BREAK EVEN ON DOUBLE HEADER

Largest Crowd of Season Sees Last Performance of Los Angeles Here.

HENRY PERNOLL IS HERO OF THE DAY

Twirls Ten Innings, Allowing But Four Hits and One Run—Finishes First Game After Calif and Druhot Had Been Knocked Out.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS. Portland 3-5, Los Angeles 11-1, San Francisco 5-10, Oakland 4-1.

Portland and Los Angeles divided honors yesterday at Athletic park. Each club took a game. Los Angeles captured the nine-inning session by the lopsided score of 11 to 2, while Portland took the seven-inning session by a score of 5 to 1.

The record crowd of the season saw the double-header. Five thousand and three paid admissions were the figures given out at the box office. This is several hundred above the number reported for any previous game. The spectators overflowed the bleachers and grandstand and lined the edges of the field. Several times during the 16 innings the ball was lost in the crowd.

Henry P. Pernoll, McCrede's Grants Pass phenom, was the hero of the day. After Calif and Druhot had been pitched out of sight by the Los Angeles sluggers in the first game, plane-les Henry went in and finished the remaining three innings without allowing a single hit. He then went into the next game and twirled an easy victory for the Beavers, allowing but two hits until the seventh inning, when two singles and a run were handed out as solace to the departing harp twangers.

First Contest Very Slow. The first game was one of the slowest of the season and when it was over the spectators were hardly in condition to enjoy the second. Ennon Calif, whose baseball days seem rapidly drawing to a close, was good for three innings. Then he contributed two bases on balls, a wild pitch and allowed four hits. Two more would have been hits but for great stops on the part of Donahue and Mott.

That gave Los Angeles five runs to our one. Carl Druhot tried to stem the tide in the fifth, but he was out of form and the Angels got six runs off him in two innings. Pernoll then went behind the guns for the remainder of the game. Portland's runs in the first game were the result of hits by Calif, Rafferty, Pernoll, Donahue and McCrede and a sacrifice by Casey. In the second game two hits by McCrede, singles by Rafferty, Johnson, Byrnes and Pernoll, a wild throw by Hogan, a walk to Mott, a sacrifice by Johnson and a high fly by Hassey rang the bell five times for Portland.

NOTES OF THE GAME. If Portland has not proven itself the best baseball town on the coast, then proof for anything is impossible. With a tall-end team, Portland has turned out the largest crowds of the four coast league cities. At times the week day crowds have dwindled, but always it has been just after the team had lost a long line of games. When there is evidence that the Beavers can give them the smallest sort of a run for their money, the fans throw it at the club management.

That 5,000 people should attend a Sunday game this late in the season, when the Beavers haven't even a show to quit with, a 400 percentage, is extremely remarkable. May the McCrede's appreciate the support they are getting, and spare no expense to put a winning team on the diamond next spring.

The Beavers made a good showing against the league's leaders. Each team won three games. The San Francisco fans are gleeful over the fact that gives their club another long chance at the pennant.

The greatest individual play of both games was pulled off by Percy Mott, if you please. In the fourth inning of the first game, when the Angels were piling up the runs, Eager put a hot ground-er along the left foul line that should have been safe easily. Mott made a great plunge to the side and grabbed it with his bare hand as he fell. He was up again in a flash and sent the ball to Byrnes in time to catch Ellis as he ran for the plate. Mott is trying hard lately to put up class a ball.

"Collie" Druhot knew he wasn't in shape to pitch yesterday. He didn't want to go in, but McCrede pressed him to it.

The Portland team went to Kelo to play the Kelo Tigers of the Tri-City league. The baseball enthusiasts of southwestern Washington have been for a long time under the conviction that Kelo can defeat McCrede's ball twangers. They promise to turn out a record breaking crowd, as well as to place several thousand dollars of their hard earned cash on the result, provided they can find takers.

Only the decision on a protested game stands between the Frakes baseball club and the Tri-City league pennant. The protest will be considered by the league managers one night this week, and should it not be allowed the Frakes will be given the pennant without the playing of any more games whatever.

Yesterday the regular Tri-City season was wound up by three games at St. Johns and a double-header at Kelso. Both the Frakes and Kelso won twice and the Frakes were therefore left in the position that they were a week ago, one game ahead of the Tigers.

