

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S POLICY TOWARD BUSINESS OFFENDERS

Roosevelt Unrelenting in His Attitude Toward Men Who Are Dishonest in Business—He Advocates Education Without Frills.

Will Continue Prosecution of Railroads and Trusts for Illegal Acts—Refuses to Protect Either Labor or Capital When Wrong.

(United Press Special Wire.) Kookuk, Ia., Oct. 1.—All Kookuk lent itself today to the reception of President Roosevelt in his two hours' stay here. The population of the city was multiplied by throngs of sightseers from the nearby sections of Iowa, Illinois and Missouri.

The presidential party reached the city on schedule time. Waiting on the station platform were the reception committee, headed by Governor Cummins, the mayor of the city and other dignitaries. Members of the Inland Waterways commission, who are to accompany the president on the trip down the Mississippi, were also in attendance.

The president spoke with feeling on national topics, and said in part: "During the last few years we of the United States have been forced to deal with the most serious economic problems. We have made a beginning in the attempt to deal with the relations with the railroads and the people of the country—to the huge and wealthy corporations, controlled for the most part by a few very rich men, which are engaged in interstate business—especially the great railway corporations.

"Every man must have a master; if he is not his own master, then somebody else will be. This is just as true of public life as of private life. We cannot not master ourselves, control ourselves, then sooner or later we shall have to submit to outside control; for there must be control somewhere. "One way of exercising such control is through the laws of the land. Ours is a government of liberty, but it is the enforcement of that liberty which comes by and through the honest enforcement of the laws. It is not to me not to enforce the law against certain wrongdoers of great wealth because they have so much money, but to enforce the law against all who are guilty of the same crime. Under the effects of that kind of fright which nations have seen in the past, this appeal has been made to me even by men who ordinarily behave as decent citizens. One newspaper which has itself strongly advanced this view gave prominence to the statement of a certain man of great wealth to the effect that the so-called financial weakness was due entirely to the admitted intention of President Roosevelt to punish the large moneyed interests which have transgressed the law. I do not admit that this has been the main cause of any business troubles we have had; but it is possible that it has been a contributory cause.

Stands by Justice. "If so, friends, as far as I am concerned it must be accepted as a course of policy which as long as I am president will not be changed. In any great emergency, I do not admit that I will interpose my personal authority in any case where the law is clearly on the side of justice. A more beautiful

There has never been witnessed here the patriotic feeling of the spectators on the banks bubbled over as the parade started to move down the great river. The cheering of the people ashore and the blowing of whistles was deafening. The president was greatly impressed by the scene. The party expects to arrive at St. Louis at 9:45 tomorrow morning.

POLICE SUSPECT

Baker City, Oct. 1.—Harvey K. Brown, ex-sheriff of Baker county, was terribly mangled by the bomb of an assassin last night at 10:45 o'clock. His awful injuries were caused much after the manner in which the late Governor Steunenberg of Idaho was killed at the gateway to his home. Brown, too, was blown into a mangled mass of human flesh by a charge of dynamite which was exploded by the self-same motion of the gate to the ex-sheriff's residence. Several baffling and startling theories for the motive for the cruel attempt at murder are offered. None has been advanced by the police as the real impulsive for murder. Brown was active in the pursuit of the Pinkerton detective who had been in the city for a long time. When Willard Moody was murdered, a keen interest in that case. Alex. Widdowson and Ira Brown were arrested for the crime, but Brown felt confident that they were not the guilty men. He took up the chase single-handed, and his movements, his secretive nature, his audacity and his determination were well known to the police. He gathered evidence and facts, and when Widdowson was called to trial, proved an important witness for the defense.

MAN WITHOUT FEAR

Brown Made Enemies, but He Was Very Popular.

"Had Haywood been found guilty and sentenced to death for the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg, Brown would not have been blown up," said B. W. Levens, proprietor of the Hotel Scott, and for more than 20 years a resident of Baker City. "These assassinations have been led to believe through the acquittal of Haywood that they can now resort to any act of violence or lawlessness with impunity. Had Haywood been convicted they would have been checked up with the fear of the law. "I know Brown from the time he was a little boy, and he was never a better man lived than he. At no time did he hesitate to prosecute thugs, gamblers and violators of the law. He had the respect of every honest man in Baker county and through the sheer strength of his popularity defeated John Brown in the primaries for governor last year. "Brown knew that he could not be nominated governor but he made the fight to defeat John and did beat him. He was a man of great courage and carried Baker county by five votes. That was the kind of a man Brown was and the attempt to kill him last night was the worst of the gambles that could have happened to Baker County.

