

CONTEST ENDS WELL FOR ALL CONCERNED

Awards Made on Final Count of Votes Measured on Subscriptions Secured by Enterprising Young People Who Provide for Schooling in This Way.

Today The Journal presents the result in votes of its second annual educational contest.

Forty-four boys and girls, young men and young women, have persevered to the end in gathering subscriptions to The Journal. A credit in votes was allowed on every month for which they collected payment on subscription. No

According to its offer, The Journal is obliged to accord the right to select scholarships only to two thirds of all contestants in every district. The management of the paper may exceed this limitation and give scholarships to certain ones who do not come into the winning two thirds.

The Journal educational contest has accomplished its three-fold purpose: It has provided schooling for about 30 intelligent, enterprising and deserving boys and girls. It has advertised the schools cooperating in this enterprise and stimulated generally the cause of education, and last, but by no means least, it has added a large number of new subscribers to the permanent circulation of The Journal.

The contest manager is now awarding scholarships endeavoring to suit every contestant who has put forth earnest

Miss Alice D. Grant, Leader of All in The Journal Education Contest.

Free coupons were issued in this contest. Every vote noted below represents cash paid into the circulation department of The Journal for newspapers to be delivered to bona fide subscribers. On the request of subscribers the votes, as measured out on the payments according to a fixed rule, are credited to young people who take this means of earning their own education.

So large is the list of schools in which scholarships were secured by The Journal for its contestants that successful contestants will receive tuition in the school for which they are prepared.

BAGGAGE SMASHERS WILL SMASH ALL BAGGAGE RECORDS THIS MONTH

More than 100,000 pieces of baggage will be handled at the Portland union station during the month of September in the present rush which is swamping the baggage department at the depot keeps up. Last month the company handled 87,000 pieces. The largest month during the Lewis and Clark fair and the largest in the history of Portland heretofore, 108,000 pieces were handled, but Superintendent Grover says that that record will be broken this month.

No great is the crush in the baggage room that the department is at times absolutely swamped by it and for several days the Southern Pacific and the O. R. & N. trains for the south and east have been delayed from 5 to 15 minutes in leaving Portland, waiting for the baggage to be loaded.

Travel is very heavy between Portland and the east—this morning the Salt Lake train on the O. R. & N. was made up of 12 coaches, and then many were standing in the aisles. A train of 14 coaches, which pulled out Saturday, was unable to accommodate the crowds of tourists which filed it.

CORNERSTONE LAID DURING HEAVY RAIN

Exercises Held Yesterday Afternoon at Catholic Young Men's Clubhouse.

Despite a heavy downpour of rain yesterday afternoon, the cornerstone of the clubhouse of the Catholic Young Men's club was laid by Archbishop Christie, assisted by Rev. Father William Daly and other Catholic clergy.

The clubhouse is being built on Morris street, near Williams avenue, and belongs to the young men of St. Mary's parish. It will cost about $20,000 when completed, and will be provided with a library and reading room, in addition to the usual club features.

Following the laying of the cornerstone in the basement wall, the audience repaired to the basement of the building, where the remainder of the exercises were held. Archbishop Christie in his address congratulated the priest and young men of St. Mary's parish upon having inaugurated such a worthy enterprise. He described a club of this character as an institution that made for the general moral and physical well-being of the young.

Judge A. L. Fraser delivered an eloquent address, in which he dwelt on the many benefits that might be expected to come from an institution equipped as this one is to be. He declared that in starting this club the young men of St. Mary's parish had set an example which might well be followed by other churches in the city of Portland.

Dr. Andrew C. Smith spoke briefly, commending the objects of the club.

The exercises were closed by the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

AT THE STOCK THEATRES

Up at the Empire theatre this week a story of golden mines and golden filial love is being told by "Chic" Perkins and her company in the presentation of "The Little Prospector." It is not a new story, perhaps, for it deals with the possession of a valuable gold mine, which was owned by a drunken prospector, but deemed during a debauch to the villain of the play. This prospector has a daughter who strives to reform her father, and at last accomplishes her purpose.

"The Little Prospector" is laid in Colorado, and it is in this rough and rugged country that all the action takes place. Here the heroine strives to lead her parent back to respectability, the father makes his long fight against the curse that has him in its grasp, and at last succeeds, while the villain misses his throw, as all good villains should, and the hero comes in for his reward at the end. There is gun-play in the piece, and enough of the melodramatic to please the most critical.

"Chic" Perkins, by her work as the little prospector, won the favor of the audience. She puts life and fire into her acting, and there are few idle minutes when she is upon the stage. Harry Meyers as Hal Barber also won applause by his interpretation of the hero's part. Mrs. M. Perkins as the Widow O'Dand and W. W. Wilson as Sheriff Owens furnished the comedy for the piece and got their large share of laughs from the audience.

"The Little Prospector" will be seen at the Empire throughout the week, with the usual matinees.

New Bill at the Star.

The "Queen of the Highway" is the title of the new bill which opened at the Star yesterday afternoon under the able handling of the R. E. French stock company. The story of the play deals with the adventures of an eastern woman who deserts her child and home to lead a roving life in the western wilds. Here she becomes the leader of a band of wild spirits, who obey her as subjects do a queen. In due course of time the daughter, deserted years before, makes her appearance in the west and is recognized by the mother, who had planned the robbery of the stage upon which her daughter was to travel.

The plot of the "Queen of the Highway" is a melodramatic one and keeps the audience roused to a high pitch of interest by the swiftly changing scenes of the play. The actor and life of the frontier of years ago are put into the piece by the costumes of the players, while the Indians, cowboys and other lawless men put ginger into every act. S. G. Dagless as Bob Sherwood was given a chance to show the patrons of the Star that the selection of a new leading man had not been a mistake. He took the part of a pony express rider and through his efforts added much to the success of the play. Elizabeth Hale had the role of the queen of the highway and won the audience to her in spite of the fact that she was the leader of an outlaw band. Frank C. Howe, Charlie Connors, Eva Earle French as an Irish woman bring in other strong features in the production. The "Queen of the Highway" will be produced at the Star throughout the week, with the usual midweek matinees.

BACK TO LANE ON HORSE THIEF CHARGE

Then on to Linn to Answer Charge of Highway Robbery—Men Accused Held at Prineville.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Prineville, Or., Sept. 16.—Sheriff Frank Elkins has just returned from Sisters with two young men, Charles H. Armstrong and H. W. Haines, charged with larceny. It is said they hired a horse and saddle each Sunday morning September 8, from a stable at Junction City and started across the Cascades without apprising the owners of the horses of their intentions. The sheriff of Lane county was notified and he in turn notified Sheriff Elkins of the fact that the men would probably cross the Cascades into Crook county. On the west slope of Sand mountain, it is charged, they came upon and robbed an elderly optician who was crossing the mountains on foot, of $10. They came on into Sisters, where they were taken into custody by Sheriff Elkins and Deputy Sheriff Jerry Cramer.

When taken they had spent but $1.70 of the money taken from the optician and the balance was returned to the victim when he arrived a few hours later.

The horses were left at Sisters and their youthful riders brought here and lodged in the county jail. The sheriff at Eugene has been notified and officers will arrive here in a few days to take the prisoners back to Lane county. The second robbery was committed in Linn county and no action will be taken to punish the offenders for this crime until they have answered to the courts in Lane county.

New Industry at Aberdeen.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Aberdeen, Sept. 16.—The small experimental plant of the Wood Pulp company is now in operation, and is giving conclusive evidence of its practicability. It is the intention to build a large plant if the experiment proves fully a success.