The Frakes had the scare of their existence when they faced the Cubs in the morning game of the triple-header. To save their heads from being torn to pieces by the Teddy Bears they resorted again to the Pacific Coast league, this time drawing "Baron" Schimpff, the fast little Teuton who until Sunday wore a mictrelic uniform.

Schimpff All the Goods. This same "Baron" was all the goods, and it was principally through his efforts that the milliners were enabled to escape with the game. The "baron" was in fine form and the hard-hitting Cubs could only scratch out four hits. Harry Smith installed "Bill" Kotteman, one of his own pitchers, on the mound to oppose the "bushers," and Bill was certainly there. The husky "Milliners" swung their big stick in and every time they did not get some fast little Teddy Bear would snatch the ball by the short hair and the hat trimmer would subside suddenly.

It was a great game, the fastest full nine innings ever pulled off by Tri-City league teams, the total time of play being only 1 1/2 minutes. When it was over the Frakes knew they had been in a real live ball game. Schimpff kept the Cubs from crossing the plate until the tenth inning, and it commenced to look as if he would be credited with a shutout, but in a twinkling of an eye the Teddies became dangerous, and he did not best for many minutes of the coaching signals, the Frakes might have been down and out.

Kotteman hit a hot one through the infield, Lerch bunted and beat it to first, advancing Kotteman. Kruger came up and was signaled to bunt, but he missed, doubling up Lerch at second and himself at first. Kennedy came up next and sent a liner into center field, scoring Kotteman, and had everything coming over as was planned. Lerch would have followed and none out of a possible one. Thomas came up and hit a long fly to Johnson in center field, and the morning game was over.

Second Contest Is Easy. The afternoon second contest was not so good, being merely an ordinary championship game. Charlie Moore, who essayed to pitch for the Cubs, did not hold at critical times, and Schimpff, the irrepressible "Dutchman," who twirled "em over for the Frakes, was invincible, he having 11 assists from the box. In this game the Cubs were never dangerous. Antoine cleared the bases in the third inning by a long one, run over the right field fence. Johnny Shea's lightning-like throws to bases caught five men who were attempting to steal.

The third game between the Cubs and St. Johns was merely a merry-go-round for the Apostles. The two hard games previously had told on the Cubs, and they could do no more than stand up in their position. Ernie Street, who started to pitch for the Cubs, merely lobbed 'em over and the Apostles hit at will.

The Frakes won from the Brewers at St. Johns Saturday; the game was a fair, resulting in a score of 11 to 1. Under pitched good ball, as also did Conannon, but the Brewers piled up 16 errors behind him, and the Frakes roared whichever pitcher they wanted.

The Apostles forfeited to Kelso Saturday, 9 to 0, they not appearing on the field.

BENEFIT FOR GEORGE SILER THIS EVENING

Famous Fighter and Referee Retires at Sixty-One—His History.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal). Chicago, Ill., Sept. 23.—Tonight is to be a gala night in fistie circles. Top-notch fighters in every class of the present day and champions of a decade ago are to don the mitts in the Coliseum in friendly bouts in aid of the benefit for George Siler, one of the greatest authorities in the world on pugilism and whose efforts have done much to raise boxing to its present high standard among sports.

Mr. Siler is 61 years old today and has announced his permanent retirement from all connection with the fighting game. He leaves behind him a record that has few equals. It was away back in the latter part of the '60s that he first entered the ranks of professional pugilism, boxing at 112 pounds in 1872 he starred in exhibition bouts in New York, touring the country with Billy Madden later. In 1874 he won the lightweight championship after meeting all comers. He quit the ring as a boxer in 1881 and turned his attention to refereeing. He has probably officiated in more important ring battles than any other living man. His principal appearances were as referee in the Corbett-Fitzsimmons bout and the battles between Jeffries and Fitzsimmons, Jeffries and Sharkey, Fitzsimmons and Maher, and Battling Nelson and Joe Gans.

NO OUTSIDE HORSES FOR KLAMATH FAIR

(Special Dispatch to The Journal). Klamath Falls, Sept. 23.—The Klamath County Agricultural association will hold its annual fair October 3, 4 and 5, at the old fair grounds. No attempt will be made this year to bring horses from outside points, but there will be a number of local horses entered in the races and broncho busting will be a feature of the fair. An effort is being made to have a very fine agricultural exhibit. This is the last year that the fair will be held at the old fair grounds, for it is now the property of the Southern Pacific company, being the site for station grounds, side tracks, etc., and it is only through the courtesy of the company that the grounds are used this year.
