snorting of their steed and upon reaching the spot where the animal was tied they witnessed an exciting ercounter between a bull moose and the horse.

The monarch of the forest first happened along and found the horse encroaching upon his domain and very naturally resented the intrusion. He made a run for the unfortunate steed and a bow in collision was almost a sure