DOES STATE NEED

"The people are perhaps not aware that the Harrington committee is surveying and taking possession of every pass over the Cascade range, and filling their pits with the government in order to locate the state's water public lands. This is a fact, however, and the state may awake to it when too late to prevent being cut up." Spur to Coos Bay. It is argued that a main line from Portland to Salt Lake should be built as direct as possible with a spur from the Willamette valley to the Coos bay region, and branch lines into every productive district accessible in central and eastern Oregon. These branches could be built at much less cost than the main line, as the tonnage to be moved there would be infinitely less than the immense traffic over the main stem.

Rev. E. M. Hill Believes "Inner Circle" Compassed His Death.

"I believe that Sheriff Brown was dynamited by the same people who killed Steunenberg," declared Rev. Everett Merrill Hill this morning. Rev. Mr. Hill is pastor of the Taylor Street Methodist church in Portland and was for 14 months in charge of the first church at Baker City, of which institution Brown was a trustee and very active member. Dr. Hill and Brown had been close friends ever since the former took charge of the Baker City church. "Brown was one of the most upright, fearless men that I ever knew," said Rev. Mr. Hill. "He was absolutely firm in his convictions of right and wrong and when he decided that a thing was wrong or illegal it had to go. "He ran twice for sheriff and was elected each time. He decided that there was a sentiment in the community that warranted him in closing the saloons and gambling houses and he did so in spite of the protests of party leaders who wanted that he would disrupt the Republican power in Baker

City if he did not desist from his course. "During the excitement following the Steunenberg assassination Brown was very active in following up clues that would lead to the perpetrators of the crime. He worked hard on the Orchard crew, and I believe was one of those who discovered Orchard's whereabouts and respect of arrested him. Steve Adams was arrested in Baker county by the sheriff, who had been on his trail in connection with the Steunenberg murder for some time. I feel that there is no doubt but that the Western Federation "inner circle" now that it is out of jail again, has an eye to revenge itself on those who tried to break it up and has struck first at Brown." Dr. Hill said that he did not believe the saloonkeepers and gamblers of Baker City had been concerned in the attempt at assassination of the ex-sheriff. He said that while Brown had effectively closed all the illegal places during his term as sheriff, they were running open again now and Brown was leading no crusade against them. "I cannot believe that they were concerned in this," he said. "I know many of them and I believe they would not have saloonkeepers and in some cases law-breakers, they are not that kind of men. They had no personal spite against Brown, who was a very popular man in Baker county."

ONE OF THE GREATEST CLEARANCE SALES OF USED PIANOS. ORGANS, ORCHESTRETTES, PLAYER PIANOS AND PIANO PLAYERS. EVER HELD IN PORTLAND NOW IN PROGRESS.

Remember, these instruments include a host of well-known makes, which have been exchanged almost without exception for Piano Pianos. These exchanged instruments have come from some of the best homes in Portland and vicinity. Practically every one of them is in splendid condition. The price in every case has been cut to the lowest possible point; we need the room they occupy for new fall stock; they must go—positively and absolutely—without reserve. And they will go—and go quickly—for the prices are right—more than right, from the buyer's standpoint. We ask only that you come and look them over. There are squares from $12 up to $50. There are uprights from $68 up. There are grands from $395 up. And every one a bargain of no uncertain character. We listed only about 50 of them in the Sunday announcement—and there are others, for the list was too long to include them all. Some were sold yesterday. Others will be snapped up today. More will be eagerly purchased tomorrow. Those who purchase will have reason to congratulate themselves. If you want to be one of the fortunate ones, you'll have to be prompt. We repeat, just drop in, at your earliest possible convenience, and judge for yourself. Now is your chance to pick up an excellent instrument—for very little money.

Caffeine is a hidden but powerful enemy to one's progress in life. Its subtle, narcotic poison weakens heart, interferes with digestion and has a definite and destructive effect on the nervous system. People who are content to load themselves with impediments to progress, who refuse to supply body with food and drink of the kind needed to make up for the daily disintegration of nerve and brain tissue, must stand aside in the race for pre-eminence. The ones who are properly fed will surely win the laurels. Postum furnishes the gluten and phosphates of grain needed by Nature to nourish brain and nerves with food. When made right, that is, boiled 15 minutes after boiling begins, it has a delicious taste similar to the mild, high-grade Java, but with none of the bad effects of coffee. There are those who are entirely careless as to what goes into the stomach, but the one who would make all his movements tend toward health and possible greatness by a personal test.
